REDS RETREAT DEEPER INTO WEST CAUCASUS

Stall German Drive on Stalingrad Line.

MOSCOW, Aug. 1 [Saturday] (AP).—The Red army has retreated deeper into the western Caucasus below Bataisk, but reënforced soviet legions were reported early today to have stalled a big Nazi drive in the Kletskaya area some 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, where the Russians rushed trainloads of reserves to the front.

[The German high command said that its spearheads were 112 miles south of the Don and that the lower reaches of the river had been crossed on a 150 mile front. The capture of Kuschevka, about 50 miles south of Rostov on the railway to the Baku oil fields, was reported, and fighting was said to be in progress for Salsk, a rail junction on the Stalingrad-North Caucasus railway 100 miles southeast of Rostov.]

Knock Out 13 Tanks.

The communique said of the new retreat south and southeast of Bataisk:

"After bloody battles our units fell back to new positions. The Germans lost 13 tanks, 18 guns, and more than 600 men killed in these battles."

In the third critical area of the south the midnight communique said one Russian unit defending the Don river barrier in the Tsimlyansk sector, 120 miles upstream from Rostov, had killed more than 1,000 Germans who had effected a crossing of that barrier.

Armored Trains Bring Reserves.

The communique gave no details of the fighting in the Kletskaya area, but press dispatches said the Russian reserves had arrived in armored trains to stem the Nazi drive in the Don river elbow.

"In the area of Tsimlyansk stubborn fighting went on against enemy groups which had crossed to the southern bank of the Don in a sector held by one of our units," the communique continued.

"Nine German tanks, 15 guns, 23 machine guns, and 8 mortar batteries were destroyed. The enemy lost more than 1,000 officers and men."

A resurgence of "local fighting" on the Leningrad front also was disclosed, the communique saying that artillery supported Russians repulsed two German attempts to regain positions which the soviets had captured.

German dive bombers supported the Nazi charges, but five of the planes were shot down and the Germans lost 300 men, the communique reported. Another 300 Nazis were reported killed when Russian guerrillas in the Leningrad district derailed two Nazi troop trains.

Attack at Voronezh.

The Russians apparently made no further offensive attempts in the Voronezh sector on the upper Don yesterday, but the Nazis were reported to have suffered heavily in two unsuccessful counterattacks there.

A 15,000 ton enemy transport was reported sunk in the Barents sea.

The Russians were using everything from hard riding descendants of Genghis Khan's warriors to American made tanks and planes in turning back repeated attacks in the Kletskaya area nearest industrial Stalingrad.

Even Russian naval planes joined the lower Don battle. The navy newspaper Red Fleet said the sea flyers attacked a German crossing and threw the enemy into confusion.

Considerable local fighting was reported on the northwestern front which includes a vast area from Rzhev to the south of Leningrad. Other sharp fighting took place in the Bryansk section southwest of Moscow, where the Russians were holding the initiative.

SEIZE FORTUNE TELLER IN NEW DRIVE IN LOOP

A drive to rid the loop of fortune tellers because of complaints they have been fleecing men in the armed forces was begun by police last night with the arrest of Mrs. Maybelle Barker, 47 years old, 2241 Cuyler avenue. Policewoman Mary Hussar made the arrest at 55 East Washington street. The drive against the fortune tellers was ordered by Capt. Thomas Duffy on order of Police Commissioner Allman.

FOE PUTS 5,000 ON LAND BASES, NAVY AID ADMITS

Flyers Able to Find None in Pribilofs.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—A navy spokesman said today that the Japanese have succeeded in putting approximately 10,000 troops into the Aleutian Island area which they invaded two months ago. About half of the invading force, which he said numbered "not more than 10,000" men, have occupied territory ashore, the spokesman said.

At the same time, the spokesman declared aerial reconnaissance has failed to reveal the presence of any Japanese forces on the Pribilof Islands, which lie only 200 miles from the mainland of Alaska.

The spokesman broke official silence on the Aleutian operations in order to answer two inquiries raised on assertions made by Anthony J. Dimond, delegate to congress from Alaska.

Half of Force Still at Sea.

Dimond said there were 25,000 Japanese in the islands and that he had received unverified reports that the Japs had landed on the Pribilof Islands. At present the enemy holds Attu, Agattu, and Kiska Islands, the three most westerly of the Aleutian group.

"We believe that not more than 10,000 Japanese are in the Aleutians, probably one-half ashore and one-half afloat," the naval spokesman said.

On the question of occupation of the Pribilofs, he said:

"We are not in a position to say that they are not there, but have not evidence that they are."

Hints Attack Anticipated.

He indicated an attack on the Pribilofs had been anticipated, because the inhabitants of the islands were evacuated "some time ago."

Dimond said the islands were inhabited by some 300 to 500 natives, known as Aleuts, who were employed by the department of commerce to guard the seal herds which number 2,250,000 animals. The government allows 60,000 seals to be killed for their fur each year.

The Aleuts were employed to protect the seals, which were threatened with extinction by hunters some years ago because there was no regulation of the killings.

Radio Station in Pribilofs.

A radio beacon was located on St. Paul Island, largest of the four islands of the Pribilof group, and the bureau of fisheries maintained a radio station, KVR, on the same island. However, the personnel operating the beacon and radio station was evacuated with the rest of the population and the stations have been abandoned.

No explanation was offered as to why American forces have been unable to drive such a small force as 10,000 Japs from the Aleutian Islands. However, the army and navy frequently have emphasized that fogs make operations in the area difficult.

The Japs gained a foothold in the Aleutians on June 3. It has been assumed they have been augmenting the initial landing forces and strengthening their installations. The Jap installations have been bombed occasionally in weather favorable for flying by American planes. These attacks also have sunk eight Jap ships and damaged 10 others, 1 of which was believed to have sunk.

HOUSE (READY TO MOVE IN) BUILT IN 44 MINUTES

Portland, Ore., July 31 (AP).—As a speed test on a 360 unit housing project near the Oregon Shipbuilding corporation plant, a normal six man crew was augmented to 15 and, timing itself after the flooring was laid, did this:

In 4 minutes put up the prefabricated wall panels, 5 minutes later had the door frames, sills, and windows installed and screened; in another 5½ minutes had the framed gable ends in place [the electricians and plumbers were hard at it then]; 5½ minutes later the porch and the final roof truss were in place; another 6 minutes later the porch sheathing was completed, and in 18 minutes the roof was covered with insulating paper.

The house, complete with kitchen, dinette, living room, bath, and two bedrooms was ready for occupancy—minus only a coat of paint and the sidewalk—in just 44 minutes.

Sheriff Forced to Oust 3 Lieutenants

THEIR PLACE IN THE SUN

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, to save himself from the grand jury's ire, yesterday demanded and received the resignations of three lieutenants, commanders of the county's police districts, who have been storm centers [along with the sheriff] in the July jury's investigation of slot machine and other gambling in Chicago suburban areas.

O'Brien, who had shunted the blame for lax gambling law enforcement to the three officers, got their resignations after the grand jurors had given him a one hour ultimatum to oust them or "take the consequences." It was not explained what this meant, exactly, but during the day the grand jurors and State's Attorney Courtney studied carefully the statute relating to malfeasance in office.

Acting Lieutenants Named.

The ousted lieutenants are Morton Leviton of the northwest district, Henry Andel of the west, and Fred Mulhausen of the south.

In an order issued late last night, Chief James J. Fleming of the county force named temporary successors to the three ousted lieutenants. They are Sergt. John Pufahl, for the northwest district; Sergt. Frank Vaselka for the western district, and Sergt. Alexander Maylath for the southern district. None of the ousted lieutenants would comment last night on their dismissals.

O'Brien and Chief Fleming had told the grand jury that they instructed the district commanders to stop gambling, and the trio was reported to have confirmed this.

It was said that the grand jury was much irked when its members discovered on Thursday that the lieutenants' reports on gambling resorts visited and found without gambling conflicted with the simultaneous reports of state's attorney's men on the same places. The prosecutor's detectives found plenty of gambling.

Timetable of Hot Day.

This was reported to have led to some hot interchanges of views yesterday between O'Brien on the one side and the grand jury and Courtney on the other. Some of the events of the sheriff's day follow [times are approximate]:

10 a. m.—O'Brien called in.

10:45 a. m.—O'Brien left the grand jurors, looking glum, and retired to an anteroom with Fleming.

11:30 a. m.—The grand jury recalled the sheriff for 20 minutes.

11:45 a. m.—Assistant State's Attorney Casimir Cwiklinski entered the grand jury room carrying the statute book, a finger marking the section on malfeasance. Sheriff O'Brien was questioned again briefly.

1 p. m.—Samuel Freedman, another assistant, entered the grand jury room bearing copies of a typewritten sheet, assumed to represent the grand jurors' views on the lieutenants.

In Again, Out Again O'Brien.

1:50 p. m.—O'Brien recalled again [the fourth time for the day]. It was reported he was given an hour to cast off his district commanders.

2 p. m.—The sheriff, Fleming, Leviton, Andel, and Mulhausen left the building.

3:30 p. m.—The sheriff reëntered the grand jury room a few minutes and left.

A few minutes later the grand jury made its final formal report to Judge Harold G. Ward, acting chief justice of the Criminal court. It was on routine matters and did not mention gambling.

How Report Varied.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley made public some of the discrepancies in the lieutenants' stories. For example the records showed that Leviton visited the Wagon Wheel resort at 6412 Montrose avenue on March 20 and found no gambling. The state's attorney's forces found a hundred patrons gambling there on that date.

Mulhausen, who kept no records unless arrests were made, was accused of ignoring many resorts on which the state's attorney made frequent raids with seizures of slot machines.

NELSON READY TO O.K. BUILDING CARGO PLANES

Engines, Materials Key to Approval.

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson virtually promised today to give Henry K. Kaiser the "go signal" to build a fleet of giant cargo and troop carrying planes in his west coast shipyards if engines and other materials can be spared from the present military aircraft program.

Declaring that the war production board has been "keenly aware for some time of the necessity for more and bigger cargo planes," Nelson said in a statement that he was "much interested" in Kaiser's offer to build a fleet of 5,000 huge aircraft on ways now being used to construct ships.

Engines a Major Factor.

"If it develops," the WPB chairman said, "that the engines and other components needed for these planes can be built without disrupting the present military aircraft program, which is our No. 1 war essential, he will get plenty of action."

Nelson's statement followed an announcement made earlier by Kaiser before a senate military subcommittee that the WPB chairman had given full support to the cargo plane proposal. Kaiser said conversion of a part of his shipyard capacity could be undertaken immediately upon receipt of a "go signal" from war production authorities.

Report in Day or Two.

Some indication as to whether engines and other materials could be made available may be contained in a report of a special committee named by Nelson late in May to study expansion of the air transport problem. That report will be published within one or two days, Nelson said.

Nelson's reaction to the Kaiser plan surprised many officials, because WPB aircraft officials at first voiced skepticism about the feasibility of building huge 70 ton cargo planes of the Glenn Martin Mars type in shipbuilding plants.

Chairman Josh Lee [D., Okla.], one of the senate supporters of the cargo program, told Kaiser he hoped the joint army-navy aeronautics committee on construction could be shaken out of their "prudence" to give their support, too.

Will Call Experts Monday.

Lee said he would call army and navy experts to the witness stand Monday to explore "whatever opposition they have."

"After all," Lee said, "the military authorities pass on these contracts. I think, however, that with the support of Mr. Nelson we have taken a long stride toward our goal."

Kaiser told the committee he had not been at liberty to discuss the progress of his conversion plans until today, but he was free now, having "spoken to the government," and could disclose that Nelson had supported him since entering the government.

Kaiser submitted to the committee a general outline of a design for 100 ton flying boats patterned after the 70 ton Mars.

He said the problem of turning out hundreds of cargo ships "is a joint one" and should enlist the support of Glenn Martin, the bomber builder of Baltimore; Tom Girdler, the steel magnate, and all others with knowledge of ship and plane building.

Urged as Transport Czar.

James H. R. Cromwell, former minister to Canada, suggested appointment of Kaiser as "czar of air transport."

"We are losing this war because of lack of fast transportation of troops and supplies and because we can't even get spare parts to the fighting fronts," Cromwell said.

Dr. William W. Christmas of New York, identifying himself as "the highest authority on aeronautics," told the committee he couldn't interest naval authorities in his plan for a 564 ton plywood "battleplane" which he said could carry 3,000 men 1,200 miles.

Robert S. Reynolds, president of the Reynolds Metals company, Richmond, Va., testified he had informed Kaiser enough aluminum could be produced for the flying boats.

SERGT. MARY PROVES SHE CAN TAKE IT LIKE HER TOUGH 'OLD MAN'

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 31.—Pvt. Bill [Feets] Adams, from Grand Rapids, Mich., is a bit sensitive about his feet. Not without reason, because he wears size 14 double E, the United States army's biggest.

The other night one of the girls at an ATS [auxiliary territorial service] dance in a London suburb joked about his landing gear, according to the soldiers. Adams turned to his buddy, Pvt. Jack Weiland from Mitchell, S. D., and suggested that they paddle the girl.

"I bent her over Adams' knees," Pvt. Weiland related, "and he just laid it on. He got in about 30 good natured whacks. She seemed embarrassed, but she had been promoted to sergeant just before the dance, and you know how new 'non-coms' are. She was a regular guy tho, and like her old man, she can take it."

And the girl? She was Sergt. Mary Churchill. Her "old man" is a fellow by the name of Winston Churchill.

A True Ghost Story Solves an Old Murder

Denver, Colo., July 31 [Special].—The strangest true ghost story in Denver police annals was unfolded here tonight in the confession of a tattered wisp of a man who told of skulking for nine months in the attic of an occupied home in which he killed a former friend.

Here is what he did without detection during his long stay in the house:

He established himself in the attic while the owner, Philip Peters, 73, was visiting his wife for a few hours in a hospital. Squeezing himself thru an 8x15 inch opening in the garret floor, he made forays thru the house for food. On one of these trips he bludgeoned Peters to death when his former friend found him robbing the icebox.

Hides While Police Search.

He remained safely hidden while police investigated the slaying. He skulked thru the house after Mrs. Peters was brought home from the hospital. He had more freedom when she went away for two months and when she returned he continued his ghosting despite her presence and that of her day and night nurses.

He finally was dragged from his nest yesterday by police called to investigate strange lights and eerie sounds in the house reported by one of the nurses. Shaking from hunger, his hair long, his clothes in rags, he told the bizarre story piecemeal during hours of questioning.

Former Business Man.

The ghost identified himself as Theodore E. Coneys, former business man here. He said he was born on a farm near Beloit, Wis., and attended high school there. In 1910 he came to Denver and opened an advertising business, he related, and, during that time, knew Peters and his wife and frequently was a guest at their home.

His business collapsed and, in 1917, he left Denver and wandered all over the country, finally returning here in April, 1941. He didn't look up the Peters, but last September found their door unlocked after seeing the husband leave.

He walked into the house and made himself at home. He helped himself to food from the icebox and prowled the house, looking for valuables. Nosing about upstairs, he found the small trapdoor in the ceiling and squeezed himself thru it.

Immediately he decided to hole up for the winter in the long vacant space under the peak of the roof, about four feet wide at the bottom and tapering to a point about three feet above the floor. He stayed in the attic hideaway for several days, then hunger forced him to look for food. Peters caught him and he killed the aged man.

In the weeks and months that followed he equipped the garret with a radio, electric hotplate, food, and bedding, all filched from the Peters home, stealthily carrying them thru the little trapdoor which police, who investigated Peters' death, had noticed but believed too small for any one to get thru. Coneys weighed only about 75 pounds when found.

MacARTHUR, F. D. R., CHURCHILL RELATED, GENEALOGIST FINDS

New York, July 31 (AP).—Conklin Mann, editor of the New York Genealogical and Biographical society, who recently discovered that Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Britain and President Roosevelt are sixth cousins once removed, announced today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur bears the same relationship to the President, while he is an eighth cousin of the prime minister.

Kinship between the President and the general began in the town of Dartmouth, Mass., in the early 1700's, says Mann. A brother and a sister of one family married a brother and a sister of another. They were the Rev. Samuel Hunt who married Hannah Pope, and Capt. Lemuel Pope who married Elizabeth Hunt. Eight generations later Gen. MacArthur began fighting the Japanese in the Pacific. And seven generations later President Roosevelt was his commander in chief.

In the case of Churchill and MacArthur, the stellar rôle was played by Joseph and Elizabeth Farnsworth. The scene was Dorchester, Mass. The time, 1638 or 1639. Nine generations later Churchill and MacArthur were eighth cousins.

First Strike in Occupied France Since Armistice

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 31.—The first strike to break out in occupied France since the armistice began today at the Bleriot airplane factory at Suresnes, according to a dispatch from Paris. Four hundred workers struck because of "unsatisfactory food." The management, obviously including German delegates, has categorically refused to enter into any negotiations with the strikers.

Bolt Kills 4 Gardeners on Alfred du Pont Estate

Wilmington, Del., July 31 (AP).—Four men were killed by lightning on the estate of Alfred I. du Pont today during a severe wind and electrical storm. The men, all gardeners, were sitting under a stone arch when the bolt struck. They were John Doherty, Frank Lepore, Louis Durso, and Edward O'Donnell. A fifth man was injured.

BARBER 27 YEARS AT THE CONGRESS SAYS FAREWELL

Takes Away Memories of Famous Customers.

It was on the eve of another war that William C. Burge brought his shears and razors to the barber shop of the Congress hotel. That was 27 years ago, in 1915, when the clouds of the war in Europe were beginning to darken the American horizon.

Last night another war struck home at Burge, now manager, and closed his shop for the duration.

"It's like leaving a home that you have lived in and loved for years," he said.

Staff Says Farewell.

Throughout the day many members of the hotel staff, who have known the kindly little man in the white jacket, came into the shop to bid him farewell. They, too, were leaving for the last time, to make way for the army, which took over officially at midnight.

His shears and his razors were not all that Burge took with him when he left the hotel last night. Far more treasured were the memories of the celebrities who have passed thru his shop.

For Burge's razor has skimmed over the faces of many of the world's famous men. Marshal Joffre of France has relaxed in Burge's chair; Al Smith, while a candidate for President, doffed his famous brown derby to get a hair cut and a shave. The grimacing visage of Wallace Beery has felt the light touch of the little barber's razor, as well as the stubbly chin of Jack Dempsey, and the faces of Jim Farley, Alf Landon, William Gibbs McAdoo, "Papa" Dionne, the late Sen. William Borah, Sen. Jim Watson of Indiana, Nelson Eddy, and scores of others.

Knew Many Governors.

Every governor of Illinois since Gov. Yates has been a patron of Burge, except Gov. Green. "I'll probably never get to him," he observed sorrowfully.

Perhaps he may, after all, for Burge Monday will be behind a chair at the Blackstone.

Two battalions of military police, detailed from Fort Sheridan and Fort Custer, Mich., arrived yesterday to serve as guards at the Congress and Stevens hotels, which will become training centers for air force radio technicians. After midnight both hotels were barred to civilians, and to military men as well, unless they had passes.

Departing guests, surrounded by luggage, milled forlornly about the lobbies of the two hotels during the day, but there was no complaining. All said they realized that in time of war the army comes first.

ILLINOIS YOUTHS AID FARMERS IN NEARBY STATES

So many Chicago area youths responded to the appeal for farm labor that they are being sent to neighboring states as "surplus workers," Chester W. Hepler, director of the United States Employment service in Illinois, said yesterday. Hepler explained that there were agricultural jobs available for only 1,400 of the 4,000 Chicago area boys and girls from 16 to 19 years old who were recruited during May and June.

Last week 135 boys were sent to Kentland, Ind., where they are detasseling corn, and earlier in the season 75 boys were enlisted to help harvest peas in Wisconsin, he said. The Kentland unit is being housed in the high school and has its meals in a church that has kitchen and dining facilities, the director added.

The director asserted that the service has many calls for fruit pickers needed in Michigan and that soon large groups of boys and girls will be needed in Illinois and surrounding states to pick corn, tomatoes, and peaches.

County Abandons Plan to Seize the Auditorium

The county's plans for foreclosing the Auditorium hotel and theater and seizing it to satisfy $1,300,000 in unpaid taxes will be dropped, County Commissioner Maurice F. Kavanagh, chairman of the county board finance committee, said yesterday. Mayor Kelly announced Thursday that the Auditorium is being taken over by the city for use as a service men's center. Kavanagh said the county may revive its plan to acquire the building thru foreclosure when it is no longer needed for the service men.

FLYING CARRIER DESIGNED FOR U.S. FIGHTER PLANES

Would Use Motors, Gas and Air Tunnels.

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—Two aircraft engineers disclosed before a senate military subcommittee today that they have designed a revolutionary type of amphibian flying-cargo plane which would be lifted and propelled by a combination of engines, helium gas, and air tunnels.

They said the plane could be used as a carrier for a dozen fighter planes.

The engineers are Horace Chapman Young and Eric Langlands of the Aerodynamics Research corporation. The craft was described to a senate military affairs subcommittee.

Seek to Build Model.

Young told Sen. Josh Lee [D., Okla.], chairman of the subcommittee, that his corporation is seeking government encouragement, altho no financial aid, to build a flying model.

The plane, a single wing combination cargo-fighter-carrier, would have a flying deck of 180 or 200 feet, from which 12 fighter planes could take off. Young said it would carry enough helium gas to lift 36 tons and with its motor power could lift 70 tons.

Thru the wing would run four tunnels in which engines would create a semivacuum, whose suction would give it pulling power while the propellers gave it thrusting power. He estimated it could take off at 110 miles an hour.

Contends Design Success.

Young said the one wing principle had been successfully demonstrated in the Northrup flying wing and that the Italian Caproni works had proved the feasibility of the tunnel ship.

Its maximum cruising speed would be about 200 miles an hour, Young said. Langlands explained that if the engines failed, the cargo and fuel could be dumped overboard and the helium would hold the craft up, saving the ship and crew.

Young said Dr. Louis H. Cook, who was aeronautics adviser to the navy in the World war, has tested small laboratory models successfully in wind tunnels.

OPA SET 4 CENTS A POUND CEILING ON KITCHEN FATS

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—The Office of Price Administration set a ceiling of 4 cents a pound today on waste kitchen fats now being sold by housewives to retail meat markets in the national salvage campaign.

Hitherto the maximum price to housewives in many areas was 6 cents a pound. The ceiling on sales by the markets to industries using the fats was set today at 5 cents a pound, allowing the market a cent for handling charges.

The maximums were a part of an amendment to the general maximum price regulation which "rolls back" ceiling prices on waste animal and oil bearing materials, used in making tallow, soap, and greases, to each seller's highest November, 1941, price. Previously these were covered by the regulation March prices.

2 Waukegan Policemen Make Bullets for Force

There's a new industry in Waukegan—and it's saving the city money. The suburb's police department has taken to making its own bullets in a little workshop in the station. Two officers, Michael Dyer and Jack Ewing, can turn out 1,500 bullets a day from old shells at a cost of one-half cent a bullet.

HOUSE MEMBER SAYS 'SURPRISE' AWAITS ENEMY

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] today finished an inspection of some of the "most secret of newest material" of the army and announced: "Believe me, the Heinies are going to get some terrific surprises."

A comparison of army ordnance and captured German weapons at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds "clearly proved the superiority of American arms," said Thomas, a member of a house military subcommittee which has just finished an inspection tour. He said that the nature of some of the secret weapons "never has been hinted at publicly, and I know they will come as a complete surprise to the enemy."

The new carbine adopted by the army, he said, is "undoubtedly the most effective small arm in the world." The new weapon is being supplied troops which formerly carried pistols as sidearms.

PLANES, TANKS SPELL VICTORY IN MANEUVERS

Air Backed 'Blue' Forces Defeat 'Reds.'

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wadesboro, N. C., July 31.—Blue forces, using field and flying artillery, then armored infantry and a heavy concentration of tanks, won the first air-ground problem of the Carolina manuevers today, over their Red opponents. When Maj. Gen. E. J. Dawley, commander of the 6th army corps, called a halt, the Reds were in a position where they would have been annihilated within a few hours, had this been real warfare.

The break thru of the Red lines had been accomplished when a light reconnaisance plane, bearing a powerful siren, flew wailing over the green countryside to signal the end of hostilities. Tired men crawled from tanks; infantrymen removed their domed helmets; artillerymen covered their guns, and everybody had some long delayed food.

Bombers Soften Way.

So ended the initial phase of a series of maneuvers designed to perfect coördination between air and ground units. They worked well together today, the tacticians said. Planes from Blue fields bombed a mile long salient of the Red lines, so battering it that the following mechanized infantry, supported by tanks, reduced the opposition in one hour and 35 minutes. Maj. Gen. Dawley ruled that the Reds had been hopelessly defeated.

After the howling plane had gone and some food had been stowed away, the two armies moved into bivouac areas where they will remain until late Monday when the next problem will begin. It will concern defense of river crossings.

Reporters covering the maneuvers found it worthwhile to go without sleep last night in order to watch the great spectacle of a mobile army moving into the lines—moving, very likely, as it will on a foreign shore before long.

Move in Blackout.

Being classified as neutrals, reporters could move at will thru the Red and Blue lines without risking capture, and they moved, as did every one and everything under the glowing, orange colored moon, in a blackout.

The moonlight kept it from becoming an inky blackout, and made perfect illumination for the long lines of tanks.

Until dawn the placement continued on both sides, but, as the problem was planned the Blues, commanded by Maj. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem Jr., had the weight—in man, tank, gun, and air power. Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker, leading the Reds, was in his defensive position with one flank snug against the border of a brown neutral state, so was secure from that point. But he did not have enough troops to learn from whence he could expect attacks, and so was holding his position with about equal strength along his eight mile front—narrowed from the 20 miles over which strength was spread when the problem opened on Wednesday morning.

Gen. Gillem, to distract Gen. Walker, threw out a feint movement on the unprotected Red flank, meanwhile gathering his power for a blast at points closer to the center. Then he called for his air power, and squadrons of bombers rose from airports and roared low over the lines, dropping "bombs" in the form of small sacks of flour.

Field artillery opened up on the same points and for 20 minutes the bombardment continued. Then the bombers withdrew and climbed to a safe station, while the armored infantry broke thru the damaged lines, and tanks snorted after them, cleaning out any remaining pockets—or so the umpires ruled. So, in another hour and 15 minutes the siren equipped plane took off and the field telephones also carried the message that the Reds were thru—trampled under by the weight of planes and ground units, operating as one.

PRESIDENT SIGNS NEW PENSION BILL FOR SOLDIERS' KIN

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—President Roosevelt has signed legislation fixing pensions for dependents of members of the regular army, navy, marines, and coast guard who died during peacetime as a result of service incurred disabilities.

The Veterans administration estimated that the legislation would affect the dependents of 10,455 veterans. Under its terms, the following pension rates would be established:

Widow under 50 years, $30; widow over 50 years, $35; widow with one child, $8 additional, increased to $11 after the child reaches the age of 10, with $6 for each additional child, increased to $10 after the additional child or children reach the age of 10; no widow, but one child, $15; no widow but two children, $25; dependent mother or father, $30; dependent mother and father, $20 each.

MARITIME RECRUITING CHIEF PROMOTED; HE SIGNS UNSUNG HEROES

The middle west, reservoir of man power for the fighting services, is sending hundreds of men to the maritime service as unsung salt water heroes in the dangerous but vital job of manning our fleet of convoy ships. Yesterday the man who has been in charge of recruiting in the Chicago zone for the maritime service of the merchant marine was promoted from warrant officer to chief warrant officer for his outstanding work.

P. A. Williamson.

He is P. A. Williamson, a veteran of more than 20 years with the coast guard, which has jurisdiction over the service. Today he is charged with enrolling men for training as apprentice seamen or radio operators in the territory of northern Illinois, northern Indiana, southern Wisconsin, the west shore of Michigan, and the west river shore of Iowa.

"Men from the midwest have made some of our best sailors," said Chief Williamson, in his office at 53 West Jackson boulevard. "They are the men in our first line of defense. If we can't ship our equipment and supplies, we can't win the war."

Men who enlist in the maritime service are deferred from military obligations. Apprentice seamen begin at $50 a month. Radio operators start at $54.

$250,000 WILLED AXIS HEIRS TO BE PUT IN U. S. BONDS

Judge Orders Patriotic Use of Funds.

An estimated $250,000 left to residents of axis nations and axis occupied territory in wills probated in Cook county in the last year was ordered into Uncle Sam's war chest yesterday thru investment in war bonds.

The action was taken in Probate court by Judge John F. O'Connell, who observed: "I regard it as a patriotic duty to insist that these idle funds, at least so far as they come under jurisdiction of my court, be put to work in furtherance of our campaign against the enemies."

Judge O'Connell's order developed when Don Peebles, representing John T. Dempsey, public administrator, petitioned the court to turn over $4,000 of an estate which the public administrator is handling to the county treasurer to be held until it can be paid to heirs living in Germany.

Changes Previous Order.

The court recalled that the application was filed in accordance with an order Aug. 6, 1941, directing such sums to be retained and ordering the county treasurer to segregate them and indicate on his books to whom they were payable.

"I have concluded to change the terms of that order," said Judge O'Connell. "In my opinion it is no longer tolerable that funds belonging to our enemies should be safeguarded and kept idle at a time when our nation is in great need of funds for our war effort.

"The funds will certainly not thereby be jeopardized because I can conceive of no more secure investment than bonds issued by our great nation.

Same Method in All Cases.

"I will, therefore, instruct counsel to prepare an order for withdrawal of funds now in the hands of the county treasurer, deposited pursuant to previous ordess of this court and belonging to enemy aliens and for the investment of these funds in government securities.

"The order will further provide that in the future all similar sums will be so invested."

"It is believed that this sum will aggregate in excess of $250,000," said the judge. "Over the entire country, I expect that this type of funds will run into millions of dollars."

BUTCHER ROBBED OF $864.

Four armed men forced Fred Heck's automobile to the curb at Cortland street and Keystone avenue yesterday and robbed him of $864, which he said he was taking from a neighborhood bank to his meat market at 4209 Irving Park road to be used in cashing customers' checks.

ORDER BLACKOUT TEST ON AUG. 12 IN CHICAGO AREA

12,000,000 in 3 States to Be Affected.

The largest blackout ever attempted in inland United States was ordered yesterday for 10 to 10:30 p. m. Aug. 12 by civilian defense officials at the request of the army. Included in the area are Chicago, northern Illinois, southern Michigan, and lake shore counties of Wisconsin.

Col. B. B. Freud, acting 6th region director for the Office of Civilian Defense, said the blackout was requested by Maj. Gen. George M. Grunert, head of the 6th service command. He asked state and local organizations in the areas involved to begin preparations for the test immediately.

The blackout will be the first for Chicago and northern Illinois. Of other large cities in the area, Detroit has had three test blackouts and Milwaukee one.

Few Lights Permitted.

Col. Freud said the blackout will be complete except for certain lights deemed essential. War plants generally will be blacked out as much as possible without disrupting war production, he said.

The lights which must not be extinguished, he reported, will be those necessary to operation of railroads, air lines, and shipping. He said it is up to local defense councils to decide whether street and traffic lights are shut off. Vital transportation facilities serving such agencies as police, public utilities, and hospitals may be operated, but these agencies are being asked to shield their lights in accordance with OCD regulations.

Thruout the area, in practically all cases, other lights are to be extinguished unless they are protected, and people must act in accordance with local OCD regulations. The rules will vary slightly in different cities and towns, Freud said.

Workers to Watch Test.

During the blackout, thousands of OCD workers thruout the area, which includes an estimated 12 million people, will be watching its effectiveness. The information they obtain will be passed up thru the OCD organizations so the OCD's 6th regional office may obtain a clear picture of compliance.

In preparations for the blackout there will be local OCD meetings and a special radio program which probably will include talks by governors of the three states and Mayor Kelly.

Mayor Kelly said yesterday all available whistles and sirens, public and private, will be utilized in sounding the blackout alarm. A series of short blasts will open the blackout period, and one long blast will bring it to an end.

Get Blackout Material.

The mayor urged that blackout material be obtained, if something suitable is not already available, for at least one room in each home so that occupants won't have to sit in darkness.

All Chicago blackout regulations must be observed, the OCD said, with the exception that persons in public and private vehicles need not leave them for air raid shelters. The blackout procedure will be as follows:

Pedestrians—All persons outdoors, except those in vehicles, must proceed to the nearest air raid shelter, except those excepted by the OCD. The shelter refers to specific refuge areas which have been designated in larger downtown and outlying buildings. If no shelter is near, the pedestrian should go to the nearest substantial building. No cigarets or matches should be lighted outside.

Persons in homes or apartments—They should remain indoors and shut off all lights which can be seen outside.

Those in public and private vehicles—They must pull over to the curb immediately and shut off the vehicle's motor. In the case of street cars, motormen are to proceed as far as necessary to clear bridges, street intersections, and fire hydrants, then disconnect trolley poles. Elevated and electric suburban trains must stop at the nearest station, and shut off lights.

Trains to Be Operated.

The regional OCD office said trains will continue to operate, with necessary lights permitted. It is up to local council, the office said, whether interurban coaches, electric lines, and street buses will continue operation, but in many places they are expected to be stopped.

On country highways cars are to pull entirely off the road if possible, and if not, park with their parking lights burning.

In Chicago most public buildings already have plans for blackouts. In the country building, for example, the master switches which control every light in the structure will be thrown and kerosene lamps lighted.

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said windows in the new post office will be darkened so that sorting of mail and other operations can continue. Blue lights will be turned on in more important offices of the United States courthouse.

SEN. CHANDLER'S GIFT POOL MUST UNDERGO BALLOT TEST TODAY

Louisville, Ky., July 31 (AP).—Kentucky Democrats will express their views by ballot tomorrow on the propriety of Sen. A. B. [Happy] Chandler's acceptance of a swimming pool from Ben Collings, a Louisville war contractor.

John Brown [top] and Sen. Chandler.

Chandler's opponent, John Young Brown of Lexington, charged that 8,000 pounds of vital war materials were used in the gift pool in the back yard of the senator's Versailles home. Brown has campaigned vigorously and made the pool the main issue in a typical Kentucky primary.

Sen. Chandler, in his only campaign speech, declared he had "done no wrong" in accepting the pool. He cited reports by the Truman senate investigating committee and the War Production board saying there was "no indication of any wrongdoing" on the senator's part.

The Republican senatorial primary has been overshadowed by the heated Democratic fight. Richard J. Colbert of Lexington, G. Tom Hawkins of Praise, Hector Johnson of McKee, and Charles B. Candler of Somerset seek the nomination.

OIL HEIR'S BRIDE RETURNS TO JOB AT GAS STATION

Philadelphia, Pa., July 31 (AP).—The "Cinderella bride" of Walter C. Pew Jr., one of the heirs of the vast Pew oil fortune, took off her glass slippers today—and went back to work at a gasoline pump.

The former Sophie Boychuk, the station attendant who left her post 10 days ago to marry the son of the general manager of the Sun Oil company, donned her uniform again after her honeymoon and began "filling 'em up."

The pretty, 22 year old blonde would not discuss her surprise marriage or her plans. The whereabouts of her husband could not be learned. Pew, a welder, had given his age as 22, but friends said he is 19.

REFUGEE NURSE AND HER TWINS FIND U. S. HAVEN

Husband Lost with Ship; Babies Born in Africa.

BY JUNE GESERICK.

More than two years ago Jeannette Bougerot passed thru Chicago en route to France, where she served as a Red Cross nurse. She returned last night for a brief visit, and with her she brought her only souvenirs of the happiness and the tragedy she found on the war torn continent—her baby twins, a son and a daughter.

The story of the years, which to her seemed centuries, began, she said when she left Austin, Minn., to go to France where her brother was fighting in the French army. Born in St. Boniface, Winnipeg, Can., of French parents, she studied nursing and took a position in Austin as nurse for the children of Jay C. Hormel, meat packer.

Gets Noisy Reception.

Her reception to France was a noisy one. She had just arrived in Paris when she underwent her first bombing experience. The blitz was soon an old story to her, and she learned to go calmly about her work in back-of-the-lines hospitals even when Nazi bombers roared overhead.

Having had experience in the care of children, she was sent to Algeria with a group of war shocked French children. For six months she and her little brood lived on the plantation of a Free Frenchman. The children regained their health and six months later she returned to France.

It was in Marseilles, shortly after her return from Africa, that romance appeared. The roommate of her brother, Jack, was a handsome chap of 27 named Roger Martin. Three months after their first meeting, Jeannette was married to Roger, a newly commissioned lieutenant in the French merchant marine.

Husband Goes Down in Storm.

Their few months of wedded life ended when her husband was killed last January while at sea on his first command, an old freighter, which went down off the Spanish coast during a heavy storm.

Hoping that by some chance her husband might have been saved, Jeannette remained in France until the end of February, and then embarked on a boat bound for the United States.

Authorities put her off the vessel at Casa Blanca, Morocco, insisting that a small passenger boat was no place for babies to be born. Thus it was on the first day of June that baby Roger and Jeannine were born.

Arabian Basket Their Crib.

Two weeks later, thru the influence of Mr. Hormel, passage was obtained for mother and babies, and with an Arab-made wicker basket for a crib, Mrs. Martin and her family again were en route to America.

She left Chicago last night for Austin, where again she will take charge of the Hormel children, to which will be added her two babies.

"My babies were born in terror," she said last night, "but here they will live in freedom."

ALL-WOMAN JURY BEGINS HEARING IN SLAYING TRIAL

(Picture on page 8.)

Trial of Allen Stuver, 23 years old, 4729 Woodlawn avenue, for the murder of his wife, Virginia, opened yesterday before the first all-woman jury in a criminal case in Cook county with the state relying on Stuver's confession that he smothered and strangled his wife and then attempted to take his own life by slashing his wrists.

Policeman Edward Tyrrell recited Stuver's admissions at the scene of the murder, which occurred May 18, and Stuver's 29 page statement was read to the jurors. Medical testimony to show that Mrs. Stuver died of strangulation was offered.

Public Defenders Morton E. Anderson and Frank Ferlic are expected to attempt to show today that his wife's confession of promiscuity caused Stuver to murder her while temporarily insane.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

On a hot night in 1847 a young officer of the United States marine corps sat writing in a spacious room of Chapultepec castle, Mexico City, in which once had reigned Montezuma, tragic emperor of the ancient Aztecs.

Now Gen. Winfield Scott had taken Mexico City and United States marines were in possession of Montezuma's stately halls. The young officer, still thrilled by the deeds of valor he had seen that day, was writing a rough draft of what was to become the marines' hymn:

From the halls of Montezuma
To the shores of Tripoli;
We fight our country's battles
On land as on the sea;
First to fight for right and freedom
And to keep our honor clean;
We are proud to claim the title
Of United States marine.

On the night of Aug. 15 that hymn will surge out in all its grandeur for the thousands gathered in Soldiers' field at the 13th annual Chicago Music Festival. And in the great lighted arena two platoons of fighting marines now in trailing at Navy pier for the war fronts of the world will execute the amazing precision drills that have made the corps famous.

Three Forces Represented.

The flashing, intricate drills and the singing of the marines' hymn by the festival male ensemble will be one of the high points of the great military and naval spectacle that will unfold during the three hour show. The vast amphitheater will be ablaze with army, naval, and marine uniforms and the stirring music of all three branches of the armed forces will set the theme.

The marines of the precision drill are men who have been chosen from many companies that train daily on Chicago's lakefront and are identified with the marine aviation detachment of the Naval Training school on the pier. Lieut.-Col. Carlton Hill, USMC, is their commanding officer and the physical training program that is fitting them for combat the world over is under the direction of Maj. Richard E. Hanley, former coach at Northwestern university, and now executive officer of the marines at the pier.

The two picked platoons, of 30 men each, will be in charge of 1st Sergt. B. F. Rippey and will receive their commands on the field from Corporals John L. Self and Robert Z. Mann. Accompanied by a color guard, they will move swiftly thru the marching manual, in which the manual of arms is executed rapidly on the march. Perfect timing and coördination is vital here.

Same Teamwork Beat Japs.

In all the figures and drills presented, the magnificent teamwork of the marines will be manifest. Americans have not forgotten — nor will they ever forget—how this spirit of teamwork dealt destruction to Jap invaders at Wake Island in the early days of the war.

In the marine command there were aviation mechanics, pilots, bombardiers, gunners, and just plain marines. But that was the thing; they were ALL marines and no matter what their particular assignments or ratings, they fought together as marines. The Japs saw warship after warship, plane after plane, and landing party after landing party smashed against a brilliant resistance that has gone down in history.

And it is a history that was glorious long before Wake Island. The marines are the oldest fighting force in the United States—hence the line in their hymn: "First to fight for right and freedom."

The first marines—two battalions of them—were enlisted at Tun tavern, Philadelphia, on Nov. 10, 1775, by authority of the Continental Congress. They filled the need for fighting men who were at home on the sea.

Cleared Sea of Barbary Pirates.

In 1805, some 42 years before the capture of the halls of Montezuma, the marines participated in the capture of Derne, Tripoli, during the war on the Barbary pirates. There for the first time they hoisted the Stars and Stripes over an old world fortress.

Altho the marine corps is an arm of the navy, it has been growing rapidly in its own right, especially since the World war. Marines are assigned to all battleships, aircraft carriers, and the larger cruisers. They man all secondary and anti-aircraft guns aboard ship.

On Navy pier, the mile long, man made peninsula that juts into Lake Michigan, marines by the hundreds are receiving technical training in aviation metal work which covers many phases in the maintenance and repair of airplanes.

Learn War's Science.

Shop mathematics, mechanical drawing and blueprint reading, naval aviation fundamentals, and operation of power tools are taught in a streamlined, 24 weeks course. In classrooms, on the drill field, and in the vaulted shops among airplane engines, gleaming metal propellors, and the intricacies of airplane wing structural work, these young Americans toil long hours to learn the science of destroying the enemy.

They're Sisters

Did you ever hear a women's barber shop quartet? No? Well, here's your chance. At the sixth annual Chicago Music Festival luncheon, to be held August 14 in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House, one of the star attractions will be The Johnson Sisters. They will sing "In the Evening By the Moonlight."

The honest-to-goodness sisters are Mrs. Ruby Bailey, tenor; Mrs. Irene Bergman, lead or melody; Mrs. Stella Berg, baritone, and Mrs. Harriet Michaelsen, basso.

All the tickets in the grand ballroom have been purchased, but plates are still available in the foyer. They cost $1.75 and may be obtained at the festival headquarters in TRIBUNE Tower.

NAVY CALLS 1,000 WOMEN TO START 'WAVES' ROLLING

Prefers Single Girls as Officers.

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—The call went out from the navy today for 1,000 women, preferably bachelor girls, to volunteer as officer candidates in the newly created feminine navy unit to release men for active sea duty. Later, calls will be made for 10,000 enlisted personnel.

Mildred McAfee.

Capt. Herbert Whitwell Underwood, 55, expert in navy science and tactics, has been named commanding officer of the women's reserve indoctrination and training school to be opened at Smith college in Northampton, Mass., Oct. 1.

Miss Mildred McAfee, 42, president of Wellesley college, also in Massachusetts, is expected to be named head of "Waves" with the rank of lieutenant commander. Both she and Capt. Underwood are natives of Missouri.

Frown on Marriage.

The navy's frown on motherhood isn't complete, but there are restrictions on student officers who wish to be appointed for volunteer emergency service — in other words, "Waves." After all, reason the admirals, there's a war on.

Married women are not prohibited from volunteering, but unmarried volunteers must agree not to marry or remarry while in training—and that training will last at least one month.

Mothers having children under 18 years of age need not apply for the first two groups of officers to be appointed to get the "Waves" rolling. The first group, a small one, will be named to administrative positions. Another group, probably about 300, will be appointed officers on a probationary status. Applicants in these groups must be citizens and from 21 to 51 years of age.

Must Pass Aptitude Tests.

All others who desire to be student officers must enroll in a third group, class V-9, and must be from 20 to 30 years of age, inclusive, and childless if married. They, too, if unmarried must agree not to wed until their training courses are completed.

All applicants must pass physical and aptitude tests, and be of good repute in the community. They must have a college degree, or in lieu of a degree must have completed two years' college work plus not less than two years' professional or business experience of a type that would fit them for administrative or technical positions.

Applicants must submit a written request for a preliminary application blank to the director of naval officer procurement in the city or naval district in which the applicant resides. Qualifications for enlisted personnel have not yet been released.

Reports from Wellesley college grads are that potential "Waves" have drawn, in Miss McAfee, a shipshape choice as director.

Studied at U. of C.

She was 36 when she became president of Wellesley. For the first three years she was quite conservative. Then one day she sanctioned shorts instead of bloomers for gym.

A native of Parkville, Mo., she was graduated from Vassar at the age of 20. From then on she did a sort of student's tour of educational institutions, studying at Columbia university, the University of Chicago, Oberlin, Williams college, Mount Holyoke, and others.

She taught at Monticello seminary in Godfrey, Ill., the Francis Parker school in Chicago, Tusculum college in Greeneville, Tenn.; Bryn Mawr, Centre college in Danville, Ky., and Asheville, N. C.; Normal school.

It was from Oberlin that she went in 1936 to Wellesley to become that college's second youngest president.

CHICAGO OFFICE TO TAKE 'WAVE' APPLICATIONS

The Chicago Office of Naval Officer Procurement is prepared to handle applications for officers in the navy's women's reserve, it was announced yesterday by Capt. Edmund Spence Root, director.

Candidates for "Waves," as they are called, will not be interviewed except by appointment after preliminary letters have been acted upon, said Capt. Root. He urged that women make application by mail to the Chicago Office of Officer Procurement, Board of Trade building. Preliminary applications should state the candidate's age, educational and occupational background.

After institution of the reserve's officer procurement, 10,000 women will be enlisted from all over the country in the noncommissioned ranks.

The Chicago office has been given a quota of 80 officer candidates who will start a 30 day training period Aug. 12. These officers will be assigned to administrative duties and to training future women officers. The second Chicago area quota of women officers is 180.

TOWNS ON NORTH SHORE UNITE TO GATHER TIN CANS

Winnetka, Wilmette, Glencoe, Kenilworth, and Northfield have consolidated their tin can collection drives, William L. McFetridge, metropolitan area salvage director of the Office of Civilian Defense, said yesterday. Village trucks will start collections on Aug. 8 and will deliver the cans to a loading depot in Winnetka from where they will be moved by rail to a detinning plant in East Chicago, Ind. The collection trucks will be preceded by crews of women volunteers who will notify housewives to get their tin cans ready and will instruct them in the proper preparation of the cans.

SELLS DRINK TO MINOR; FINED.

Cyril G. Popelka, 1605 South Austin avenue, bartender in a tavern at 543 North Clark street, was fined $50 yesterday by Judge N. J. Bonelli for selling a drink to a minor sailor.

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR DOWNSTATE VOTE REGISTRY

Both Parties Begin Early Election Drive.

Springfield, Ill., July 31 [Special].—Several weeks ahead of normal, downstate Illinois politics has started to buzz in a house to house manner never witnessed before.

Ordinarily the first conspicuous activity in connection with the election of Nov. 3 would begin after Labor day, when vacations are over. That would allow for two months of campaigning.

But this year, with the exception of eight large cities that have election boards, downstate counties come within the permanent registration system for the first time and it is necessary for every voter in the state who wants to vote this fall to place his name on the poll lists.

Both Parties Busy.

As a consequence both Republicans and Democrats have instructed their workers to get busy without waiting for the end of the summer doldrums. In the election board cities it is necessary to register only those relatively few who are not correctly on the books now, but in most of the state it is an entirely new registration affecting all electors.

For nearly two months organizations have been persuading their people to go to the county court house and register without waiting for the big drives to come; but what is considered the beginning of real pressure so far as the Republicans are concerned is the fact that Gov. Dwight H. Green within the next 10 days will issue an appeal to all state employés to aid in the registration campaign.

His appeal will be, it is said, a printed message to each of the employés, telling him that it is: "Your civic duty to register and urge your friends to register regardless of political affiliations."

Chairmen Send Out Orders.

Both party machines, however, have already started operating in their own way. The state chairmen, Ben L. Berve, Republican, and Edward P. Allen, Democrat, have sent the word along to their county chairmen to have their precinct hustlers get as many voters registered as possible.

It is argued that while there are two general registration days in the new registration territory when polling places will be open in all precincts, it is wisdom for the voter to qualify himself now to vote on Nov. 3. Those two days are Sept. 19 and Oct. 3 and at those times the pressure will reach its full height.

As a whole the Republicans are much more optimistic about the registration than are the Democrats. The state primaries last April and the elections in five Supreme court districts in June all showed a Republican trend which they say has increased this summer. But they have no intention of sleeping on their opportunity.

Primary Vote Light.

The primary vote was extremely light but the Republican percentage of the total increased from the 43.7 of 1938 and the 53 per cent of 1940 to 66.9 per cent—giving them a 2 to 1 advantage over their opponents outside Cook county. And since the principal downstate strength is in the cities already having election boards, the territory now coming under permanent registration is considered strongly Republican.

That the Democrats recognize this is seen in their roundup of party leaders at a luncheon here next Tuesday. One of the principal subjects discussed will be the task of getting their downstate vote registered.

THE QUESTION.

Have you ever witnessed anything interesting while on duty?

WHERE ASKED.

At various window-washing companies thruout the loop.

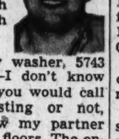
THE ANSWERS.

C. L. Butts, window washer, 2014 Monroe street—One time I entered a room on the ninth floor of a hotel to wash the windows and I saw a woman, partially undressed, standing on the window sill ready to jump. I grabbed her and fought her all the way to the door. Some people were getting off the elevator and saw us and rushed to the rescue.

Joseph Buchowski, window washer, 4105 South Richmond street—I was working on a home in the suburbs. The woman of the house couldn't keep her children from crying. She asked me if I would mind the children while I was washing the windows. I did and I was busier than a one-armed paper hanger.

Kasma Fesuk, window washer, 4716 South Kedvale avenue—One time when I was washing windows five stories up, the window frame came out and I fell backward to the street. A canopy over a restaurant below broke my fall. The restaurant owner bawled me out for falling thru the canopy.

Harry Bruszewski, window washer, 3619 Diversey avenue—I was washing the windows on a business building one day when I saw a cute typist watching me. I smiled and she smiled back. It wound up with me having a date with her that evening.



Tony Jessel, window washer, 5743 South Paulina street—I don't know whether you would call it interesting or not, but I saw my partner fall three floors. The entire jamb of the window came out and he tumbled down backward at my side. I felt sick. Both his arms and right leg were broken.

Louis Paculnas, window washer, 4102 North Kedzie avenue—Last Christmas eve I washed windows in about six different locations. In every one of them office parties were going on and every one looked as if they were having a lot of fun. No one invited me to have a sandwich, or a glass of punch. No one even said "Merry Christmas."

11TH BRAZILIAN SHIP IS SENT TO BOTTOM BY SUBS

Panama Vessel Also Sunk by Axis Raider.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Brazil's 11th ship loss of the war, disclosed yesterday in a message 406 from an Argentine tanker, and the navy's announcement of the sinking of a Panamanian vessel increased the Associated Press total of announced losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor to 406. The sinkings resulted in 2,265 deaths, 1,628 persons missing, and 11,920 have been rescued.

Ship sinkings announced during July reached a total of 79.

17 Are Rescued.

The Brazilian ship was the freighter Barbacena, 4,772 tons. In a message to the Argentine naval ministry the Argentine tanker Tacito said it had rescued 17 survivors off the northern coast of Brazil, but did not state how many crew members were missing.

The Panamanian vessel took four torpedoes before it went down July 18 off the northern coast of South America. Members of the crew escaped in two lifeboats and were picked up by a United States naval craft.

Nazis Claim a "Hard Blow."

BERLIN, July 31 [From German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German high command issued this special communique today:

"German submarines again have dealt a hard blow to enemy shipping. They have sunk:

"In the central Atlantic and off the American coast, from heavily protected convoys, five ships totaling 41,000 tons, and 12 singly sailing ships totaling 73,000 tons, as well as five sailing ships and one convoy ship.

"Off the western coast of Africa, seven ships of a total of 53,000 tons, and in the eastern Mediterranean, five sailing ships.

"One destroyer and two ships of 17,000 tons were heavily damaged from convoys in the Atlantic, and a British destroyer in the waters of Cyprus.

"German submarines thereby increased their sinking figure of this month by an additional 167,000 tons.

"The enemy again lost 24 merchant ships, 10 sailing vessels, and one convoy ship apart from ships and destroyers which were reported damaged."

Japs Reported Using Indian Soldiers for Guard Duty

San Francisco, Cal., July 31 (AP).—Indian soldiers formerly in the British army at Hongkong are being employed by the Japanese for sentry and guard duties, the China News Service reported today in a Chungking broadcast. The report was credited to a Mrs. Gaston, Hongkong-born Indian woman who escaped from the captured island.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor was reported yesterday planning to hold its preconvention sessions at the Drake hotel beginning Tuesday instead of at the Hotel Chelsea at Atlantic City, N. J., which was requisitioned by the army. The Drake hotel management said AFL officials had made tentative arrangements for a meeting next week but that final word is expected Monday. The annual convention will be held in Toronto, Ont., early in October.

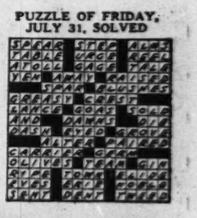
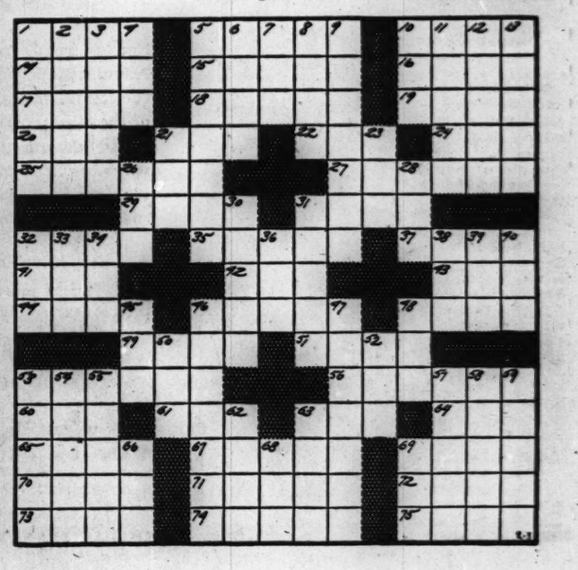
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, JULY 31, SOLVED





SUPREME COURT REJECTS APPEAL OF 7 SABOTEURS

Trial Before Military Board Resumed.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—The application of seven Nazi spy saboteurs for writs of habeas corpus to release them from trial by a secret military commission was denied by the United States Supreme court today on the ground that they had "not shown cause for being discharged."

Nothwithstanding President Roosevelt's attempt to close "the courts of the United States" to enemy war offenders, the high court announced it had "fully considered" the questions raised by the Nazi prisoners in their attack on the President's authority to order their trial by a military commission. Thus the court did "open the courts" and asserted its jurisdiction to consider whether military commissions are lawfully appointed and whether there is cause for the discharge of persons on trial before such tribunals, altho it did uphold the President's action in regard to the present case.

Military Trial Resumes.

After the Supreme court had announced its decision, counsel for the defendants resumed their closing arguments before the military commission of seven generals. The arguments are expected to be concluded tomorrow, when the commission will begin preparation of its judgments and sentence. The decision may reach President Roosevelt for his confirmation or rejection late tomorrow or Sunday.

Seven of the prisoners face probable death sentences, while the eighth, George John Dasch, who has given evidence for the prosecution and did not seek release by the Supreme court, is expected to receive a prison sentence.

Decision Is Unanimous.

The Supreme court's action was unanimous, with eight of the nine justices participating. Justice Frank Murphy, a lieutenant colonel on active duty with the army, took no part in the case. A brief per curiam [by the court] announcement, read by Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, expressed the judgment of the court and stated that "a full opinion" will be filed later.

"The court has fully considered the questions raised in these cases and thoroly argued at the bar, and has reached its conclusion upon them," said the announcement. "It now announces its decision and enters its judgment in each case, in advance of the preparation of a full opinion which necessarily will require a considerable period of time for its preparation and which, when prepared, will be filed with the clerk.

Authority Is Upheld.

"The court holds:

"1. That the charges preferred against petitioners on which they are being tried by military commission appointed by the order of the President of July 2, 1942, allege an offense or offenses which the President is authorized to order tried before a military commission.

"2. That the military commission was lawfully constituted.

"3. That petitioners are held in lawful custody, for trial before the military commission and have not shown cause for being discharged by writs of habeas corpus.

"The motions for leave to file petitions for writs of habeas corpus are denied."

Adequate Cause Not Shown.

The chief significance of the court's decision, according to constitutional lawyers, is that it denied writs of habeas corpus not because it lacks power to issue them but because the petitioners did not show adequate cause.

Attorney General Francis Biddle urged the Supreme court to overrule the historic Milligan case, decided in 1866, in which the supreme tribunal held that a military commission is without jurisdiction to try persons other than members of the land and naval forces under the laws of war in a district where the civil courts are functioning, except in time of rebellion or insurrection.

If this decision should be set aside, American citizens as well as enemy aliens might be tried by secret military commissions anywhere in the country on charges of violating the criminal statutes or the unwritten law of war.

BAHR AND EIGHT OTHERS INDICTED AS ENEMY SPIES

Newark, N. J., July 31 (AP).—A federal grand jury today returned an indictment charging Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr, 29 years old, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., and eight men in foreign countries with setting up an international spy ring to gather information on war industries and the armed forces of the United States.

The German-born Bahr, who is an American citizen thru his father's naturalization, was seized early this month aboard the diplomatic exchange ship Drottningholm while it was docked at Jersey City. It is charged he attempted to slip into this country by posing as a Jewish refugee.

The indictment said the spy ring had offices in Madrid, Spain; Zurich, Switzerland; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Istanbul, Turkey, and Stockholm, Sweden.

Others named in the indictment, which charges conspiracy to commit espionage against the United States, are Karl Bauer, Max Bucholz, and Dr. Otto Baum, all of Germany; Otto Lindt of Switzerland; Don Julian Rubio of Madrid; Alfredo Nae of Rio de Janeiro; Izante Wennberg of Stockholm, and C. J. Saridaki of Istanbul.

BODY RECOVERED FROM LAKE.

The fully clothed body of an unidentified man about 55 years old, which police said apparently had been in the water about a month, was recovered from the lake at the foot of 7th street yesterday.

CONFESSED NAZI SPY, WILLUMEIT, TURNS ON PASTOR

Links Rev. Molzahn to Conspiracy Ring.

Hartford, Conn., July 31 (AP).—A confessed member of a spy ring, Dr. Otto Willumeit, Chicago bundsman, took the witness stand late today to testify in the espionage-conspiracy trial of the Rev. Kurt Molzahn, but had hardly more than identified himself before a clash developed between opposing attorneys which continued until court adjourned.

Kurt Molzahn.

Before that, the government sought thru the testimony of two Germans now living in the United States—one of them a former judge and criminologist who testified he had taken part in an investigation of Adolf Hitler—to prove its contention that the Philadelphia clergyman defendant was a Nazi party member who had "direct communication with the Gestapo."

Awaiting Sentence.

Dr. Willumeit has pleaded guilty and is awaiting sentence under a June 10 federal indictment charging him, Molzahn, and three others with conspiracy to violate the 1917 espionage act by collecting military information for Germany and Japan.

Dr. Willumeit testified he attended a Chicago meeting in July last year with Anastase Vonsiatsky, Russian Fascist leader, and Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, former German-American bund head, both of whom have pleaded guilty to the indictment, and the Rev. Aleski Pelypenko, star government witness who has identified himself as a Catholic priest and part time FBI counterespionage agent.

Asked by Assistant Prosecutor Joseph Cooney of Molzahn's name was mentioned at this meeting, the witness said: "Yes, Kunze mentioned his name to Pelypenko."

Charges Defense Fears Collapse.

"What did Kunze say to Father Pelypenko about Molzahn?" was the next question, and Defense Attorney James W. Carpenter objected that such testimony was inadmissible.

With the jury excused, Cooney cited the law relating to conspiracy cases in an effort to have the testimony admitted, and said: "I can see the reason for the objection; the testimony will demolish the defense."

Carpenter heatedly objected to this phrase.

Judge J. Joseph Smith then adjourned court and said the argument could be concluded Monday.

Father Pelypenko testified yesterday that at the Chicago meeting Kunze gave him Molzahn's name as one who would help in obtaining "a document" that would enable Kunze to leave the country with information that had been collected.

Wearer of Nazi Emblem.

Dr. Otto Richard Flatter, 50 years old, of Staten Island, N. Y., told the jury that Molzahn wore a Nazi party emblem in his buttonhole aboard a German liner on a trip to Hamburg five years ago and had given him a card of introduction to the Gestapo.

The witness, who lost a leg while fighting with the German army in 1917, said he and Molzahn talked about Dr. Flatter's loss of a teaching position in 1933 after the Nazi party came to power.

"Molzahn said he was a member of the Nazi party," Dr. Flatter told the jury, "and he stressed his connections and said 'I could help you.'"

Then, he continued, the clergyman gave him a card to one Dr. Berendsmann whom Dr. Flatter identified as "the head of the Gestapo."

ACCUSE POLICE SQUAD OF TAKING GUNMAN'S BRIBE

Capt. Frank J. Reynolds of the Chicago avenue station, announced last night that he will see Commissioner Allman today to ask for the suspension of the members of a police squad, accused of accepting a $50 bribe not to arrest a gunman. Two hours later another squad seized the man, and later connected him with a robbery and automobile theft.

The alleged bribery occured Wednesday night. According to Capt. Reynolds the suspected police squad went to a restaurant at 232 West Grand avenue in response to a disturbance call. They found Clarence Lamar Cogdell and his wife, Charlotte. A gun was resting in her lap. No arrest was made. The squad later reported "disturbance suppressed."

Early Thursday the second police squad seized Cogdell. He was quickly identified as the two gun bandit who last Saturday held up the Ranch restaurant at 123 East Oak street, and stole $350. Police found one gun in his room. Capt. Reynolds inquired about the second gun used in the Ranch robbery. Cogdell then charged he had been taken for a $50 bribe and the gun. One of the squad members turned in the weapon yesterday, saying he had not meant to keep it. He and his partners denied Cogdell's bribe charge. Capt. Reynolds said one member of the squad may be cleared.

CHARGES AROFF GAVE 'PRIORITY' TO TONY MARTIN

San Francisco, Cal., July 31 (AP).—A witness at the court martial of Lieut. Comm. Maurice N. Aroff testified today that the officer ordered the naval reserve procurement office here to give the enlistment of Tony Martin, actor and singer, priority over other applications on file. Aroff is accused of soliciting and accepting a $950 automobile from Martin.

Yeoman William Basset, who worked in the procurement office under Aroff, said that last New Year's day the commander ordered him to have Martin's papers ready by 8 a. m. the next day, and to put them ahead of others.

U. S. CLOSES CASE AGAINST PELLEY AND TWO OTHERS

Letters Are Read Hinting World-Wide Plot.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 31 (AP).—The government late today rested its case against William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirt leader, and two associates charged with criminal sedition. As a climax, the government introduced documentary evidence which hinted Pelley's activities might "go beyond the confines of America."

Oscar R. Ewing, special prosecutor, read to the jury excerpts from copies of two letters the government alleges were written by Pelley to Dr. John R. Brinkley, deceased, one time "goat gland" specialist, and Col. E. N. Sanctuary of New York, retired. Col. Sanctuary was indicted July 21 in federal court at Washington, D. C., for criminal sedition and conspiracy.

Identified by Stenographer.

The correspondence copies, identified by a stenographer as having been written by her for Pelley, were seized by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents here and at Noblesville, Ind., site of Pelley's publishing plant.

The excerpt from the Aug. 14, 1941, letter which the government claims was written to Dr. Brinkley, read by Ewing to the jury, said:

"I think the time has come to consider that everything I have done up to now has been preparatory to the real gesture of starting something that literally sweeps the United States and drives the Luciferians into the two oceans.

"In time, I am not so sure that it isn't going beyond the confines of America because already I find myself a mightier personage than my own breed here is yet willing to accredit.

Boasts of Jap "Drag."

"My 'drag' in Japan is so great that if it were not for the war structure, I could launch a branch of the Galileans there overnight. I have letters from prominent Japanese soliciting that I do some such thing and offering me every practical assistance.

"As for Germany and Europe, did I tell you that just before the war broke out, every member of the Nazi court, including Herr Hitler himself, had read my book, 'Behold Life,' and was classing it as exactly the type of religion Nazi Germany could embrace?"

The copy of the letter the government claims was written to Col. Sanctuary apparently contained a reference to one of the witnesses [Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, retired] whom Pelley has subpenaed to testify in his behalf on Aug. 4.

Ready for Military Action.

The excerpt read by Ewing said: "I had a gorgeous 36 hours with Gen. Moseley at Atlanta week before last and I find that the general concurs in 99 per cent of what you and I believe.

"We have a most valuable ally in this important military man, and as I told him, his military career is 'just beginning.' I believe you have had no small military career yourself and I think the time is coming when all of us can operate freely and openly to restore the republic which meant so much to us as boys."

Judge Robert C. Baltzell recessed the trial until Monday morning after the correspondence was introduced. Earlier the government offered evidence intended to prove that Pelley's writings were similar to axis propaganda and did not reflect American sentiment about the war.

KILLED UNDER TRACTOR.

Ionia, Mich., July 31 [Special].—Perry Freeman, 17 years old, Lowell High school football star and basketball player until his graduation in June, was killed today while disking on his father's Boston township farm when a tractor overturned.

Youths Seized

4 YOUTHS POSE AS FBI AGENTS ON NORTH SHORE

Members of Prominent Evanston Families.

Four Evanston boys were arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday and pleaded not guilty to charges of impersonating federal agents. They were released in bonds of $1,000 each for a hearing Aug. 12.

They are James Conway Ringling, 16 years old, 1200 Forest avenue, Evanston, grandson of the late Charles Ringling, a founder of the Ringling Brothers circus, and son of Robert Ringling, a former opera singer who is now active in the circus management.

John Kirby Roche, 16, of 1316 Lake street, Evanston, son of John Pierre Roche, president of Roche, Williams, and Cunnyngham, advertising agency at 310 South Michigan avenue.

Joseph Knox Sparrow, 17, of 1214 Forest avenue, Evanston, a student at the North Shore Country Day school in Winnetka, and son of the late W. W. K. Sparrow, former first vice president of the Milwaukee road.

Eugene Glass, 18, of 1422 Wesley avenue, Evanston, a junior at the Evanston Township High school, and son of R. E. Glass, a painter and decorator.

Use Antique Guns.

Assistant United States Attorney Lawrence Miller said that the four youths had been supplied with four guns, two of them loaded, by Ringling who took them from his grandfather's collection of firearms.

They then called the New Trier High school, Winnetka, he said, and claimed they were FBI agents seeking names of girls who were likely prospects as government employés. They asked for names, addresses, and telephone numbers, Miller asserted, and were given several names by an office employé in the school.

Miller charged that they called one of the girls named by the office employé and told her they were FBI men seeking government employés. The four made a date to meet the girl, whose name was not revealed by the government, in a Wilmette drug store Thursday night, according to Miller.

Girl Notified FBI.

The girl became suspicious, however, and when Roche met her Thursday night he also met FBI agents who had been called by her. Roche was said by Miller to have led the agents to a cottage in Highland Park, owned by one of the youths' families, where the other three boys were waiting. All four were arrested.

Before Walker yesterday Roche and Glass were sobbing, while Sparrow and Ringling stood unemotional.

The court proceedings were enlivened by unprecedented procedure when George T. Donoghue Jr., an assistant United States attorney, shielded Roche, his cousin, from photographers and pushed them aside when they sought to take his picture.

U. S. JURY QUIZZES MEMBERS OF TWO GERMAN LEAGUES

The special federal grand jury investigating sedition yesterday heard Hans Nissen, 1464 Caltalpa avenue, of the German-American Vocational league, and Arthur Koegel, editor of the German-American Citizens' league newspaper. The vocational league was described by government attachés as being closer to official German agencies than the German-American bund. Dr. Otto Willumeit, head of the bund's Chicago division, who had been scheduled to appear before the jury, had not finished testifying before another sedition grand jury in Hartford, Conn.

DEATH HELD ACCIDENTAL.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accident in the death of Nathan Unger, 86 years old, 6855 Crandon avenue, a retired automobile dealer, who died of injuries suffered in a fall.

FEDERAL JUDGE CAN'T HOLD ARMY POST, U. S. RULING

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—The justice department, it was learned today, recently expressed the opinion that a federal judge could not hold his court post and an "active" military position at the same time.

The ruling was made in the case of Justice William Clark of the Third Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia. Judge Clark resigned from the bench to enter the army.

Altho Justice Frank Murphy of the Supreme court is engaged in an army training course with the rank of lieutenant colonel, it was understood that the Clark ruling did not apply to him. Murphy technically is "a reserve officer on inactive duty," and the Clark decision was based on the fact that Clark contemplated an "active" status in the army.

Attorney General Francis Biddle issued a statement today declaring that no opinion has been asked for or prepared concerning Justice Murphy, denying reports that such a ruling existed.

OPA APPROVES PRICE INCREASE FOR WHISKY, GIN

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—An increase of "at least" 14 cents a quart in the retail price of domestic gin, and varying increases in prices of domestic whisky, cordials, and liqueurs were authorized today by the Office of Price Administration to compensate producers and distributors for added costs resulting from conversion of distilleries to war work.

The order becomes effective Aug. 5. OPA said the advance in whisky prices would depend upon the type of product, but that blends using neutral spirits would reflect increased cost of more expensive high proof alcohol. Straight whisky prices would not increase, officials said, except to reflect any in increase in taxes.

OPA emphasized that the advances will be limited to actual increases in ingredient costs arising thru issuance of WPB orders and additional taxes which have been or will be imposed.

A CAPTURED NAZI BOASTS HOW THE OTHERS WILL WIN

Admits, However, That All Russia Can't Be Taken.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES AT RUWEISAT RIDGE, Egypt, July 31.—The Germans have given up their hope of conquering all of Russia, but expect to take the Caucasus and then seek a separate peace with Russia, according to a talkative, American-educated Nazi officer captured here.

His remarks, like those of other prisoners, showed that the Nazis are staking everything on quick success in Russia. He said the Germans soon will polish off Stalingrad, then Moscow, then the Caucasus. Then they will tell the Russians they fought honorably and offer an "honorable peace," leaving the Nazis with all they have grabbed, and the Russians will accept, he asserted.

Next, he said, the Germans will sweep over Iran, Iraq, Syria, Palestine, and Egypt, and offer the British a similar peace. He said Britain also will accept.

Bund "A Hysterical Little Group."

He asserted that America is too far away to do anything effective, but laughed at a suggestion that he was relying on the German-American bund and said:

"Even the Nazis know the bund is only a hysterical little group."

Educated at the University of California and speaking perfect English, he said he remained in America until December, 1940, and returned to Germany via Russia.

This German was talkative because he was a party enthusiast. Many others are talkative because they are fed up with the war and believe themselves to be thru with the perils of bombs. Commenting on the change in German prisoners since the November campaign, a British officer said that then they refused even to give their names or numbers, saying: "Get them from my papers."

Want to Know About Bombs.

Now apparently the merciless pounding of artillery and bombers has softened up the Germans. Most prisoners talk freely, relieved at being freed from the threat of sudden death. The first question by one prisoner was: "Do you get bombed much here?" Told no German bomber had been overhead in a fortnight, he and his companions said, "Thank God!" and admitted they had had no real sleep for two weeks because of the allies' bombing.

One man was captured just 40 days after leaving Germany. Wounded in his last campaign, he convalesced at home and left again for Africa on June 21. Flown from Athens to Crete and then to Africa, he arrived at Tobruk on July 6.

On July 17, he said, an order was issued that El Alamein, Egypt, must fall at any cost. Four times the Germans attacked and the last time, as they retreated, military police forced them to try again, he said.

By then they were exhausted and when the British came along they surrendered. That was today, and El Alamein's defenses still are untouched, while the Germans have been forced to fall back.

An Armored "Moving Van."

The prisoner said that when they attacked El Alamein they were told it was the fortifications of Alexandria.

Captured documents, arms and equipment are valuable sources of information. The most sinister captured object I have seen was a dum-dum bullet taken from a German dive bomber. It was a soft-nosed expanding bullet, jacketed except for the last quarter inch of the nose, which was formed by a blunt mushroom of lead so the bullet on striking a man would expand and cause a terrible wound.

The biggest item was a huge British office truck, like a big moving van covered with armor plate. Captured by the Germans who named it "Jumbo," it was retaken by the British and is back in British service.

Another interesting item was a widely traveled anti-tank gun. The weapon originally was Russian, but was captured by the Germans, who brought it to Africa. There it was captured by the British. These Russian 3 inch guns have so impressed the Germans that they have brought to Africa many others which they seized in Russia.

FRANCE FORBIDS DEMONSTRATIONS THAT PERIL ORDER

VICHY, France, July 31 (AP).—Pierre Laval's cabinet today banned all demonstrations in France which might endanger public order and invoked the death penalty against any one convicted of possessing explosives or firearms.

The measures were taken while the French press discussed possible British and American troop landings in France to establish a second front. Official comment told the French that any such invasion was doomed to fail and advised them against any effort to support it.

Canada's Air Recruiting Chief Pins Wings on Son

OTTAWA, Ont., July 31 (AP).—Air Marshal W. A. Bishop pinned pilot's wings today on the tunic of his 19 year old son, Leading Aircraftman A. C. W. A. Bishop. The father now is director of recruiting for the royal Canadian air force. The son was one of a large class of graduates from many parts of Canada and the United States.

U. S. AND BRITISH BOMBERS BLAST TOBRUK, MATRUH

Big Fires Are Started in Axis Port.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 31 (AP).—United States army and heavy British bombers made a violent attack on Tobruk last night while British naval aircraft raided Matruh, the axis port closest to the desert front line, and scored hits on two ships.

After hitting Matruh harbor, the naval planes roared inland and attacked what apparently were axis fuel and munitions dumps.

Fires set off at Matruh could be seen 30 miles away, the British said. Altho the visibility over Tobruk was poor, the raid was described as successful.

Axis planes raided Egyptian air bases from which the Americans and British have been attacking Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's land and sea communications. Four persons were killed in a raid on Alexandria, while Cairo and other areas had air raid alarms. The lull in fighting on the El Alamein front continued.

[The German high command yesterday claimed large fires were set when Nazi planes raided airdromes in the Cairo area on Wednesday night. Italy said a British thrust south of El Alamein had been repulsed.]

MICHIGAN CADET, 2 OTHERS KILLED IN AIR COLLISION

Sumter, S. C., July 31 (AP).—Two aviation cadets and an instructor were killed and a civilian pilot was slightly injured when two training planes crashed near here yesterday afternoon, the Shaw field public relations office announced today.

There were no known witnesses, but the planes were believed to have collided in midair.

The dead:

Liuet. Hoyt Acker, 23 years old, of Asheville, N. C.

Aviation Cadet Fray A. McMillan, 25, of Charlevoix, Mich., son of Dr. and Mrs. F. F. McMillan of Charlevoix. He was graduated from Albion college and the University of Michigan.

Aviation Cadet Curtis R. Risley, 22, of Herman, N. Y.

Slightly injured was N. E. Williams, Ridgeland, S. C., a civilian pilot.

Two Officers Killed.

Newark, N. J., July 31 (AP).—An army basic training plane crashed into the earth here tonight, killing a lieutenant colonel and a major. The force of the crash was so great the major's body was buried 15 feet underground and was not found until nearly two hours later. Maj. Oliver Holden of the first air force public relations office at Mitchell field, N. Y., said the victims were Lieut. Col. George R. Smith, autogiro and meterorology expert, and Maj. J. J. Simondal, who was not known at Mitchell field. The plane, flying from Bolling field, outside of Washington, to Mitchell field, had been plowing thru unfavorable weather.

URGES 4-POWER COUNCIL BE SET UP TO RUN WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—Walter Nash, New Zealand's minister to the United States who now is discussing war problems with the British cabinet, tonight suggested that Britain, the United States, Russia, and China set up a council to run the war.

"Our job now is to get on with the war and we ought to put a world war council in charge of it," he said.

For controling the war in specified areas, he suggested regional councils of the smaller powers.

Nash also urged establishment of a "world reconstruction and development council to prepare postwar plans."

Three Jailed for Crying Out Against French Regime

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, July 31.—The special tribunal at St. Etienne, an industrial town near here, has sentenced two workers and a student to jail for "uttering seditious cries in the public streets against the government." Jean Decousu, employed in the national arms factory, was given four months; Jean Cohade, employed at the same place, three months, and Yves Marcel, a student, two months.

1,000TH TOULOUSE WORKER REGISTERS TO GO TO GERMANY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, July 31.—The departure of French workingmen for Germany from all parts of the occupied and unoccupied regions of France continues on an extensive scale, but there has been no attempt to consolidate figures on the number of departures or on the return of prisoners as a recompense.

Yesterday the 1,000th worker from Toulouse was registered. In a short speech to departing workers in Toulouse the German chief of the Franco-German recruitment bureau in Toulouse said: "I hope that from the work in common of French and German toilers there will be born a sentiment of comradeship which will favor the understanding of the two countries."

The representative of the prefect of the department, in turn, congratulated the workers on having understood their duty. Meanwhile, the return of the first prisoners was impatiently awaited.

U. S. AND RUSSIA EXTEND PACT ON TRADE RELATIONS

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—Soviet Ambassador Maxim Litvinoff called on Secretary of State Hull today to exchange notes extending for another year the soviet-American commercial agreement of 1937. The notes provide that the agreement, which would have expired Sunday, shall remain in force until Aug. 6, 1943, and thereafter, unless superseded by a more comprehensive agreement.

State department officials said that while the character and amount of United States trade with the soviet union during the coming year would be governed largely by military requirements rather than commercial considerations, the notes assure continued recognition of the principles involved in the 1937 act.

These include the principle of most-favored-nation treatment in all matters concerning customs duties and other charges and formalities imposed on foreign trade.

British Wife Fined $2,920, Husband $200 for Hoarding

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—Mrs. Jessie Thornley, a doctor's wife who allegedly stored 1,484 cans of food and over 850 pounds of other foodstuffs, was fined $2,920 today for hoarding. Her husband was fined $200 for obtaining rationed food by making false statements. It was not indicated in court whether the food was accumulated when the food ministry advised housewives to build up stocks or since rationing was introduced.

NAZI AIR ATTACKS TAKE TOLL OF 50 TRAINS IN BRITAIN

Public Told to Stay Home in Engine Shortage.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—Fifty passenger trains have been destroyed by German air attacks since the outbreak of the war, the government disclosed today in pointing to a shortage of locomotives as one more reason why the British public should avoid holiday travel.

Apart from these losses, 20,000 freight trains are being run weekly, it was announced, and trainloads of munitions and fuel must have the right of way. Thousands of extra trains are being run daily, carrying workers to and from government factories, and more than 100 special trains are scheduled daily to move troops.

Few New Engines Built.

Locomotives are repaired as rapidly as possible, it was announced, but besides the heavy calls for transport of munitions, troops, and workers, engines have been shipped overseas, others are working in factory sidings, and few new ones have been built because of the priority on steel for war weapons.

The number of engine hours in traffic for passenger services has been cut by one-sixth, but the engine hours of freight goods trains have increased 50 per cent over 1939.

Thefts Add to Problems.

The railroads' wartime problems are being intensified further, it was disclosed today, by thefts of articles in transit. Goods valued at more than 1,000 pounds [about $4,000] have been stolen monthly from one southern railway yard alone, it was disclosed in a London court. Six women railroad workers were sentenced to two months in jail each for stealing clothing and other property from the depot. All the women had volunteered for railroad work, all were married and the mothers of young children.

The magistrate in passing sentence described the thefts of rationed goods in wartime as "a form of petty treason which must be stopped."

FRENCH RETAKE SHIP SEIZED BY CREW OF BRITISH SUBMARINE

VICHY, France, July 31 (AP).—A French destroyer and naval planes have recaptured the French ship Mitidja from a British submarine crew which had seized her, it was officially announced tonight.

The Mitidja was en route from Oran, Algeria, to Marseilles with a cargo of cereal, wine, and minerals when stopped and seized by the British submarine crew on July 26, an admiralty communique said. The communique emphasized that the ship carried no war contraband, and added:

"A French destroyer and a group of planes of naval aviation intervened to deliver the ship which yesterday arrived at Marseilles without any other incident."

Edinburgh Club Set Up for American Service Men

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—On the eve of the opening of the American Red Cross club for United States soldiers and sailors, the lord provost of Edinburgh, W. Y. Darling, this evening formally welcomed William E. Stevenson, the American Red Cross delegate. Stevenson, pointing out that American troops probably will not get home on leave until the war is over, said the Red Cross was making arrangements so that the "American boy over here—perhaps for many years—will have a place where he can drop in and eat American food or read an American paper.

ALLIED BOMBERS BLAST JAP HELD TOWNS IN PAPUA

Two Large Fires Started; Cruiser Attacked.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Aug 1 [Saturday]—(AP).—Allied bombers struck heavily again at the Japanese held Gona mission area on the southeastern New Guinea [Papua] coast and left two large fires there, a communique said today.

An allied air unit attacked and "probably hit" a Japanese cruiser south of Amboina Island, Dutch East Indies, it also was announced.

Jap Ship Blasted.

Japanese installations on Guadalcanal Island, in the Solomons, also were heavily attacked, a communique said. Direct hits were made on a supply dock near the settlement of Kukum and a large ship off shore was blasted by allied bombs.

Allied action against enemy bases at Guadalcanal disclosed that Japanese infiltrations into the island have been going on for about six weeks, a military spokesman said.

The raid on the Gona mission area was centered on the village of Buna which was heavily hit, the communique said. Two large fires were started near the coast.

The situation at Kokoda, in interior New Guinea where Japanese patrols and allied outposts have been skirmishing, was declared "static."

Jap Bomb Strikes.

A single Japanese plane jettisoned one bomb near the village of Mossman, on the coast of Queensland north of Townsville, Australia, during a night flight and caused minor damage.

At Rabaul, New Britain, an allied scouting formation shot down one enemy fighter, the communique said.

Yesterday's communique told of one Japanese transport 100 miles off the Papuan shore being hit five times by allied bombers.

In the air, meanwhile, the Japanese have shown signs of revived strength. They directed a heavy blow with 27 big bombers and 22 fighters at Darwin on the northwest coast Thursday, but American flyers shot down seven fighters and two bombers. A tenth plane was downed in the New Guinea area.

NEW REPRISALS AGAINST NORSE BISHOPS FEARED

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 31.—Premier Vidkun Quisling's reply to last Sunday's manifesto to the Norwegian churchmen proclaiming a definite breach between the church and state and forming a "provisional church council" is believed to herald new reprisals against the Norwegian bishops.

"Because according to our basic laws the Norwegian church is a state church the organization of the church can obviously be modified only by legal authorities of the country," says the reply. "The breach of relations between the state and church proclaims that the bishops' seating is therefore illegal and will not have any influence on the Norwegian church. The Norwegian church remains a state church. The Norwegian government will take all the necessary measures to maintain law and order in this domain."

As Norwegian churchmen refused any compromise with Quisling authorities, it is thought in Oslo that a new wave of anti-church terror is imminent.

MEDICAL PAPER HITS LONG HOURS OF BRITISH PLANTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—The British Medical journal charged today that the long work days in British industrial plants are undermining the health of the workers, particularly women.

Instead of trying to shorten the working hours, the government "seems inclined to extend them, at least in respect to the members of the industries who are least able to bear them," the journal said. Longer hours put a greater strain on women, not only because of their weaker physique but also because of the additional time they must devote to housework and shopping, the latter frequently requiring hours because of wartime conditions.

Labor Minister Ernest Bevin recently assured the house of commons that he was giving consideration to a reduction in industrial working hours. Instances of young men working as many as 80 hours a week had been charged in parliament.

URGE PRESIDENT TO WARN AXIS OVER OUTRAGES

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—President Roosevelt was urged today by representatives of nine Nazi-dominated countries of Europe to give a "final warning" to Germany and her axis partners to cease committing war crimes in occupied areas.

The request for such a warning was contained in a note presented to Secretary of State Hull. Those signing the note included representatives of the governments of Norway, Belgium, the Netherlands, Poland, Greece, Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia, Luxemburg, and the French national committee.

The note referred to an "increasing number of barbaric acts" committed by Germany.

"Recent developments have made it clearer than ever before," the note said, "that the time has come publicly to warn those who are responsible."

LOITERER SHOT BY POLICEMAN.

Floyd Buchanan, Negro, of 4223 Michigan avenue, was shot in the right leg by Policeman Phillip Sylvester early yesterday when he fled as the policeman sought to question him about loitering near a garage at 4753 Cottage Grove avenue.

LANCE FEDDERSEN.

SONJA FEDDERSEN.

Two small children were fatally burned and their mother was severely injured when she tried to rescue them from a fire of unknown origin which broke out in the basement of their home at 5347 Lynch avenue last evening.

Mrs. Winifred Feddersen.

The children were Lance Feddersen, 2 years old, and his sister Sonja, 4. Mrs. Winifred Feddersen, 37, the mother, ran to the basement and tried to beat out the flames which had ignited their garments. All were taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital, where the children died.

Carl Feddersen, father of the children, is a painting contractor and paint stored in the basement aided the rapid spread of the fire.

BRITAIN REACHES REPATRIATION PACT WITH JAPS

TOKIO, July 31 [from Japanese broadcasts—(AP).—The foreign office tonight announced conclusion of Japanese-British negotiations thru Swiss mediation for the exchange of some 1,800 Japanese and Thai officials and other nationals in the British empire and Egypt for a similar number of Britons, Belgians, Egyptians, Dutch, Norwegians, and Poles in Japan and Japanese controled territory.

The exchange will be accomplished at Lourenco Marques, the Portuguese East Africa port at which a similar Japanese-American exchange was effected last week. Five liners will be used. The first exchange ships, the Egyptian liner El Nil and the Japanese Tatuta Maru, sailed yesterday from Liverpool and Yokohama, respectively. The others are the British City of Paris and City of Canterbury and the Japanese Kamakura Maru.

The first exchange is expected to take place late in August, the second early in September. An understanding already has been reached on repatriation of Japanese remaining in India and Australia after the present exchange.

GOV. GREEN ASKS SOCIAL FREEDOM FOR ALL WORLD

Gov. Green last night called upon America to be willing after the war to make social freedom available to all peoples. His plea was made in an address climaxing a month long drive in Aurora to sell war bonds and stamps.

After complimenting the Aurora retail merchants for selling $415,000 in war securities—nearly four times their $110,000 quota—the governor said America in the post-war period must bring "order out of disorder in social conditions all over the world."

The governor also was present while Aurora and its immediate environs went thru its first half hour black-out test. The demonstration was pronounced a success by CED officials, who reported that the only mishap occurred when an ambulance on a simulated casualty trip smashed into a stop sign and damaged a tire. Trains going thru the city during the black-out had dark curtains over their windows to dim the light.

U. S. Aids Study Britain's Concentration of Industry

LONDON, July 31 (AP).—Two representatives of the United States War Production board, Henry Dinegar and Arthur Burns, conferred today with British officials on Britain's concentration of industry and compulsory allocation of labor. Compulsory labor allocation has been enforced in Britain for some time. Under it, men and women may not change jobs without official permission.

Send New Head of Aussie Military Mission to U. S.

CANBERRA, Australia, July 31 (AP).—Prime Minister John Curtin announced today that Lieut. Gen. Vernon Sturdee, chief of the Australian general staff, is going to Washington, D. C., to head the Australian military mission there.

British Look to U. S. to Lead 2d Front; Expect Smash Soon

Mention Gen. Marshall

LONDON, July 31 (AP).—Appointment of a United States general as commander in chief of an allied invasion force in Europe would be entirely acceptable in Britain, it was said tonight by informed British sources who could not be quoted directly.

The name of Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. A. chief of staff, has been prominent in discussions of the subject both in the newspapers and in informed circles.

The situation as depicted by the British is this:

The principle of American leadership of this vital operation facing the united nations is believed to be acceptable to the British people.

If President Roosevelt should suggest Gen. Marshall or any other ranking American soldier as commander in chief, the appointment would be accepted immediately by the British government and fighting services.

Realize Big U. S. Rôle.

A British general would be a welcome and obvious choice as chief of staff to the American commander.

Britons realize the stupendous scale of invasion operations and the rôle that American ships, men, tanks, and guns must play in an invasion and drive to final victory.

This nation is alive to the need for appointing the best men regardless of nationality. American officers generally and Gen. Marshall in particular have impressed British soldiers and statesmen by their familiarity with the operations contemplated.

Gen. Marshall's prestige is extremely high among British staff officers, who view him as one of the few soldiers on the allied side who not only planned a successful operation in the World war but who has had experience in equipping, training, and transporting a large number of troops.

MacArthur Also Mentioned.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, like Gen. Marshall, enjoys high prestige among British soldiers, civilians, and officials. It is the view of well informed sources, however, that Gen. MacArthur is vitally needed by both nations in his present position, not only to organize and lead the final onslaught against Japan in the Pacific but for the preliminary operations which must precede any major offensive.

Speculation concerning a supreme commander for a European invasion is coupled with selection of a chief of staff for him. Four British generals are mentioned prominently. They are Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the imperial general staff; Lieut. Gen. Sir Bernard Paget, chief of the home forces army; Gen. Wavell, and Gen. H. R. L. G. Alexander, who was commander in Burma.

Preparations Grow

LONDON, July 31 (AP).—Mounting British and American offensive preparations coupled with continuing strategy conferences caused observers to believe tonight that a decision has been reached to aid the impatient Russian allies with as quick and positive action in western Europe as their combined resources will permit.

There were signs that the Russians had laid the cards on the table and told their allies that the time for a diversion in the west is here.

The difficulty of delivering war supplies to the soviet over the bomb splashed northern sea to Murmansk, and the danger that the Red army may be stripped of its offensive power to aid a western drive of the allies if action is delayed too long were seen as factors of urgency in the situation.

Say Japs May Strike.

Of great moment, too, was the assertion of British military sources today that Japan has concentrated nearly 400,000 troops on the 1,000 mile soviet frontier from Lake Baikal eastward and "there is little doubt they are planning to attack" from Manchukuo. This source said that the Japanese had been busy building roads and rail communications and that August and September are the best months for military campaign.

Some observers believed that the need for a diversion and a solution of the Murmansk supply problem might point to one answer—seizure of allied air bases in Scandinavia to provide air protection for arctic convoys.

And many believed that Washington and London had been given to understand that if means are found to deliver the guns, tanks, and planes the Red army needs, the Russians would be happy with a continuance of 1,000 bomber raids on Germany and big scale commando sorties until a full dress offensive can be mounted in western Europe.

Nazis Try to Split Allies.

Meanwhile, in efforts to discourage the allies and buck up themselves, German propaganda agencies pounded on the theme of Germany's western coastal defenses, which were described as "stronger than the Maginot line."

A foreign source here with continental sources of information said the Germans also were making peace feelers both to Britain and the United States and to Russia with the object of splitting the allies.

This source, who would not permit use of his name, said Germany was seeking to convince London and Washington they should leave Russia to her fate and hinting at German uneasiness over the Japanese peril to the white race, while suggesting to Russia that she quit the fight and align herself with Hitler's "New Europe."

SUGGESTS GANDHI AND INDIAN CHIEFS CONFER WITH STALIN, CHIANG

LONDON, July 31 (AP).—A Reuters [British news agency] dispatch from Bombay said that R. H. Parker, European member of the Indian council of state, suggested today that Mohandas K. Gandhi and members of Gandhi's All-India Congress committee meet Premier Josef Stalin of Russia and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of China to discuss India's problems.

He proposed that meetings of the All-India Congress committee [scheduled for Aug. 7] be postponed until interviews could be arranged, and said the government of India would arrange transportation, Reuters reported.

Under the plan, Stalin and Chiang would appoint representatives to help Gandhi and his colleagues carry out their recommendations in the interests of India, China, Russia, and the united nations.

WOMAN DIES; SEEK IDENTITY.

Warren avenue police last night sought to identify the body of a woman, about 55 years old, who collapsed from a heart attack on a Madison street car at Wood street last night and was dead on arrival at County hospital. She was carrying a department store discount card with the name of T. Matteson.

MISSING WOMAN INMATE IS FOUND DEAD IN ASYLUM

A middle aged woman patient was found dead yesterday in a locked and seldom used basement of the diagnostic building of the Chicago State hospital [Dunning].

She had been reported missing June 29, and it is believed she had entered the basement then. The coroner's office said she probably died of starvation. Her body was found by a telephone company repairman exploring the basement to make a new phone connection.

According to Dr. J. V. Edlin, acting managing officer of the hospital, the diagnositic building basement is largely a wire center and is only infrequently entered. It has one door. A mechanical repair was made in the basement about the time the woman patient disappeared and it was possible for her to have entered without being seen.

New York Experiences First Surprise Black-Out

New York, July 31 (AP).—Air raid sirens sounded a practice alert at 9:50 p. m. tonight, and New York City was plunged into its first city-wide surprise black-out of the war. A spokesman for the army's eastern defense command said the army had no comment, and added: "It's Mayor La Guardia's party."

AIR DUELS RAGE AS BRITISH BOMB NORTHERN FRANCE

U. S. Flyers Bag 4 of 11 Nazi Planes Downed.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 1 [Saturday]—(AP).—British bombers resumed their assaults on Germany last night after a one night interruption and the Berlin radio reported the raiders had attacked several places in the Rhine-Westphalian industrial area with high explosives and incendiaries. Eighteen British planes were shot down, the German broadcast said.

LONDON, July 31 (AP).—Hundreds of British and German fighters—Spitfires against Messerschmitts and the Nazis' newest Focke-Wulf 190s—engaged in tremendous air duels over northern France today as the RAF carried out intensive bomber and strafing raids on the Abbeville airdrome and the St. Malo docks.

Eleven German planes including three Focke-Wulf fighters were shot down in dogfights. Four Messerschmitts fell to American Eagle squadron pilots. Flight Lieut. S. R. Edner of San José, Cal., and Pilot Officer Barry Mahon of Santa Barbara, Cal., each got two.

Norwegians flying with the British accounted for three of the Nazi planes. The British lost eight Spitfires.

Nazis Strike Back.

German airmen, meanwhile, returned to their attack on England with assaults officially described as part of a new sustained Nazi aerial offensive.

Opening the night's Nazi offensive, two German planes bombed the southwest coast of England, "doing some damage," the British acknowledged.

CARRY OR NOT CARRY GAS MASK! THAT'S BIG QUESTION FOR BRITONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—Despite Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison's injunction to the people to "leave your gas mask at home" to conserve rubber, the war office has not changed its standing order to the army, home guards, ATS [auxiliary territorial service], and office workers to carry respirators while on duty.

The admiralty also continues its regulation that the gas mask is part of the uniform for naval personnel on and off duty. City police and members of the national fire service carried gas masks as usual today, and Minister of Home Security Morrison's own department said that until further orders wardens and other air raid precautions personnel should do likewise.

Londoners generally seemed to pay little attention to Morrison's advice. The few who are in the habit of carrying masks regularly continued to do so, but they number less than 1 in 300.

A number of houses were demolished, three persons were killed and eight injured.

Light naval forces engaged in three successful skirmishes with German boats, planes, and shore guns in the North sea and English channel, the admiralty announced.

Intercept Five Trawlers.

One British patrol early this morning intercepted five German trawlers off Ijmuiden, the Netherlands, setting fire to one and scoring repeated hits on others in a 10 minute fight. The action was broken off when one British boat was disabled by a hit and had to be towed to port with some casualties aboard.

Fifty minutes later the same German force was attacked by another British patrol which inflicted further damage in brief action, which was broken off at daybreak.

The third brush came in the English channel when three German torpedo boats or minesweepers escorted by motor boats were attacked by the British off France. Damage of undetermined nature was done. The British suffered no losses.

Acts to Jail Flag Despoiler if He Hasn't Enlisted Yet

A warrant for the arrest of Thomas Lamb, 20 years old, 3339 Walnut street, on charges of tearing an American flag from its pole was signed by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Boys' court yesterday. The court, however, indicated that the warrant would not be served if Lamb has enlisted in the armed forces, as he promised to do in the first hearing before Judge Dougherty June 30.

REDS BOMB NAZIS SO ENTHUSIASM OVER RAF WANES

MOSCOW, July 31 (AP).—News of the RAF's recent raids on Germany is being received by the Russians with appreciation but without any particular enthusiasm or excitement.

(This dispatch, evidently written to pass rigid censorship, implied a Russian conviction that British air attacks alone do not satisfy Russia's need for second front action and that the British effort had suffered in Russian eyes by recent comparison with the Russians' simultaneous fight for life and repeated air attacks on eastern Germany.)

The four recent attacks on Koenigsberg, East Prussia, by Russian airmen have made a considerable impression on those whom foreign correspondents meet here. Until the Koenigsberg raids Moscow citizens believed it impossible to carry on large scale land fighting and also bomb German cities.

Now the Koenigsberg raids are fully reported and RAF activities are not evoking the enthusiasm of the past.

COLOMBIA STAYS OUT OF WAR, BUT AIDS U. S. CAUSE

Latin Republic's Moves Against Axis Told.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 31.—Many indications point to the fact that this strategically important republic of Colombia—closest South American nation to the vital Panama canal—is definitely on the side of the united nations in the war.

Some criticism has been brought against the republic because its leaders have fought shy of actually declaring war against the axis. Mr. Average Colombian, high in his Andes capital of Bogota or in one of the other cities of the republic, has felt until very recently that the war is a long way from his life. Second, Colombia's army would have no front on which to fight. Third, the leaders believe that Colombia can best help the United States by furnishing raw materials, and that mobilization would throw the machinery for obtaining these materials out of gear.

Sub Attacks Schooner.

Just a few weeks ago an incident occurred which brought the war home to the average Colombian.

On June 23 in a lonely stretch of the Caribbean the 53 ton Colombian schooner Resolute was attacked by a Nazi submarine. A child died in its father's arms. Its mother was wounded.

The Resolute has not been forgotten, as evidenced by President Eduardo Santos' message at the opening of the Colombian legislative session July 20, in which he reported that Germany as yet has made no answer to Colombia's angry request for an explanation.

The first country in South America to break relations with the enemy, Colombia severed diplomatic connections with Japan last Dec. 9 and with Italy and Germany Dec. 18.

Curb Axis Nationals.

In ensuing months Colombia enacted a series of regulations which, together, present a formidable array against the axis. The most important of these regulations are:

1. Funds of all axis nationals in Colombian banks have been frozen.
2. No axis national is allowed to leave the country or to move from one place to another within the republic without a permit from the police.
3. All communications with axis countries have been discontinued.
4. German schools in Bogota, Cali, Medellin, and Barranquilla have been closed. In addition, all cafés and other establishments known to be meeting places of axis nationals have been closed.
5. The large Japanese colony in the town of Corinto, 60 miles southeast of the large city of Cali and only about 450 air miles south and east of the Panama canal, has been placed under military guard.
6. All axis nationals have been ordered to move back a minimum of 100 kilometers from any coastal region. [This decree is not yet enforced, but probably will be soon.]
7. Certain strategic areas—the Goajira peninsula extending far over toward Venezuela and two islands in the Caribbean—have been placed under military governors.

Sues for Divorce

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
Lois Andrews Jessel signing divorce complaint in Hollywood, Cal., yesterday.

Hollywood, Cal., July 31 (AP).—Lois Andrews Jessel, the schoolgirl who became the bride of Comedian George Jessel more than two years ago, announced today that a reconciliation had failed and she filed papers seeking a divorce.

She said she would charge mental cruelty, and commented: "George is a swell fellow, but his heart doesn't belong to any one person—it belongs to the public."

In San Francisco a week ago the couple told reporters there would be no divorce for the present. They have been estranged several weeks. Lois, now 18 years old, married the 44 year old comedian in Detroit, Mich., April 13, 1940. They have a daughter, Jerilynn, born last Oct. 22. Lois recently signed a movie contract.

It Seems Some Argentine Dislikes Hitler—or Castillo

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 31 (AP).—A large front window of a German-owned photograph shop which displayed pictures of Adolf Hitler, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, and Argentine President Ramon S. Castillo was smashed today by unidentified persons. The window also bore a sign inviting passers-by to sign an album paying tribute to Castillo, whose country and Chile are the only American republics maintaining relations with the axis.

NEED U. S. COAL TO KEEP HAVANA LIGHTS GLOWING

Power Due to Fail Aug. 8 in Cuban Capital.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, July 31.—Havana will be plunged into complete darkness Aug. 8 unless the United States rushes a shipment of coal here before then.

Officials of the Cuban Electric company notified the government today that their supply of coal would be exhausted by that date and all service would have to be suspended unless aid comes from America.

Drastic curtailment of electric power has been in effect since July 1, but has not proved sufficient, officials said. Lights now cannot be turned on before 8 p. m. and all must be out by 11 p. m. All 1,000 watt public lights have been reduced to 300 watts in streets and 500 watts in avenues, and only half of these have been lighted. Lighting of porches of homes has been prohibited. Each home can have only one 50 watt light between 8 and 11 p. m.

Ban Sale of Auto Tires.

The government today prohibited the sale of automobile tires to private owners without exceptions. Street cars and buses were ordered to stop only every two blocks. Gasoline for taxis was cut from 30 to 15 gallons a month.

Officials of the Cuba Bus company today bought four new tires for one of the 600 buses they operate in Havana, paying $1,250 for the set.

Last February The Tribune correspondent filed an application with the tire rationing commission for the purchase of four new tires for his car. They were listed at $25.50 each. In March he was ordered to present his car for inspection and had to give the inspector on demand a $5 "tip" to certify that his car needed new tires. The inspector assured him that the permit would be ready within two weeks. Tired of waiting, yesterday I bought the four new tires at a "black market," paying $750 for them.

All You Need Is Cash.

The "black market" is operated by a group of influential men. In this market you may buy anything you need—from a gallon to 50 gallons of gasoline a day—providing you pay $3 a gallon. You can buy old tires with enough rubber left to last from four to eight months at prices ranging from $80 to $125, or new ones from $150 up.

The "black market" always has in abundance the goods or foodstuffs you may need if you are willing to pay the price they demand.

This "rationing racket" is seriously aggravating the already acute shortage of all essential commodities, and has raised the cost of living 75 per cent since last December when Cuba declared war on Germany, Italy, and Japan.

NAVY COMMISSIONS AS FLIGHT INSTRUCTORS AWAIT PRIVATE PILOTS

The naval aviation cadet selection board announced yesterday that new requirements for commissions in the United States naval reserve would enable many civilians not qualified previously to become officers.

The new officers are needed to serve as flight instructors in the navy's program to teach cadets enlisted under the "fly for navy" recruiting drive thru which the navy hopes to gain 1,000 recruits each month in August and September.

The new requirements permit men between the ages of 21 and 35 years with more than 80 hours of certified solo time to apply for commissions. They will be sent to "refresher" courses, but men with a commercial license or a current private pilot's license and 300 hours of flight time will be commissioned without taking any courses.

Applications may be made at the board, room 302, Board of Trade building.

EVANSTON TO USE CHURCH BELLS AS AIR RAID ALARMS

Evanston civilian defense officials, desperate over their failure thus far to perfect a warning device for air raids, are planning to use church bells to warn civilians of enemy raiders, it was disclosed last night.

A test use of the bells in Evanston's 25 churches will be made Friday night, Aug. 7, at 7:30 o'clock, with 250 auxiliary Evanston policemen under Daniel A. Dreiske in charge of the experiment.

Evanston has no siren, OCD officials explained. They said that the suburb does not have enough police squad cars to use as mobile warning units thru the use of their sirens.

Winnetka also announced last night that it would have a test of its air raid alarm mechanism Monday night at 7:45 o'clock, with the police squad sirens being used for warning signals. Flares will be lit during the demonstration to simulate incendiary bombs.

FRANK SHEPHERD OF ELGIN RESIGNS AS CIRCUIT JUDGE

Judge Frank W. Shepherd of Elgin resigned yesterday from the bench of the 16th circuit, which includes Kane, Du Page, De Kalb, and Kendall counties. He is 66 years old and illness has prevented active service for several months.

F. W. Shepherd.

Judge Shepherd has been a county and a circuit judge since 1926 and in 1939 was reelected to a six year term. He will receive a pension of $4,200 a year.

Judge Shepherd's retirement created the second vacancy in this circuit, which ordinarily has three judges. The other was created by the election of Judge William J. Fulton to the Supreme court last June. Both places may be filled at the Nov. 3 elections if Gov. Dwight H. Green calls special elections. Nominations are by party conventions.

OPA TO RESCIND GASOLINE PRICE BOOST IN EAST

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—The 2½ cent a gallon increase in eastern seaboard gasoline prices will be rescinded by the Office of Price Administration "very shortly," officials said tonight.

It was understood that arrangements had been worked out with the Reconstruction Finance corporation to subsidize added cost of transporting petroleum to the east coast, enabling OPA to put retail gasoline prices back at levels prevailing prior to June 29.

Presumably, an increase of two cents a gallon on kerosene and light fuel oils will be rescinded simultaneously.

2 NATIONAL ANTHEMS TO BE SUNG IN CANADA —FOR WAR DURATION

OTTAWA, Ont., July 31 [Special].—No less than eight times in this parliamentary session the question has been raised of whether "God Save the King" or "Oh! Canada," should be regarded as the national anthem.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King has invariably replied that both that question and that of a national flag had much better stand over until after the war.

Speaking again today in reply to Thomas Church, Toronto member, he said both "God Save the King" and "Oh! Canada" had generally, by courtesy, come to be regarded as national anthems. He believed that the question should some day be settled, but that to do so in the middle of the present war was inopportune.

DRAFT BOARDS TOLD: CLASSIFY ALL, 20 TO 44

Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of selective service, announced yesterday that he has ordered all draft boards in the state to complete classification of all registrants between 20 and 44 years of age, inclusive, by Aug. 15.

This is necessary, he said, because man power is the No. 1 item of the armed forces and because "nearly 80 per cent of the draft boards in Illinois are already scraping the bottom of the barrel for 1-As."

Clarifying reports that men with family dependents may be called soon into the service, Armstrong said that men with wives and children or children alone would be last to be called. He said, however, that "it is anticipated that men with wives will be called by Jan. 1."

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

THE COURT SPEAKS.

The Supreme court has ruled that the military commission set up by Presidential order to try the alleged Nazi saboteurs was lawfully constituted. The nature of the charges, the court said, justified the President in ordering the defendants tried before a military commission created for the purpose. Accordingly, the court denied the motions for writs of habeas corpus. The court's full opinion, giving the reasoning which led it to its conclusion, will follow. It is awaited with the greatest interest.

There is probably no other country in the world in which the jurisdiction of a military court to handle such a case would have been given so much as a moment's question. The fact that our government was required to prove its right to try the suspects under military law has had the effect, and quite probably the intended effect, of pointing the contrast between totalitarian justice and American justice. That is all to the good.

There was one aspect of the hearing, however, which gives occasion for profound regret. The attorney general of the United States, Mr. Biddle, dared to request the court to overrule the decision of the Supreme court in ex parte Milligan, one of the most important precedents for the protection of constitutional liberties which the court has ever established. Whether the court followed Mr. Biddle's suggestion remains to be seen when the full opinion is published, but no such repudiation of the Milligan case was required to reach the verdict.

The Milligan case arose during the Civil war in Indiana. Milligan, a civilian, was tried in October, 1864, by a military commission and sentenced to be hanged. He sued out a writ of habeas corpus, alleging he had been denied the right of a jury trial, guaranteed by the Constitution. When the case reached the Supreme court it delivered the opinion in which these glowing words are found:

"The Constitution of the United States is a law for rulers and people, equally in war and in peace, and covers with the shield of its protection all classes of men at all times and under all circumstances. No doctrine involving more pernicious consequences was ever invented by the wit of man than that any of its provisions can be suspended during any of the great exigencies of government. Such a doctrine leads directly to anarchy or despotism, but the theory of necessity on which it is based is false; for the government within the Constitution has all the powers granted to it which are necessary to preserve its existence. . . ."

It is not necessary to overrule that doctrine to reach the conclusion that in time of war enemy agents, carried to this country in enemy warships, and equipped by the enemy with the tools of sabotage may be tried as military prisoners by the military authorities under the laws of war. But the Milligan case is needed as a bar against the abuse of executive and military power in peace as well as in war. It does not impede the prosecution of war. The attempt of the attorney general to blot out the Milligan decision suggests a purpose to use the war to blot out civil rights. It is not for that end that the American people are engaged in a struggle to the death against the totalitarian powers.

FOOD PRICES COMPARED.

Before the war more than half of the food consumed in Great Britain came from abroad, much of it from nearby continental Europe. The overrunning of Norway, Denmark, and Holland, and the defeat of France made it necessary to replace these sources close at hand with suppliers at a much greater distance. The longer routes covered and the war risks in shipping meant higher prices for food in England, even if it were available at prewar prices in the substitute markets. But food in America went up and now costs far more than in August, 1939. Even the Americans paying for their food with American money have to pay the increased prices, but the British pound itself is not worth as many dollars as at the outbreak of the war.

Thus three separate factors have boosted food prices in Britain—higher prices, increased transportation costs, and the depreciation of the pound. And yet food costs in Britain have gone up only 17 per cent from the outbreak of war to April of this year. In the same period food in the United States went up 28 per cent, with no increase in freight and no depreciation of our money.

Several conclusions can be drawn from these facts. Clearly price control here is ineffective as compared with what is being done by the British. This may not be so much the consequence of the lack of skill as of the fact that much of the food imported into Britain comes from the United States under lend-lease. American generosity in supplying victuals which will probably never be paid for accounts for the fact that the British worker has not suffered from the war as much as the American worker in the increased cost of what goes on his table.

"I AM THE LAW."

Mayor Frank Hague, the boy friend of the New Deal, has been using his Hudson county police to bar the county's new board of tax commissioners from their office. Himmler and the gestapo could hardly embroider the Hague technique.

The old board of tax commissioners was strictly a creature of the boss. The tax rates in Jersey City were the highest in the nation for a city of its size and the old board saw to it that assessments were in ratio to the friendship of Hague for the taxpayer. When the situation became a crying scandal, Gov. Charles Edison removed Hague's tax board on charges of dereliction of duty and commissioned his own appointees to take over.

Boss Hague's use of his hip pocket police force to stave off the invasion confirms what has been known of him all along, but which hypocritical or craven New Dealers have been unwilling to admit. He has no respect for the law and has said so in the immortal proclamation, "I am the law," and he has debased the courts and all public functions in his feudal domain until there is not one official any better than he.

The senate recently had an opportunity to pass judgment on this man when President Roosevelt nominated Thomas F. Meaney for a federal judgeship at Hague's behest. Meaney was a hack who had resigned his place on New Jersey's highest state court in 1939 to make a place for the boss' young son, Frank Hague Jr. When the nomination was submitted to the senate, only one Democrat, Sen. Gillette of Iowa, had the decency to vote against confirmation. Judge Meaney now leers at his enemies from a federal bench.

All this and much more have the New Dealers and their party leader, Mr. Roosevelt, been willing to swallow. They made no outcry when Hague burned the Hudson county poll books in order to forestall investigation. Why should they? The crooked balloting had helped perpetuate the Democrats in power.

The Hudson county dictatorship throws a bright light on the national Democratic leadership. Boss Hague is vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, second in command only to Ed [Paving Block] Flynn, the Bronx statesman. The New Deal has all kinds of idealism for export, but very little more than you can stuff in a thimble for home consumption. The methods of Hudson county have been accepted, condoned, encouraged, and, perhaps, envied, by those who fill bigger chairs than Hague's.

AFTER THE WAR.

The weekly London Statist has given over the leading article in a number of issues in the past three months to a consideration of what Britain will be like after the war. The magazine had been prompted to consider the subject because several leading figures in the church and in government had described the future as the golden age for the common man. Never again, they have said, will people be obliged to live in poor houses or to suffer from hunger or from cold. No more fluctuations in trade. No more unemployment.

When it comes to wishing, the Statist wanted to be ranked with the most generous. "Everybody who is not a pathological case would like to see a Britain in which there would be no stress and anxiety, in which every married couple would be healthily and happily housed, in which every child would be properly nurtured and tended and brought up, in which all had adequate leisure to develop their personalities and fulfill their deepest desires, in which holidays would be plentiful and free, in which the best brains of the nation would be pooled for the betterment of the race." In short, no dreamer can outwish the Statist. In addition to the other things it "desires to see the world united in brotherly love, and organized in such a way that all sordid, material motives disappear from the actuation of mankind."

"But," the Statist continues, "unfortunately between the generous dream and the business of bringing it to reality lies a wide gulf of practicability."

The editor of the Statist expects desperately hard times in the postwar period. He says, "When the war is over, when Britain can no longer count on free gifts from Canada running into hundreds of millions of dollars, and free supplies from the United States, the people of these islands will have to live as they have always hitherto lived, by trade. They must produce and sell goods in the markets of the world, which may not even be open markets. To do this they must offer goods and services that are competitive in price, or that are unique in quality. Unless the work of the British tempts the overseas customers to use British goods and British services in preference to those of other nations, Britain will not get the food and raw materials which she will need to sustain life, much less that happy surplus wealth which will give her the best of housing, of health services, of education, and well paid leisure. Leisure she will get, but it will be the leisure of men who stand in the world market place with no man to hire them. That is the one hard fact about the postwar world of which we can be sure."

In another place the Statist puts the situation thus: "When the victory is won we shall face a world in disruption. It will be a hard task to rebuild those things upon which our old prosperity depended. We may for a generation have to live hard, so hard that even starvation may move near us. But we can do all these things if we are prepared to buckle down to the immediate tasks, to make and sell the goods that other nations may need as cheaply as possible, to perform the services that other nations will want performed as cheaply as possible. After a destructive fight with burglars no man's house is improved; after spending lavishly in a dire emergency no man's toil is going to be eased until all incurred debts are paid. Let us realize this and let us set aside all idle dreams of earthly paradises until we know that somehow we can—even economically—survive."

This is a grim picture of the future which the factual and realistic publisher draws. It is not what a cabinet member would say in an address or an M. P. would tell his constituents. But that it is useful there cannot be any question. It would be helpful if the future of America were appraised with equal intelligence, courage, and frankness.

Editorial of the Day

PREMIER HEPBURN'S PREDICTION.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Japan's next major move will be an attack on Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian Islands, from which heavy bombers could range our Pacific coast and even far inland. That is the prediction of Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario. Various Alaskan officials and congressmen have been urging that our armed forces make stronger and more determined efforts to break the Japs' toehold on the three little islands at the end of the Aleutian chain. It has been pointed out that the Japs have a keen, double-edged sword in these bases on Kiska, Attu, and Agattu that can be used when they attack Siberia, as well as in harassing us and in paving the way for a direct attack on us.

Various dispatches have told over and over of the heavy losses the Japs are doggedly accepting in men, ships, and planes in order to keep their island toeholds. These Japs are tough and tenacious, but they don't make useless sacrifices. They are paying a high price for Kiska, Agattu, and Attu because they expect to capitalize a thousandfold on their investment.

Since they place such a high value on these islands, that should be sufficient reason for our armed forces to place an even higher value on them. It is to be hoped that our military efforts will be steadily increased until the last of these leeches is pushed, blown, or blasted off the Aleutians.

Now that the first flush of hospitality passes, a question arises what to do about visiting royalty. One thought is to fold the newspaper to the Help Wanted ads, and leave it about in some conspicuous place.—Detroit News.

MR. PEPYS SEEKS A REST.

1st Aug.—Have been thinking about taking a vacation, but cannot make up my mind where to go on account of warnings about tires and trains, and having seen almost everything. But anyway, in a day or two I will take my feet off my desk and withdraw into the silence for a fortnight, and when I return, if people ask me where I have been I will say, "I have been in Shangri-la." If they ask where Shangri-la can be found I will answer, "In the state of Dolce Far Niente."

A vacation with no bags to be packed and lugged around, no lodgings to be sought each night, no sights to be seen in the heat of the day, no hurries at starting, no regrets about returning, will be, I think, a great novelty. All these things may be escaped by a retreat to Shangri-la. Moreover, pilgrims to this shrine must take a pledge not to talk about it for the rest of the year.

Shangri-la is among the mountains called Peace of Mind and beside the lake named Take It Easy, which contains lotus blossoms but no fish. The trails are never uphill, and the sunlight does not burn the skin, and the natives have barred the passes against the neighboring tribes of Interventionists and Isolationists. The resort has a library which contains all the detective stories and historical romances ever written.

It is a difficult place to find, especially for people who are accustomed to going somewhere in hot haste. You cannot buy a ticket to Shangri-la or lay out a route toward it on a map. The only way to get there is to let yourself drift. A strong tide is running in that direction now, and I am tempted to plunge into it.

TO THE WEATHER MAN.

Turn off the heat! Turn off the heat!
I'll do no more complaining.
Bring back the snow, bring back the sleet,
Congeal my nose, chilblain my feet,
Or give out with the raining!

The snow and ice were paradise—
Forgive me for forgetting.
But stop this heat at any price,
'Most any kind of weather's nice—
Except the kind we're getting!

I may complain when there is rain,
Or scold when cars are skidding;
It's all in fun! I wouldn't deign
To interfere with your domain.
Don't you know when I'm kidding?

Come on, let's go! Don't be so slow!
Make quickly like a sprinter.
Give summertime the old heave-ho,
Refrigerate fortissimo—
At least until it's winter!

A Warning to Grandfathers of 1980.

The only thing that bothers me, with all the world's goings-on, is how I am going to explain them to people 50 or 60 years from now. Picture a scene in 1980 or so, when Grandpa Peterson gathers his grandchildren about him. The children, putting down their history books, gaze at him in awe.

"Grandpa," says little Ulric [whom I don't care for, as I don't like the name Ulric], "you were living back during the Second World war, weren't you?"

"Yes, Ulric!"

"And you were living in those terrible days when the Germans pushed into Rostov and the Caucasus?" asks Edythe [who is a lovely child but will not blow her nose].

"Yes, Edythe, I was!" I reply, nodding sagely and smiling thru my frosty beard.

"Well," says Roderic in rapt anticipation, "tell us what it was like!"

And Grandpa Peterson will stroke his beard in embarrassment and mutter; "Well you see, children, about that time I came across a lot of awfully good mystery stories, so I'm afraid I wasn't paying much attention . . ."

And the children will rise in anger and bash their history books over my head, and murmur, "Stupid old goat! He was probably dead drunk!"

Cholly.

THE CODE OF BUSHIDO.

When monkeys pray to a monkey god,
That's bushido;
When Nazis slay to the Fuehrer's nod,
It's bushido.

The stunted men of Nippon have stunted brains as well,
And twisted souls that fear enrolls in armies pledged to hell.
Their crooked hearts are savage with lust and senseless hate;
In hopped-up dreams they hatch their schemes, then bide their time and wait.

When children suffer the bayonet,
That's bushido;
Unfortunates of Gestapo's net
Know bushido.

When Kurusus the world around have told their fawning lies,
And hostile doubt is put to rout, and all suspicion dies;
When hands reach out in friendship, and every back is turned,
They knife and prey, bushido's way, the blood-drenched way they've learned.

Bushido's the cult of the double-cross,
The code of the jungle—fangs and claws.
Bushido grants no mercy to victims it may get;
No mercy's due bushido men, let us not forget.

BLEEDING PEPTIC ULCER CRAVES FOOD.

THE trouble with an oozing ulcer in the stomach or the duodenum is that we cannot get at it satisfactorily. Furthermore, no one can afford a constant loss of vital fluid. Anemia will almost certainly ensue and there may come a time when the body will contain too little iron for the manufacture of hemoglobin [red coloring matter].

More often than not a hemorrhage from such an area will occur suddenly. Generally a large blood vessel will give way. In consequence, the patient becomes nauseated and may vomit a generous amount of bloody material. If the contents of the gastric pouch passes into the bowel, the stools will become black and tarlike.

This is always an alarming episode but a fatal outcome is the exception, not the rule. The sufferer should be put to bed promptly, kept warm, and—if there are signs of shock [due to hemorrhage]—he may be surrounded with well protected hot water bottles. Morphine is a useful drug and is advised for the first 24 hours.

While the head should be kept low, comfort will be enhanced by means of a pillow. The important thing is to watch the pulse rate. When bleeding is persistent the heart beats become more rapid. If the rhythm slows down gradually, we have every reason to assume that clotting has taken place and that the flow has stopped. In the meantime, the victim's plasma should be typed and also that of one or two relatives so that if a transfusion becomes necessary it can be performed without delay.

It goes without saying that if hemorrhage is increasing with the patient weaker, emergency surgery may be demanded. Before leaving the operating room a transfusion or at least the administration of fluids will help to save life.

For the great majority of cases, the treatment employed is that suggested by Meulengracht of Copenhagen. This program calls for immediate feeding, whether bleeding is continuing or not. Prior to the time that this regimen was inaugurated, those who failed to recover succumbed to exhaustion. This is explained by the fact that the victim had probably been living on restricted menus akin to starvation.

While this plan appears revolutionary, it has proved a boon to thousands. No special diet is prescribed altho roughage is eliminated. Vegetables are sieved [strained] so that no large lumps or plant fibers are swallowed.

Because of the additional nutriment provided, healing ensues without delay, the blood is regenerated, and the patient is placed in an ideal position to repair breaks in his own tissues. Many individuals emerge from one of these seizures having learned how to eat. The lesson is powerful enough to teach them to masticate every mouthful and forever forswear a "gulp and run" habit which has perhaps been followed for years.

The average menu is arranged about as follows:

Breakfast: milk, strained porridge, scrambled eggs, white bread, and butter.
9:30 a. m.: 1 egg with 5 ounces of milk.
Lunch: boiled or steamed fish, strained vegetables, sponge cake, or custard pudding. Strained tomato or orange juice.
2:00 p. m.: 1 glass of milk.
4:00 p. m.: weak tea, bread, butter, and jelly.
5:30 p. m.: 1 glass of milk.
Dinner: same as lunch, altho meat replaces fish.
Bedtime: 1 egg—coddled or beaten up in a glass of milk.

HEAT EXHAUSTION AND DEAFNESS.

W. C. writes: A month ago I had an attack of heat exhaustion. Since then my hearing has been affected. I have had my ears cleaned and blown out but there is no improvement.

REPLY.

The congestion will probably disappear in time. No definite relationship of cause and effect.

FLEETING REMEDY.

A. W. H. writes: Will the effect of adrenalin injected into the heart muscle wear off within six or seven years?

REPLY.

The staying properties of this drug are weak. The effect disappears wholly within a few hours.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

ALEUTIAN CAMPAIGN.

Chicago, July 29.—Everybody [except our master strategists] agrees that we should take quick action to knock the Japs completely out of the Aleutians, as it would have a fourfold advantage. First, it would help the Russians, who have asked for and been promised help, at their back door. Second, it would help the Chinese, who deserve all the help we can give. Third, it would protect our west coast by a real offensive. Fourth, it would encourage our American and Philippine soldiers who never should have been taken prisoners of war.

W. W. STRONG.

PERIL OF BIG GOVERNMENT.

McComb, O., July 27.—Let me tell you that I was pleased to see your editorial, "Propaganda Trial."

Too few of our editorial pages grasp the peril threatening our country's Bill of Rights. Not the least of the dangers that may beset a people is that of big government, as the pages of history attest. And when there is encroachment upon the freedom of speech and the press, it is time for a people to beware. Let me commend you, therefore, for the editorial of the 25th, and for the scrupulous examination you are giving these current government trends.

In the Christian Century of July 22 this pertinent statement is to be found in an editorial: "In war the armed forces are simply carrying out an assignment given them by the civil authorities as a consequence of a decision reached by the democratic process." That statement goes to the root of the matter. After all, the people are sovereign; the government is merely the people's servant. But destroy the freedom of speech and press, and the situation is then and there reversed.

P. C. GROSE.

DEFENDS LIFEGUARDS.

Chicago, July 29.—In regard to the recent letter concerning procedure and management at North avenue beach, I have this to say in reply:

The writer seemed mainly concerned with the way we congregated all of the swimmers on one section of the beach and prohibited swimming on all the others. It is very seldom that we operate our beach in that manner, but when we do there is a definite purpose in mind. Only when the water is rough do we restrict all of the swimmers to one beach. For the last four years, since the opening of the beach, we have not had one drowning or casualty while the lifeguards were on duty.

MINK COATS VS. WAR BONDS.

Chicago, July 28.—Recently my mother accompanied me to a club affair and was shocked at the trend of conversation. Three women were greatly disturbed about their purchase of new mink coats. My mother, who is knitting her 10th sweater for our boys, spoke up and said, "Why don't you women wear your old fur coats and buy defense bonds with that money?" One replied, "I have purchased $100 worth of defense bonds; that's enough." This came from one who had purchased an $1,800 coat.

MRS. R. T. M.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN GENERALS.

Chicago, July 28.—The London Daily Mirror, commenting on reports that Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States army, might be named allied generalissimo in charge of the western front, said that an American general should not be placed in command of an allied army because "the ability of American leaders, however great, has not yet been tested beyond the examination room."

Well, let's look at the record. The English generals have been tested beyond the examination room, and the result is what? Dunkirk! Singapore! Hongkong! Burma! Libya! Not one of the English generals has led a successful campaign against the Nazi forces.

If any one should be placed in command of allied troops, I suggest Gen. Douglas MacArthur, now buried somewhere in Australia, a fighting general who has the respect of fighting soldiers, and who if placed in command of an allied army will start things humming. Of that there can be no question. Certainly placing an allied army under the command of the mediocre British generals who have had command of men so far would be inviting disaster.

G. J. VUCETICH.

LOOSE TALK ON TRAINS.

Park Ridge, Ill., July 28.—In traveling I have noticed that some service men become loose tongued in observation cars, perhaps as a result of liquor served there, or perhaps because in the passing hours they find eager ears for their stories. Strangely, one or more civilians with attractive personalities and a German accent are almost always present. In one instance I heard an army pilot telling a group, including a person whom most of the passengers in the car had taken for a Nazi, all the details of a new type aeroplane which he was testing, and which failed at 45,000 feet. He accounted for his presence thru the mishap, having broken his jaw in bailing out.

The quickest cure for these leaks, I believe, would be the commonly used posters on trains, especially observation cars. They would surely fulfill their purpose.

D. A. R. NEXT?

Elmhurst, Ill., July 25.—Today's editorial, "Propaganda Trial," is a gem. Any day now, I expect Washington to accuse the D. A. R. of sedition.

Last week I chanced on the following, which seems appropriate: "One hundred years are required to build a mighty oak, but for a squash six months are enough." We are fortunate, indeed, to have THE TRIBUNE.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Twelve years ago my mother had her will made showing that the money received from the sale of the home should be divided equally among 11 children. My mother died six months ago and my sister [one of the two administrators] has the will in her safety box.

1. Should the will be taken to probate?

2. My sister claims that the will stipulates no sale can be made of the home unless seven children agree to the selling price and until their signatures are affixed to the document, and that [3] therefore, nothing further need be done until we are ready to dispose of the home. She says this was explained to her by the lawyer at time the will was drawn up and that [4] a copy was sent to the right place and was recorded.

5. How can I go about finding out if the will was recorded?

6. Would there be difficulty in procuring a clear title when we are ready to sell if the matter should remain as it now stands?

7. Please explain why wills are taken to probate. Also my name has been changed since the will was made.

8. To whom do I go to have it changed?

9. Can you tell me approximately how much it costs to probate a will if it has to be done?

M. J.

1. It should be filed in the office of the clerk of the Probate court. The question whether probate will be necessary would depend on additional facts.

2. We cannot construe such unusual wording to advantage without having it more exactly before us. Was there a time limit? Ordinarily if the real estate were merely given to the children in undivided shares the consent of all would be necessary for a conveyance in absence of court proceedings, but by partition proceedings any one could force a sale.

3. This conclusion does not necessarily follow.

4. This is not ordinarily done. We suspect that you are misinformed as to some of the facts.

5. Ask the person who claims that it was recorded to indicate the place.

6. Delay would be encountered.

7. Principally in order to establish the facts as to heirship and to bar the claims of possible creditors. Where these two points have not been covered a purchaser would feel that he was running a risk.

9. Depends largely on the attorney whom you would employ. Take the matter up with him.

WILLARD REPLIES TO BARRETT ON U. OF I. CHARGES

Cites School Records in Letter to Alumni.

Urbana, Ill., July 31 [Special].—President Arthur Cutts Willard of the University of Illinois today reported to the institution's 160,000 alumni, in his "semioccasional" letter, his answers to the recent charges made against him and the university by Attorney General George F. Barrett.

Dr. Willard recited Barrett's dismissal of Prof. Sevinbjorn Johnson as university counsel, which the board of trustees has refused to recognize, and Barrett's charges that "the university has been on the downgrade since 1934," that "political termites" have crept into the university administration," and that "a group of hand picked political puppets have virtually built a political empire in Champaign and Urbana."

Barrett Declines to Appear.

President Willard said that as a result the widespread publicity given to Barrett's statements the university board of trustees authorized him to request the general advisory committee to investigate the charges and to report on their truth or falsity.

President Willard said the committee met and voted unanimously to investigate the charges and that Barrett was invited to appear before the group and present his evidence but he declined.

Following this refusal, the university president said he sent to Benjamin F. Affleck of Chicago, chairman of the executive committee, who had been directed to invite Barrett, a letter, which read in part:

"The purpose of the requested meeting with the attorney general was to give him the opportunity to present to the committee the evidence or proof of his charges. He has refused to meet with the committee because, according to his letter to you of July 15, 'I can not and will not condone an obvious attempt to whitewash such intolerable practices.'

Inquiry Termed Imperative.

"The committee is accused of prejudice and partiality to the president of the university and as set up to 'whitewash' his actions, and therefore not competent. It, therefore, seems to me imperative, and now doubly important that this group proceed to ascertain and report the facts as to the standing and administration of the University of Illinois between 1934 and 1942."

President Willard suggested that inasmuch as the reputation and standing of the university had been attacked and that neither faculty nor alumni could make an investigation without being "obviously vulnerable to a charge of prejudice and bias" that "the nonalumni members of your general advisory committee can ignore such charges and make such investigation and report the facts. In my opinion no citizen of Illinois who knows the members of this committee will question the validity of such a report."

Replies to Other Charges.

President Willard answered the attorney general's charges that he had worked for "the Chicago city hall machine" in 1930 as a subway consultant and for the "Democratic Tammany political machine" in 1921 in the construction of the Holland tunnel in New York City.

He quoted from university records to show that approval of the trustees and the dean of engineering had been given in both cases and that, on the Holland tunnel job, his services had been requested by the federal bureau of mines.

PRESENT DRAMAS BASED ON SONGS ON W-G-N TONIGHT

A song drama, based on a listener's story about the melody "Lover Come Back to Me" will be heard on America Loves a Melody over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight.

Each week two listeners are awarded $25 each for letters telling what certain songs mean to them. Then their stories are told in drama and song on the W-G-N program. The other song-drama for tonight is "Just an Echo in the Valley."

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak during the broadcast.

Marion Claire and Thomas L. Thomas, Metropolitan opera baritone, will be the vocal stars. The orchestra and chorus will be directed by Henry Weber. Miss Claire, besides singing "Lover Come Back to Me" during the dramatization, will be heard also in the aria from the first act of "Manon," and "Love Has Found My Heart," by Kalman. She also will be featured in a Victor Herbert medley, singing "Badinage." She and Thomas will join in singing Bizet's "Agnus Dei."

Thomas will sing as solos "Since I First Met Thee" by Rubinstein and "La Danza" by Rossini. Kenneth MacGregor will produce the program.

QUINTS ARE BORN IN IRELAND, BUT TWO SOON DIE

LONDON, July 31 (AP).—Quintuplets—three girls and two boys—were born today to Mrs. Thomas Leydon, wife of a struggling potato grower of Breaghwy, near Sligo, Ireland. Two of the girls died soon. The first child was born at 9:30 a. m. and the fifth was delivered at 11:30 a. m. The Leydons, who lived in the United States for several years, have three other children, the youngest 2 years old.

The three surviving quints were reported in need of immediate hospital attention. They weighed 2½ and 3 pounds each.

Answering a plea for assistance, the Irish Red Cross sent an ambulance, doctors, and nurses to the farmhouse to bring the babies to the National Maternity hospital in Dublin.

WOMAN FINED, OUSTED IN ROAD FUNDS INQUIRY

Mrs. Mabel J. Ayers, 60 years old, 3035 Lake avenue, Wilmette, was fined $100 and removed from office as New Trier township road commissioner yesterday after she pleaded guilty before Judge Julius H. Miner to a charge of diverting public funds under the malfeasance statute.

Mrs. Mabel J. Ayers.

The penalty was recommended by Joseph Bruke, assistant state's attorney, after Defense Attorney Joseph Nagle blamed Mrs. Ayers' "technical violation of the law" on her inexperience. Mrs. Ayers, a nurse, was elected road commissioner to succeed her husband, L. C. Ayers, after his death in 1938.

Rental fees of $2,500 for use of a truck registered in the name of her nephew, B. F. McNaughton of Wilmette, provided the basis for the charge against her. It was alleged that McNaughton collected the rental weekly and turned the money over to Mrs. Ayers. Mrs. Ayers also had reported expenditure of $28,000 on road upkeep, altho at the time she was elected the county took over maintenance of roads in her former jurisdiction and spent $10,000 on maintenance.

LISTEN IN TO W-G-N AND YOU'LL HEAR: FLY FOR THE NAVY

W-G-N will give special accent to the forthcoming Fly for Navy month's drive thru a new station identification announcement to be introduced for the first time tomorrow. Several times each day the station will use this indentification: "This is W-G-N—Fly for Navy." This will take the place of the regular "This is W-G-N, the Voice of the People."

The campaign for navy flyers is sponsored by the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection board of this area which includes Illinois, northern Indiana, Wisconsin, and the upper peninsula of Michigan, in cooperation with naval aviators of the first World war.

W-G-N has just received a formal expression of gratitude for its aid in the navy's recruiting drive of June which brought 10,000 new men into the service. Lieut. David N. Goldenson, officer in charge of navy recruiting in this area, cited the station in this fashion: "W-G-N has worked diligently, unselfishly and devotedly in the interests of recruiting during Chicago's navy month—June 1942."

A previous expression of gratitude came from Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district and commanding officer of the Great Lakes Naval Training station. Adm. Downes commended the station for the "intelligent and resourceful help given by the entire staff."

FALLS DEAD IN RESTAURANT.

A man identified yesterday thru cards as William Dempsey, 72 years old, 1449 East Marquette road, died Thursday night in a restaurant at 6702 Stony Island avenue, apparently of a heart attack.

PETRILLO DENIES PLEA TO RESCIND BAN ON RECORDS

Says Government Blocks Maker's Surrender.

Report Suit to Be Filed

Washington, D. C., July 31 [Special].—The department of justice will file suit in Chicago tomorrow or Monday seeking to enjoin James C. Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians from enforcing its ban on manufacture of recordings for radio and other nonprivate use, reliable sources reported tonight. It is understood that the government will ask the injunction from the Chicago United States District court under the Sherman anti-trust act.

DOWAGER GRAND DUCHESS OF TINY LUXEMBURG, DIES

New York, July 31 (AP).—The dowager grand duchess, Marie Anne of Luxemburg, 81 years old, died tonight at Doctors hospital, where she had been for five weeks following an abdominal operation.

She was the mother of the Grand Duchess Charlotte, ruler of the tiny duchy of Luxemburg, and fled the country on May 10, 1940, when the German armies invaded the duchy at the time Hitler launched his blitzkrieg against Holland, Belgium, and France.

The dowager duchess arrived with her daughter in New York by way of Lisbon, Portugal, on a trans-Atlantic clipper in October, 1940.

Two of her daughters were present at the time of her death, which came unexpectedly, since she had been reported recovering.

Springfield, Ill., July 31 [Special].—A body identified as that of Carl J. Riefler, missing official of the Illinois Bankers Life Assurance company of Monmouth, late today was found in Lake Springfield, south of here.

He had been manager of the policyholders bureau of the company since 1935. Altho he maintained a home for his wife here he had lived much of the time in Monmouth.

The body was discovered after an hour and a half of grappling in the lake following the finding of his car parked a hundred yards from a public beach. It was said the car was not there last midnight.

A. Peter Dewey Takes Bride in Capital Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

HAVING received an unexpected three day leave, Lieut. A. Peter Dewey, younger son of Congressman and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey of Chicago and Washington, D. C., and Miss Nancy Weller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weller of Washington, decided to be married today. The ceremony will take place at 5:30 o'clock in the Bethlehem chapel of the Washington cathedral, with a small reception following in the Weller home.

Altho the wedding was arranged on short notice, the bride has a charming dress and veil to wear, both of which were worn by her grandmother. Her only attendant will be a little cousin who will act as flower girl, but Lieut. Dewey will have 17 ushers, among them his brother, Charles S. Dewey Jr., and their uncle, Albert B. Dewey. The others, including one Chicagoan, Walter J. Cummings Jr., are members of the diplomatic or army and navy circles in Washington.

Wedding Cake Will Be Cut With Adm. Dewey Sword.

The bridegroom's famed kinsman, Adm. George Dewey, is buried in the Bethlehem chapel, and the sword he carried on the battleship Olympia in the battle of Manila bay will be used to cut the wedding cake.

Congressman Dewey will be his son's best man. The Deweys' elder daughter, Mrs. Frederick Alger Jr., and Mrs. Dewey Jr., will be present for the ceremony, but the bridegroom's other sister, Mrs. Edward B. Smith, has not gone east as she has a baby only two weeks old. Lieut. Comm. Alger is on duty in the Pacific. Lieut. Jean Frances Matthiessen to Be Married Tomorrow.

Fashionable Sunday weddings are a rare occurrence, but a variety of circumstances contrived to make it necessary for Miss Jean Frances Matthiessen and Ensign Paul E. Johnson to be married tomorrow instead of today. One reason is that his sister, Miss Helen Johnson, is being married today in Rockford to Floyd Johnson. Miss Matthiessen and her fiancé are going to Rockford for the wedding, and then will return to Winnetka for a late hour bridal dinner to be given by her uncle and aunt, the Theodore D. Matthiessens. Mrs. Henry Tenney gave an all-feminine beach picnic last night for Miss Matthiessen and her bridesmaids and some other young friends.

Lieut. Comm. Richard P. Matthiessen, the bride's father, arrived from Washington, D. C., last night, and Mrs. Matthiessen's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Shipway, and Miss Ann Shipway are here from Noroton, Conn. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Henry Shipway, was unable to come from Darien, Conn., but sent an heirloom seed pearl brooch which the bride will wear along with her mother's wedding headdress.

The wedding will take place at 4 o'clock in Christ church, Winnetka, with the bridegroom's father, the Rev. P. Arthur Johnson, and the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard officiating. A reception will follow in the Matthiessen home.

Williamson, also of Hinsdale. The wedding will take place in New York at the end of this month. Ensign Williamson, who was graduated from Dartmouth, is stationed in the east. Miss Moore attended the University of Colorado.

There seems to be no mid-summer slump in activities this year, for the first August week-end has a crowded calendar. Altho today is the last time this year that racing fans will be gathering at the Arlington Park track north and west of the city, the racing season is by no means over, for the Washington Park track will open on Monday.

Tomorrow brings a garden reception for John Cudahy, former ambassador to Poland and Belgium, at the Libertyville farm of Mrs. Higinbotham Patterson. The tea, which is being given by the Chicago chapter of the American Friends of Poland, is to be an informal, country party. Mr. and Mrs. Cudahy will be welcomed by Robert Hall McCormick in the absence of the president of the chapter, Col. George T. Langhorne. Mr. Cudahy is to speak over Northwestern University's radio program tomorrow morning.

The name of Miss Mary Lou Heilman is included in the invitations to an open house her mother, Mrs. Barnett Faroll, and Mr. Faroll sent out for tomorrow evening from 6 to 9 o'clock at their home in Winnetka. The party will be a housewarming.

Lieut. Prentice Gets Leave to See His New Daughter.

Lieut. Rockefeller Prentice has a five day leave from his army post to see his daughter. The first child of Lieut. Prentice and the former Abbie Cantrill was born on Thursday in the Presbyterian hospital.

Scott Linn of St. Charles, for whom Mr. Linn's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn of Lake Bluff, are entertaining at a small tea this afternoon. Miss Linn, daughter of Mrs. E. French Linn of New York is a sophomore at Vassar and will celebrate her 18th birthday tomorrow. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

Army nurses at Scott field, Belleville, Ill., wage a daily battle to keep two of the war's chief enemies—disease and injury—from invading the air arm's technical training school. Their task is not an easy one, but the nurses have a wonderful time.

"Life is just what we make it," commented Miss Maude Johnson, mess officer, who, like the other young women, holds a second lieutenant's rating.

Working hours are like those in any city or suburban hospital, but leisure time at an army post differs.

Three spacious buildings serve as the nurses' quarters at Scott field. With few exceptions, each young woman has her own small room, comfortably and femininely furnished. Each building has one large living room, in which the nurses may entertain. The most popular furnishings of the room are the radio-phonograph and the telephone, which rings constantly.

The Officers' club at the field is the favorite gathering place of nurses off duty, for there they may mingle with men and dance to the latest swing music or sip a drink while playing bridge. Semi-weekly dances are planned at the club for officers and their wives or women friends, frequently army nurses. On these occasions the nurses usually abandon their trim two-tone street uniforms for frothy evening dresses.

Many of the nurses have bicycles to facilitate covering the distances between the buildings. Convenient to the nurses' quarters are croquet courts, tennis courts, and dart games, while golf courses and riding stables are only a short distance from the camp. Army nurses enjoy outdoor recreation, a carryover, they say, from nursing school days.

Almost every nurse at the post boasts of at least one relative in the armed forces. Many became army nurses because a brother or a sweetheart had been sent overseas.

Many of the nurses have applied for overseas service and are awaiting orders.

Altho membership in the army nurses' corps is not as glamorous as it is painted in the movies and novels, the nurses say, there are thrilling moments and, above all, the knowledge that they are playing a part in winning the war.

Apropos of the foregoing picture of the life of the nurse in service is an announcement of nurses' enlistment requirements. The statement begins: "Scores of untrained but patriotic young women, eager to volunteer for war work, are attempting each day to enlist in the army nurses' corps in the mistaken belief that the corps will accept them and train them for duty. Sixth corps area army headquarters in Chicago reports that it is kept busy answering the inquiries from such applicants telling them that they are not eligible for service unless they are trained nurses."

Once more, we repeat the qualifications listed for the army nurses' corps. A woman must be between the ages of 21 and 40, a graduate from an approved school of nursing, registered as provided by the laws of her state, a member in good standing with the American Nurses' association, and an American citizen. In addition, she must be single, widowed, or divorced, and able to pass a physical examination.

The nurses accepted for the corps receive $840 a year and full maintenance when they enter the service. When quarters are not provided, the nurses receive an additional $40 a month rental allowance.

Nurses receive commissions as second lieutenants upon entering the corps. They may win promotions to first lieutenants, to captains, and in some instances to even higher rank. They do the same work as do nurses in private hospitals.

Further information concerning the regulations for army nurses includes the fact that, after one year of service in the corps reserve, nurses are eligible to apply for transfer to the regular army corps if vacancies exist. Graduate nurses who are interested in joining should get in touch with their local Red Cross headquarters. Red Cross units are equipped to forward applications to Washington, D. C., and to make all arrangements for a nurse to enter the corps.

Requests Pour in for Fashion Show Tickets

Advance requests from out of town merchants and fashion buyers for tickets to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S American Fashions contest style preview Friday afternoon have been flooding the office of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Lawrence H. Whiting, vice president of the association and chairman of its domestic commerce committee, reported yesterday.

The preview, at which manufacturers and buyers who will be in the city for annual Fall Market week will be guests of THE TRIBUNE, has been advertised by the association as a feature of the week's activities. Notices have been sent out by the association to 5,800 members of the Inter-State Merchants council. In addition, affiliate groups, among them the Style Exhibitors, Inc., have publicized the preview in announcements of their own schedules for the week and referred their members to the association for tickets.

"We have received 400 advance requests from merchants and buyers from 18 states for tickets to the preview already," Mr. Whiting stated. "The bulk of the requests, however, will not come in until Monday and from all indications the demands for tickets will exceed 1,000. Merchants from as far south as Mississippi, Tennessee, and Georgia, and as far west as Montana and Wyoming have written for their tickets.

The preview will be a forerunner to the climax of the contest Friday evening in W-G-N's spacious studio theater. Announcement of the three grand prize winners, among the designers of the 30 winning costumes to be modeled, will be made at the main style show in the evening and will be announced on W-G-N's broadcast of the show from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

The style leaders at the preview and the public, who will be present for the main performance, will vote on the winners of the $3,000, $2,000, and $1,000 awards. The prizes will be in addition to $50 awards given to designers of each of the 30 successful costumes.

To accommodate the public, a third show, featuring the grand prize winning dresses, will be held Saturday afternoon. Both the main evening show and the following afternoon performance will be benefits for the United Service Organizations, to which the net proceeds will be given. Tickets to the evening show will be $2.50, and $1 for the afternoon performance.

All tickets will be sold by mail and reservations must be accompanied by the purchase price. They should be addressed to The Chicago Tribune Fashion Show Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Pons Delights Her Audience in Soldiers' Field

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Lily Pons is a good trouper. She was undiscouraged by the fact that the audience of 14,315 at her concert last night looked a little bleak and lonely in the vast reaches of Soldiers' field and that acres of empty seats yawned at her sadly. She gave as unstintingly of herself as she would have if the arena had been packed.

She did a nice little act for war bonds and stamps, too. Bob Healy, a yeoman of the United States navy and a survivor of the cruiser "Marblehead," came to the stage as a representative of both the navy and the treasury department, and Miss Pons bought a bond from him—"for Kosty," she said. "Kosty" is her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, who was conducting the orchestra. Kosty paid for the bond—and right on the spot. The sailor got a kiss from the singer as well as a sale.

To come back to the music, and to the quality of Miss Pons' art, the two connected arias from the first act of Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor" were done with a delightful grace and flexibility. The line of the music changed gently with every phrase, and those peculiarly Italian melodies, which later composers literally forgot how to write, took on a ravishing loveliness of contour. Mr. Kostelanetz furnished a superb accompaniment, following the singer's every idea with true husbandly devotion.

The soprano's next offering was an unnecessary set of variations on a Mozart tune in the performance of which she had the expert assistance of the flutist, Frank Versaci. She did the "Song of India" and, of course, the "Bell Song" from "Lakmé." At the end of the concert she added "Estrellita," "Dancing Doll," and "The Blue Danube."

Mr. Kostelanetz and the orchestra gave first Chicago performances of Virgil Thomson's "Mayor La Guardia Waltzes" and Aaron Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait." Mr. Thomson sketched from life, spending some time in the mayor's office and apparently discovering things about the little executive that the world at large does not know.

Certainly we never think of daintiness as being a La Guardia characteristic, but if only a single adjective were permitted in describing the waltzes, "dainty" would be it. There are, it is true, surprises in the shape of sudden percussion effects and one bustling, scolding sequence for brass, but the general effect is one of delicacy. There is an incongruous and unmistakable suggestion of an Irish jig in one place.

"A Lincoln Portrait," in the performance of which Richard Hale served as narrator, is an interpretation of the Civil war President based on his speeches and letters—most of them relatively unfamiliar ones. The music is done with imagination, taste, and restraint. The part fitted to the quotation from the Gettysburg address is not at all the blatant, facile music which a less scrupulous composer might have permitted himself.

This concert was sponsored by the Chicago Opera company, which is to present a second event—a performance of the opera "Carmen" with an impressive cast—in Soldiers' field a week from tonight.

Preview of Fall Fashions

Barbara Kaumanns (left) modeling three piece suit at fall fashion preview of Style Creators of Chicago at Hotel Knickerbocker yesterday. Quilted Coats Are New Fall Fashion Note

BY REA SEEGER.

Quilted and padded jackets, three-quarter length swaggers, coat linings, hats, bags, and even vestees are scheduled for early fall and winter fashion excitement. Not in the least daunted by the lack of or limit on materials, designers have gone back to grandmother's idea of achieving warmth without wool, and doing it decoratively. Quilting and padding is the answer. Layers of cotton padding are used with silk and cotton, held firmly in place because of the quilted patterns . . . some simple, others complicated, all most decorative.

Hats especially attain definite distinction with this quilted pattern motif. The off-the-face-models, the wide brimmed affairs and the high crowns are made entirely of soft crêpy or smooth textured materials effectively firm because of the floral leaf and geometric design of the quilting. Extra jackets for daytime, dress parade, and evening will be quilted and padded for extra warmth with the outside material thin silk, soft satin, thin crêpe, or sturdy ribbed cottons. Sleeveless jackets for office wear featuring brilliant color contrast, like Kelly green, scarlet, vivid canary yellow, blues, and cerise assure warmth as well as relief for dark office clothes.

Very high colored dinner dress jackets will combine gleaming satin with contrasting colored linings, quilted and padded for warmth and patterned beauty. Extra warm coat linings will be quilted and padded in dark blending colors with sports, tweeds, and heavy wools for outdoor activities.

Gay Colors Acclaimed

A Russian influence on feminine styles for fall was apparent at a preview yesterday at the Hotel Knickerbocker of the Style Creators of Chicago fashion showing, to be presented next Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the hotel. Evident also were gay colors, which clothing makers acclaim as "morale builders."

Merchants, buyers, and manufacturers from every part of the nation will be in Chicago next week for Fall Market week, opening Monday.

There were many good letters, and I had quite a time selecting 100 of the best.

However, even those of you who will be disappointed about missing our movie party will soon perk up when you see the news of our next party, which also will be in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE and which I know you'll love.

"Too Many Loves"

INSTALMENT XXXVI.
MURDEREE TRAPPED.

Morelos looked slowly from one to the other—only Elaine, walking slowly from the chair in which she had been seated to the one beside the desk, was unshaken. He looked at his watch. She mimicked him—and looked at hers.

"I said we would stay here as long as we have to. We will. Elaine Lynn, you gave love and money to Lord Festone until the day you went to his home and read the letter in which he called you a common London showgirl. That, his love for Señora Lathrop, and your belief that he had a child by her, turned your love to hate. Is that true?"

She flicked her handkerchief at him.

"You can't prove that, Morelos. You can't prove what is in a person's mind."

Morelos was unmoved.

"We all know from Sir James what he did the night of Festone's death. He meant to kill his rival—not secretly—but openly. You, Elaine Lynn, from the moment you read that letter, laid your plans in secret for revenge against Lord Festone and against Señora Lathrop.

"You planned to make your husband kill Lord Festone. For one week you wrote him letters on your house guest's typewriter—p r o d d i n g him with knowledge of your love affair."

"You're talking wildly, Morelos," Elaine chided.

"Not exactly—but we can prove ——" he fiddled thru his papers—"thru a deposition of Maria Gonzales that you and she saw your husband at the fireplace burning letters, that you were agitated, that you called him to ask what he was doing, and that you and she, thru the open door, saw Miss Johnson at the fireplace shortly after.

"You followed her to her room—looked thru the window—saw her reading the letter fragments. She saw your face at her window, but couldn't distinguish it."

"More pipe dreams, señor," Elaine laughed harshly.

"Collado!"

The policeman rose.

"Whom did you see in Señorita Johnson's room? Who took a paper to Sir James' room?"

"Lady Lynn," he answered promptly.

"Of course, your minions would lie for you," Elaine taunted.

"Lord Festone brought you home earlier than you say he did. You saw the guns placed on the mantel by your intoxicated husband. Since you were unable to provoke him to action, you decided to take action yourself. You rushed to your car, followed Lord Festone—forced him off the road near Puente de Ixtla—and shot him."

"A likely story!" Elaine answered.

"Perez!"

The short, stout man rose and without question said,

"The tracks of the other car at the scene of the accident were the tracks of Lady Lynn's car."

"Anybody could have driven it!"

"You drove home, Lady Lynn," said Morelos gravely, "and put the gun back on the mantel, convinced that when the body was found, your husband would be blamed for the murder. Is that right, Lady Lynn?"

A flush mounted in Elaine's face as she caught her husband's worried eyes.

"You're telling the story, Señor Morelos. Find any finger prints?"

"No—you were very careful about that—and many other things. You even had a farewell note buried with Lord Festone to prove how much you loved him. About some other things you were not so careful. When we came to the house late that first afternoon to question you, you were slow in answering your husband's call? When we first arrived we saw you leaving the living room, entering your room. We did not see you take the guns. But I have here a deposition from Dr. Alvarez. He went into your little private bathroom that night and he saw a towel in a bathroom wastebasket. The guns were wrapped in the towel. He did not touch them. He told us."

"Nice guess work."

"You changed your mind about placing the entire blame upon your husband. You decided you'd distribute it a bit. When you went into the living room to get the guns you found Mrs. Lathrop's handkerchief in the chair where she told us she had left it.

"You wrapped the cigaret case in her handkerchief. You left the house that night—drove to Puente de Ixtla—planted the gun and cigaret case in Lord Festone's living room, then drove back to Señora Lathrop's and begged her to let you in. You planted both guns on the shelf in her closet. You planted both guns, Lady Lynn, because you couldn't be certain with which one you killed Festone—and you wanted that one to be there."

"Next you're going to say I killed her," Elaine exclaimed.

"I am.

"Elaine Lynn, directly after you left Señorita Johnson's hotel room, you went home to pack. You met Señora Lathrop's serving woman on the street and you learned from her that Señora Lathrop would be alone for the day. With Tita's aid you packed Señorita Johnson's bags early. You were afraid you would be too nervous to pack them later.

"You went to Señora Lathrop's home. She welcomed you. You went to her closet on some pretext, took out one of the guns and killed her. You insisted Señorita Johnson take a plane for New York. Did you want that to look like flight?"

"You're a fool, Morelos!" Elaine protested.

"No, I am not a fool. Even after Señora Lathrop gave me Lord Festone's last letter, I have had a policeman stationed close by. He heard the shot. He saw a woman leaving the house just before he reached it. He is willing to identify that woman as you."

"It's his word against mine. I suppose I sat down and dashed off a suicide note."

"You wrote one—you did not dash it off. It is an excellent forgery, but, Lady Lynn, you carried it in your purse for several days. One could tell that by the creases. In your purse there is a compact that dribbles powder.

"On the day I rode with you from the Mexico City airport to your home, I took the liberty of—shall we say—borrowing the compact. My report from a Mexico City chemical analyst is that the bits of powder on that suicide note, purportedly written by Sharon Lathrop, and the powder in your compact, is one and the same."

"Well . . . well . . ." Elaine began, but Morelos interrupted:

"And in that suicide note you made one natural mistake—one which will send you to prison for years.

"Now your husband knew that Maria, not Señora Lathrop, had a child. So did Señor Rankin. So did Señorita Johnson. But you—who had read that last proposal of Lord Festone—did not know that until today. And so, Lady Lynn, in writing a suicide note for Sharon Lathrop you wrote——" he drew out the purported suicide note—"'bury me beside Lord Festone, the father of my son.'"

During his last argument Elaine's angelic schoolgirl expression vanished. Her mouth was cruel—her eyes narrow slits—the voice of a guttersnipe of the London streets.

"Yah, yuh big bounder! Yuh think I care? After six months of living with him——" she pointed to Sir James, whose great St. Bernard jowls were working furiously—"there isn't a prison in Mexico can be any worse. I killed him—and her, too, with her smiling ways and primping airs, and both of them laughing at me for being a common showgirl! I killed them and if it's the last thing I ever did I'm glad—glad—glad! You hear that? Glad!"

Her voice rose to a shriek. Morelos motioned two policemen to take her away, but her screams echoed and re-echoed in the room.

"Me! Lady Lynn! A common London showgirl! Me!"

[Concluded Monday.]

Thru the Looking Glass

A good atomizer can be a joy and a perfume saver practically forever IF you take care of it. And if you're a wise perfume user who sprays the precious stuff artfully with one of those wonderful gadgets, you had better take good care of it because from now until the war is won no more perfume atomizers will be manufactured. It's to be a going-going-gone proposition with those now on hand.

One way to preserve the life of your atomizer is to use it. If it just stands around, untouched by human hand, perhaps lying in the sun or in a spot where occasionally it gets a swipe of face cream or oil its rubber bulb won't last nearly as long as it otherwie would. Use your atomizer; keeping it in service will help lengthen its life and will certainly insure a more successful and economical use of scent. And keep it clean.

Use a fine flexible wire [one probably came with your good atomizer] to clean out any places in the tubes that have gotten gummed up. And remember when you change perfumes that one lovely fragrance may be completely ruined by the leftover taint of its predecessor, no matter how exquisite it was. Rinse the receptacle with alcohol two or three times, then flush it out with plain water. Spray alcohol thru the tubes, too, so that there is no trace of the former perfume. If there are stains in the receptacle clean these first with a little ammonia, then use the alcohol.

The War Production board has been generous with the tolletries industry, but it is inevitable that the perfumes and the colognes [which consume so much alcohol] will not be produced in such lavish quantities as in the past. Use what you do get intelligently, and without waste. Use of, an atomizer is probably the best conserving trick of all, especially if it is one that foils evaporation.

Plan Sensibly for Traveling with the Baby

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

After telling you recently not to take long, hot journeys with your baby in summer, I am going to proceed today to give you some suggestions for doing that very thing. And for this reason, that sometimes it is almost necessary for you to travel with your young baby, and if so, you might as well do it efficiently.

Now, I must admit, at the start, that I never took long, hot journeys with my own baby. We made train trips back and forth to the country, but they were short ones. Neither have I ever taken long journeys by car with a baby. We didn't have a car.

These are the supplies you should have for your long journey, packed in a bag or inexpensive suitcase:

Small cans of evaporated or dried milk.
Can opener.
Jar of sugar.
Four to six [or more] nursing bottles.
Six sterile nipples in covered glass jar.
Funnel.
Strainer for dried milk mixture.
Teaspoon, tablespoon.
Small egg beater for mixing dried milk.
Vacuum bottle of boiled water [one day's supply.]
Jars or cans of canned or home prepared vegetable purée.
Solid alcohol stove and tray or electric hot water heater. Cup.
Oranges or canned tomato juice.
Small utensils for heating food.

A separate bag or basket lined with rubber sheeting should be provided for the diapers, and with them may be packed a small enameled ware chamber. For a young baby a number of inner pads, of soft paper, or cellucotton should be provided. When one of these is soiled it can be put down the toilet. Wet diapers may be rolled tightly and kept in the rubber bag.

For a long journey in hot summer weather a baby should be dressed only in a band, a diaper, and a thin outer garment. He should be barefooted. A short sleeved, low necked slip of white crêpe or china silk [if you can get it] or thin cotton can be washed out in the basin when soiled. Two dresses should be brought so that one can be worn while the other is being washed. Warmer clothing should be at hand to put on at once if the day suddenly cools.

Regular hours for feeding the baby must be observed as far as possible. Do not give him cakes, candy, bananas, or sweet crackers to keep him quiet on the train.

Regularity in bathing, sleeping, and exercise also are important to the baby when traveling. He can be given a chance to kick and move about even on a train.

Fried chicken is truly American, and an excellent dish, but once in a while we might take a suggestion from some of our neighbors and friends about cooking this universally beloved meat. Chicken is good in many different combinations.

Try it with fresh grated pineapple and soy sauce, Chinese style. It's unusually delicious.

Chinese Pineapple Chicken.
[Serves four.]

2 young chickens [about 1½ pounds], split
Flour, salt
Oil for browning
1 cup fresh grated pineapple
2 teaspoons soy sauce [or more]
1 peeled tomato, sliced
½ green pepper, shredded
1 cup bean sprouts
½ cup shredded almonds [optional]

Rub chickens with flour and salt and cook until browned and tender in the oil. Keep warm while preparing sauce, using as a base the fat left in the skillet. Add pineapple, soy sauce, tomato, green pepper, and bean sprouts. Heat thoroly, season to taste, and serve over chicken. Sprinkle almonds over the dish.

There is an excellent Brazilian chicken with herbs which I doubt that many readers would care to make, since the recipe demands that you start with the live chicken, which you behead yourself so that you can use the blood in making the sauce! It's one of those dishes which taste wonderful if you don't know what you're eating!

But we don't have to go that far to the south of us for a tasty chicken and fruit combination. Pollo con frutas comes from Mexico.

Pollo con Frutas.
[Chicken with Fruit.]
[Serves six.]

1 3½ pound chicken, in pieces
2 cups water
1½ tablespoons chili powder
½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 small onion, minced
1 tablespoon salt
Oil or butter for browning
Sliced apples and oranges
1 cup strained tomatoes
Sugar

Put chicken, water, chili powder, pepper, cinnamon, onion, and salt into stewpan, cover and simmer very gently for half an hour. Remove chicken from broth and brown the pieces thoroly on all sides in the oil or butter. Add tomatoes to broth and heat to boiling. Thicken, if you like, with a little flour or cornstarch mixed to a paste with cold water. Put chicken into a casserole, cover with slices of apple and very thin slices of orange, skin included. Pour sauce over the mixture, sprinkle with sugar, and bake in a 350 degree oven until fruits are tender. Seedless white grapes are good in addition to the other fruits, or in place of one of them.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Cottage Cheese Biscuits.
[Eighteen.]

1 egg
2 tablespoons milk [about]
1 cup cottage cheese.
2 tablespoons butter, melted
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt

Beat egg slightly and add milk, cottage cheese, and butter. Mix well. Sift baking powder, flour and salt together, and add to first mixture. Add more milk, few drops at a time, if the dough is too dry to hold together [the consistency should be like that of any biscuit dough]. Turn out on floured board and pat or roll out to half inch thickness. Cut with floured cutter and bake on greased sheet in hot [425 degree] oven for about 12 minutes, or until lightly browned.

MISS CATHERINE HYBKI,
449 6th street, La Salle, Ill.

Cuban to Speak Today at Pan-American Tea

Senorita Nohema Caballero of Cuba will speak at today's weekly Spanish and Portuguese tea from 3 to 6 o'clock at the Hotel La Salle. The teas are sponsored by the Pan-American council. Present today will be the consuls from Cuba and Argentina.

The Housewife

Until now those convenient string bags for carrying your own packages home were available, but at a price, and the price did seem too high. This week, however, we've found some very practical fine mesh bags that are huge and that cost only a quarter. You can fold them into small space when they are not in use, as they lie flat. They come in a beige color with colored borders and they have two sturdy handles. EDITH WEIGLE.

Three Needlework Patterns

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Just try on a pair of these crocheted play shoes, No. 1006, and you will find that you can't get along without them. They are that comfortable, and easy and inexpensive to make. The crocheted hat, No. 1073, is just what you have been looking for to wear with that early fall number. For those good looking linen dish towels the motifs, No. 785, are the answer to what you have been seeking. They are easy to work in cross-stitch and outline combined.

Each of these patterns costs 10 cents. Send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, for each pattern desired, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Motto.

Eloise Jordan, who has been largely responsible for the Chicago public library's fine collection of books in modern Irish, the only collection of its knd in any public library in the country, filled an unusual request the other day. Some one who was interested in John Philpot Curran, an Irish patriot and wit of great renown, asked Miss Jordan to find some anecdote that would illustrate the sparkling quality of the Irishman's mind. This is what she found in an old volume printed in Dublin 135 years ago:

Lundy Foot, a tobacconist, having acquired considerable money, bought a fine carriage and appealed to Curran for a motto with which to decorate his conveyance. "Give me one, my dear Curran, of a serious cast, because I am afraid the people will laugh at a tobacconist setting up a carriage, and for the scholarship's sake, let it be in Latin." "I have just hit on it," said Curran. "It is only two words, Lundy, and it will at once explain your profession, your elevation, and your contempt for their ridicule, and it has the advantage of being in two languages, Latin or English, just as the reader chooses—put 'Quid Rides' upon your carriage."

Phrase of the Week.

The one used in the Chicago Service Men's Center News, in recording the food and soft drinks consumed in the last week: Victual Statistics.

Life with Father.

In town following the end of a three months' road tour of "Life with Father," Louis Calhern, who enacted the rôle of father, told some amusing statistics about the 1,400 mile tour. The strenuous schedule "wore out" three mothers—Lillian and Dorothy Gish and Viola Frayne. And on the night of the final performance, at the Music Box theater in Hollywood, two of the sons put lifelike metal flies on father's oatmeal, a rubber egg in his egg cup, and to torment the elder brother, Clarence [Peter Turgeon], they filled father's bag, which Clarence had to carry in one scene, with large stones, making it almost impossible to lift.

Patriotism.

You are so inconsistent, dear.
I can remember well,
One time you donned a bright new dress,
And strutted down the street
Only to meet a neighbor with
A gay dress just like yours.
You wore a long face quite some time,
To think that some one had
A dress the very likeness of
The one you wore that day.
What I am trying to say is. . . .
Remembering this thing,
I cannot for a moment see
Why you so eagerly
Joined the Waac.
—Audrey Goossens.

Kensington Garden.

In the mail:

"Re your item about the garden near the Kensington station of the Illinois Central, it has been there for a long time, and Mr. Strom, who used to care for and beautify it every spring, is now on the local draft board in Roseland. The garden was very well kept, with iris planted around the edges, trees, shrubbery, and bushes of all kinds, and presented a lovely picture. About all that the garden is used for now is for people taking a short cut to the station, but nothing is trampled on, as there has always been a path running thru, as I well know, having had many enjoyable walks along it. Adeline Sciacca."

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

Few things are more discouraging to the bridge player than to have his own partner, his supposed helpmate, spoil a carefully planned coup and bring succor to the enemy. West, in the following deal, which occurred at match-point duplicate, felt that he was playing against three opponents:

North, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

♠ 8
♥ 10 9 3 4
♦ K Q 10 5
♣ A Q 5 2

WEST
♠ A 9 7 3
♥ A K Q 5 3
♦ A 8 4 3
♣ none

EAST
♠ J 10
♥ 7 2
♦ J 9 6
♣ J 10 9 8 7 4

SOUTH
♠ K Q 6 5 4 2
♥ J 6
♦ 7 2
♣ K 6 3

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass [!]
1 no tramp	Pass	2 spades	Double
Pass	3 clubs	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

West, it will be noted, exercised enormous self-restraint to keep quiet over South's one spade response. With a hand as strong as West's, it would have been unthinkable to pass and risk the loss of a game, or even perhaps a slam, except for one vital consideration. West was not vulnerable and the opponents were. If West could find sufficient support in his partner's hand for the bidding and making of a game contract, he could expect only 420 points, 300 points for the nonvulnerable game and 120 points trick score. But if East had the support necessary to that game, it was extremely probable that the opponents' two spade bid [or any higher contract] could be defeated at least two tricks, which would give East-West 500 points and a much better match-point score.

At duplicate, the finest players, when not vulnerable, do a great deal of "trapping" against vulnerable opponents. Hence West's tactics were eminently sound. But he did not reckon with his own partner. That individual had ideas of his own. He felt that his cards could offer no help in the defense of a two spade contract, but that he might do very well at his own long club suit. Accordingly, he took out the double to three clubs, was doubled in turn, and presented the enemy with 300 unearned points.

It was true that East had a poor defensive hand, but it contained one splendid feature, to which East was apparently blind. That feature was the J-10 of spades. Two honors, however low, in the opponents' trump suit hold great potential value. In this hand, put to the right use, they would have led to an 800 point penalty.

Good Morning!

"The Brooklyn baseball fan," says a news note, "is a creature apart." . . . To understand the workings of this rara avis' mind one must, same note asserts, become aware of three important facts:

"[1] A Brooklyn fan hates ALL umpires; [2] he hates New York teams; [3] he loves any ball player who has a weakness."

"It Happened in Flatbush" goes into the subject of Brooklyn fans, whose passion for players with faults has given the Brooklyn team the nickname of "Them Lovely Bums."

The picture should delight all baseball fans, Brooklyn or otherwise. For, after a great deal of kicking around, the team brings home the pennant. . . . And the team's manager, McGuire, who had been under a black and thunderous cloud of disapproval, emerges clad in victory, to the tune of loud applause. . . .

Lloyd Nolan as McGuire is a knockout, presenting one of his smooth, convincing portrayals. . . .

As the story has it, McGuire once had been accorded, wrongly, the title of "Butter Fingers" and had vanished for a long long time from the Brooklyn area. . . . He's brought back by the team's aging owner, Mrs. McAvoy, who had always believed in him. . . . Things look rosy for the new manager. . . .

Mrs. McAvoy's sudden death changes the outlook and bequeaths the club to her heirs. . . . McGuire has to sell himself all over again.

Lovely Kathryn Baker, major stock owner, is definitely agin him. . . . But not for long. Romance buds, is nipped, buds again, and then blooms be-yewtifully. . . . The finale is a whirlwind of excitement. . . .

"It Happened in Flatbush" has laughs, suspense, and oodles of human appeal. . . . Miss Landis was never lovelier, and sharply credible characterizations are provided by Sara Allgood and Robert Armstrong.

See you tomorrow.

Holy Family Parish to Celebrate 85th Anniversary in Fall

The Rev. Nicholas Mann, S. J., pastor of Holy Family Jesuit church, 1080 West Roosevelt road, has been delving into the records of his historic parish to discover items of interest for the 85th anniversary celebration to be held in October. This parish, with its city-wide constituency, was the birthplace of Loyola university.

The first Holy Family edifice, a frame structure, was opened at 11th and May streets on July 12, 1857, and on the opening day the long list of persons baptized there began with four names. Julia Taylor, a 17 year old convert, is the first name on the list, which now has grown to 52,869. She was baptized by the Rev. Charles Truyens, S. J., assistant to the Rev. Arnold Damen, S. J.

The Rev. John L. Setters' name appears 23,426 times in the seven volume baptismal records. Father Setters was connected with the parish for 35 years. Father Mann said that the voluminous records are being transferred to a card index system, made necessary by the amount of time required to look up birthdays of persons who had forgotten them. Two years have been spent in the transfer and another will be needed.

On the House

For almost unnumbered centuries paint has been recognized for its protective as well as its decorative powers. . . . Wood cases more than 5,000 years old have been found in ancient Egyptian tombs, and paint was used more than two hundred thousand years ago by the Cro-magnons in decorating their caves in southern Europe. . . . Now, as always, beauty and protection from moisture, rot, parching, drying, and attendant fire hazards can be given to your house by timely repainting. . . . Maintenance with paint is a major factor in building upkeep.

Ensemble in One Pattern

MISS' TAILORED ENSEMBLE.

Here's a pattern bargain! The one design makes a jerkin, weskit, skirt, and both long and short sleeved blouse. It's wise to look ahead to the fall season around about now, and to start getting that autumn business or school wardrobe in operation. Why not begin with this versatile pattern?

Style No. 3301 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires, for jerkin and skirt, 3¼ yards of 35 inch material; for weskit, 1⅝ yards of 35 inch material; for long sleeved blouse, 2⅛ yards of 35 inch; for short sleeved blouse, 1¾ yards of 35 inch.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents for mailing costs (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The summer pattern book costs 15 cents—10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., July 31.—The other day I ran into Kay Kyser, just back from a tour of America, playing army camps and theaters and selling bonds on the sidewalk. Kay's lost 25 pounds. I've rarely seen a more earnest or rampant American. He fires his shots where they'll do the most good. For instance, in Detroit, where some workers walked out because they were asked to do their smoking outside, he said, "every minute away from making guns, planes, tanks, and bullets is a life lost." Then pointing to a sailor back of him, who had been thru Pearl Harbor and suffered disfiguring facial burns, Kay said, "Did he run when his life was in danger? No, he kept on firing. The men in the camps are working 'steen hours without complaint, and the American people who still enjoy privileges must do the same. It isn't just buying bonds—it's the spirit that makes you want to buy them." Boy! he doesn't pull his punches nor mince words, and he's trying to form a unit to tour this country from end to end. Its slogan will be, "Wake up, America"—and that means everybody!

I Can Wonder, Can't I?

If Douglas Fairbanks Sr. were still living, I wonder how he'd feel knowing that Bugsie Siegel has the dog he loved . . . and I believe that actress who thinks Bugsie's wife is going to divorce him so he can marry her is going to be sadly disappointed. . . . Betty Pulliam is so fond of Lana Turner that she even named her pet turtle after her. "And it's a swell turtle, too," she adds. . . . Hal Wallis is making certain that everything is right for "Air Force." He's going with the company to Tampa, Fla., and personally supervise the whole thing.

Hope Springs Eternal.

Lots can be said about Hollywood, but you can't say that actors don't get a second chance here. They may not at the studio where they're under contract, but when that's ended, they begin all over again elsewhere, and that's what Richard Whorf has done. For years we applauded Whorf's performances with the Lunts. Then he was signed by Warners and given a gangster part—not a happy assignment. Now he's playing with Katharine Hepburn, goes from that with Mickey Rooney into "Kim," and when Warners make the life of Gershwin, they'll probably win him back. Incidentally, when Mickey does "Kim," he'll have only four scenes as Mickey, so I'm told. In others, he'll be disguised as an Indian fakir, or what have you. Well, if I know my Mickey, we'd recognize him even if he were playing the hind legs of an elephant!

Wrong Dope.

Gummo Marx says it ain't true that he and the missus are disagreeing, let alone separating. . . . Harpo's off Sept. 4 to spend two weeks with Alexander Woollcott on his island in Vermont, and, declares Harpo, he's not going to do a play, not even "Yellow Jacket." Will do nothing this winter but entertain our armed forces. . . . The Bob Leonards' loss of their colored butler, Arthur S. Bridges, was the navy's gain. He's now chief officer steward. . . . After Edward Trevor watched Rosalind Russell do the samba, he said, "I have an easy method of learning it. Just drink three zombies—then get up and try to waltz."

O, for That Golden Silence!

Joe Brown, actor [no, not Joe E.'s son], related some incidents which happened to him while he played in stock up in Carmel. He had supper with a group of persons and was sounding off about the need for stage experience if you want to succeed on the screen, and the difference between the two mediums, how exaggerated a stage actor is unless he's toned down. Then he turned to a pretty girl sitting next him, and said, "Don't you agree with me?" She replied, "I wouldn't know. You see, I've only acted on the screen. My name is Joan Fontaine." . . . Hollywood says Myrna Loy is blessed-eventing. Myrna says nothing.

Gracie Fools 'Em.

When Gracie Allen wanted to do a spot on the CBS "Playhouse" and turn her salary over to the government to purchase an ambulance, she found out she couldn't deduct it from her income tax. In other words, she makes them a present of a coupla thousand bucks, and then they tax her for it. But Gracie fooled 'em. When she heard the news, she backed right out of the deal, swooned, and they sent an ambulance for Gracie! . . . Meyer Davis overheard two cuties discussing a star's divorce. "Yes, she left him—but took everything else!" . . . When Conrad Veidt played two characters, good and bad, in "Nazi Agent," he was filled with fear. Now he's delighted, 'cause he's getting fan mail only about the good; the evil has been entirely forgotten. So much so that he came in and asked for a camera sitting as Conrad Veidt. . . . Sam Wood is getting more praise from the New York critics for the direction of "The Pride of the Yankees" than he's getting here. In a picture like that, there's enough credit for all, and Sam deserves lots of it.

The Executive.

"It is the function of an executive to plan and supervise the efforts of others; to think for more than one; to multiply himself thru others. A good executive is primarily a teacher and a leader, who directs with a personal touch that inspires energetic loyalty to the firm. He shows how to do things quicker, easier, better, and at less cost . . . cultivates a keen, alert mind. He gives clear cut instruction, for a worker who is forever wrong is not being taught right. . . . An executive is paid for what he gets done, as well as for what he does and should never be too busy to learn how to become less busy. He should do something each day the doing of which will help every day thereafter."—S. H. Tomlinson.

Starting Points.

Lenore Healy writes: "People seem to forget that most women who get along, usually began in white collar jobs. Well-known newspaper women, leaders in the advertising field, etc., have arrived via the white collar system. Take Charlotte Symonds, the Met and Chicago Opera prima donna who is now robed in glamor: At one time she did routine work at a bank. Louise Fitch, radio star, started her career as a stenographer. These girls capitalized on what you might call their hobbies, working at them while they worked at a job."

To which might be added that multi-careered Alice Marble was her tennis instructor's secretary. . . . Madeline Carroll taught school. . . . Ethel Merman was a secretary whose singing was the hit of the office parties. . . . Sally Benson author of "Junior Miss" was a dictaphone operator. Doesn't that make you all feel better?

War Worker Wins Contest for Basses in Festival Tryouts

Joseph Appleby Jr., 19 years old, 4469 Lawrence avenue, last night displayed a mellow bass voice that carried him to triumph in his division in the west side auditions for the 13th annual Chicago Music Festival.

Appleby, who now works 54 hours a week as a draftsman in a defense plant, was an easy winner in the auditions held in the Graemere hotel, 113 South Homan avenue. He placed third in the Cook county festival competition last year when judges criticized his inability to reach low notes, but after a year's practice, he showed perfect control last night.

The mezzo soprano division contest was won by Miss Lillian Chookasian, 20, of 2420 Kedzie boulevard, while Miss Frances Sorkin, 19, of 1316 South Kildare avenue, triumphed among the dramatic sopranos.

An auto repairman who sings in St. Peter's church as soloist took first place in the bass baritones. He is Peter H. Kuhns, 31, of 2851 Nelson street. Miss Dorothy Cornfield, 20, of 4818½ North Kimball avenue, a Cook county finalist in 1940, won the judges' vote as the best coloratura soprano.

The final event—for lyric soprano—was won by Miss Helene M. Maxouris, 23 years old, 5433 Congress street, in private life a secretary. She triumphed over 45 competitors. Miss Maxouris has sung with the Chicago Opera company chorus the last two seasons.

FILM UNION BARS NEW MEMBERS 20 YEARS AS 200 DIE

Operators Push Drive to End Permit Racket.

The mortality rate among members of Chicago's Motion Picture Operators' Local 110 has averaged 10 a year during the last 20 years, a total of 200 deaths, yet the officers of the union always have blocked the membership from taking in a single new member during the entire period, it was revealed yesterday by men long members of the organization.

Places of the men who died have been taken by operators on weekly permits who were compelled to pay an average of $10 a week to the union. Thus while the membership was decreasing the rolls of the permit men were constantly on the increase. And permit men have no voting power in the union.

Members Hope for Reform.

Hope that the permit racket will be remedied now by a committee appointed within the last two weeks cto revise the constitution and by-laws was expressed by several operators yesterday, including Herman Posner, operator at the State theater, 5814 Madison street, who long has fought for this reform. Posner said:

"Whatever changes are made in the by-laws must be approved by Frank Walsh, our international president. I feel sure that the new committee will try to right the permit situation and I believe that Mr. Walsh will approve such action."

There was much discussion among the members of the union yesterday concerning the move to put an end to the permit racket. All were fearful of talking openly, however, pointing to the fact that three members have been murdered during the last 15 years. "Jacob Hoffman was shot to death at his garage," one operator said, "then Fred Oser was shot to death in the union offices, and finally they killed Hank Schneider."

Opening of Books Blocked.

Another operator explained how the officers blocked the opening of the books for membership.

"The books were opened at the annual meeting each year," he said. "One man, a stooge for the officers, would get up and move that they be opened. That motion would pass. Then—immediately—another stooge would arise and move that they be closed. And they were always closed. The whole operation took about three seconds. If anybody protested he was knocked down."

Still another member pointed out that other methods of intimidation were practiced thru the union's control of jobs. Some jobs pay $40 a week more than others. The officers could shift a man from one to the other, depending on how he "went along"—or they could keep him from working at all.

The committee of seven, engaged in a revision of the by-laws is headed by Smith King, operator in the Granada theater, who said he expected to report about Sept. 1.

NEW PASSENGER BUSES FROZEN UNDER ODT RULE

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—All new passenger buses not yet sold by manufacturers were frozen by the War Production Board today and placed under control of the Office of Defense Transportation for assignment to areas where transit emergencies develop.

The action, announced by Joseph B. Eastman, ODT director, places at his disposal a fleet of several thousand new buses. They will be sold only as directed by ODT, and only if the transit company receiving them agrees to transfer them to another city in case worse needs develop in the latter place.

In addition, a transit company buying a city bus must agree to operate it not more than 2,000 miles a month, and a utility purchasing an intercity bus must agree not to run it more than 4,000 miles a month.

ODT explained that the stipulation will prevent companies from following their normal tendency to operate new equipment more intensively than older vehicles and will keep the buses in operation for the duration of the war.

SEAMAN ADMITS HIS BATTLE TALE IS SECOND HAND

Seaman Edmund Carr, 28 years old, of Denver, Colo., yesterday admitted to navy public relations officers that his story of Pacific battle experiences, printed in THE TRIBUNE, was based on the adventures of another sailor and not on his own.

THE TRIBUNE interviewed Carr Thursday after he had convinced the navy publicity officers that his story of his experiences would aid a current drive to recruit pilots. Carr said in his story that planes assigned to his unit of the Pacific fleet drove off three waves of Japanese bombers, one of which, he said, dropped a dud eight inch shell with fins that made it plunge like an aerial bomb.

Carr was said by the officers to have admitted readily yesterday that he had never been to sea, but had related what one of his navy friends on the west coast had told him. Carr was questioned after his mother in Denver, upon reading a newspaper story about him, revealed that he had just finished his preliminary training.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

F. N. asks: "I would like to know what are the physical requirements for the Canadian or British navy. Are United States citizens permitted to enlist with them?"

ANSWER: The United States and the co-belligerent nations agreed some time ago that United States citizens would thenceforward remain subject to duty in the armed forces of the United States, and only citizens of the United States in foreign countries could be recruited into foreign services. Since you are in this country, you would not be permitted to enlist in the Canadian, British, or other armed forces.

I. H. asks: "Is it true that this $22 deducted from the soldier's pay will be held until November 1st or later even if the wife is desperately in need of it? This seems so unfair."

ANSWER: If you have been making or care to make a class "E" allotment [voluntary family allotment] and you find that when the $22 is deducted from your pay, along with payments for insurance and "forfeiture" credit balances, you have no money left to send home, go to your commanding officer or paymaster and ask for a regular "Discontinuance Form." Then make the following notation on the reverse side: "Payments to continue thru Sept. 30, 1942." The sums thus paid the dependents will be deducted from the first payment under the allotment act. This privilege also is extended to men who have been supporting dependents directly from their pay and not thru automatic deductions by the paymaster's office.

K. L. P. writes: "If two sons contribute to the support of a parent is there any arrangement that could be made so that one son would be inducted and one not? [These sons are registered in different boards in different States. Both are single.] If both were inducted, would the government add $18 to each son's contribution of $22 a month, making a total of $80 a month the mother would receive? What if one should marry before entering service, would the wife or the mother get the money?"

ANSWER: One son, but not both, might claim the mother as a dependent and thus be deferred, but as for bargaining with one or both boards to see which board would induct which son—we know of no possible "arrangement." In fact, either or both sons might be inducted at the discretion of their respective boards. If the service man allots $22 from his pay for a parent, the government adds $15, not $18, making a total of $37 receivable by the parent from either or both sons. The parent would have to submit affidavits as to the degree of dependency on each son. If one son married before or after entering service, the parent's allotment from that son would be cut to $20 because the son would be contributing for a wife and parent and would have $5 additional cut from his pay. He would be contributing $27 from his pay for the wife and mother, and the wife would receive $50 and the mother $20.

FRANK LEAHY APPOINTED TO ALL-STAR STAFF

WHIRLAWAY HEADS FIELD OF 9 IN $25,000 HANDICAP

THREE STAKES END ARLINGTON SEASON TODAY

Alsab Runs Monday at Washington Pk.

Handicap Field

EIGHT rivals will oppose Whirlaway in today's $25,000 Arlington handicap. The field, in order of post positions, follows:

Horse—	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
Sirocco	112	W. Garner	25-1
Rounders	103	F. A. Smith	4-1
Reading II.	118	G. Woolf	20-1
Best Seller	120	No boy	5-1
Pumpgun	100	H. Schuling	50-1
Staretor	100	No boy	25-1
Equitable	100	L. Barney	50-1
No Competition	106	S. Brooks	50-1
Whirlaway	130	E. Arcaro	3-5

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Whirlaway, the perrenial American champion owned by Warren Wright, will race today against eight rivals in the $25,000 Arlington handicap. In this event, which is the closing feature of Arlington Park's 36 day meeting, he will make his first appearance since he became the greatest money winner in the history of racing. His victory in the $50,000 Massachusetts handicap on July 15 carried him past Seabiscuit's mark of $437,730 and ran his total earnings to $454,336.

In addition to the Arlington handicap, there will be two $7,500 stakes today. One of these—the Victory handicap—may develop into a re-run of last Saturday's Classic minus the winner, Shut Out. Valdina Orphan and With Regards, which finished second and third, respectively, are scheduled to renew their spectacularly fast rivalry over the mile and an eighth route. In the other stake—the Cleopatra—a high class field of fillies and mares headed by Blue Delight will race at a mile.

Alsab to Go Monday.

There had been a possibility that Alsab might have been entered in the Victory, but Owner Al Sabath and Trainer Sarge Swenk decided not to send him to the post today. He is eligible for the seven furlong $4,000 Lakeside handicap which is the main event on Monday's opening program at Washington Park and his handlers now plan to run him in this race over the shorter distance to mark his return to competition after his layoff with a splint since early June.

Trainer Ben Jones has sharpened up Whirlaway for one of his traditionally powerful drives thru the last three-eighths of the mile and quarter Arlington handicap. He may have something to run at, too, for there is a fair amount of speed represented in the field which will oppose him.

Valdina Farm's Rounders, the Irish bred colt which ran second to Whirlaway in the Massachusetts handicap, will be in there with a light burden of 103 pounds against the champion's top weight of 130. In the Massachusetts, Rounders finished well in advance of Attention and other seasoned handicap performers.

Watch Best Seller.

Best Seller, winner of the Equipoise mile during the current Arlington Park meeting, is fast enough to make it interesting for Whirlaway—especially if he gets far enough ahead of the Calumet Farm star during the first mile. Staretor, Sirocco, Reading II., Pumpgun, No Competition, and Equitable will complete the field.

Eddie Arcaro, the boy who knows how to time Whirlaway's locomotive rushes to perfection, will be aboard the Calumet colt today. Arcaro is expected to deliver another one of those masterful rides which characterized his appearance last Saturday when he brought Shut Out home on top in the Arlington Classic.

Whirlaway is expected to go to the post at odds no longer than 3 to 5. This recalls his last appearance at Arlington Park when he was an

RAY ROBINSON WINS DECISION OVER ANGOTT

Comes from Far Back to Gain Victory.

New York, July 31 (AP).—Ray Robinson kept his amazing winning streak intact tonight, but only after coming from far back to take a 10 round decision from Lightweight Champion Sammy Angott in Madison Square Garden. Robinson weighed 144¼; Angott, 139¾.

Piling the 122d straight triumph on his unbeaten record as an amateur and a pro, the skinny Harlem fighter, who is regarded in some circles as the uncrowned welterweight champion, spotted Angott three of the first four rounds, then turned loose his startling speed and explosive punching power to take the verdict.

Both Down in Eighth.

For most of the way, a crowd of 12,073 stood and roared at the blistering, bruising brawl, particularly in the eighth round, when both fighters were on the floor for an eight count.

The Associated Press score card gave Robinson the last six rounds, Angott the first three, and called the fourth even.

The gross gate was announced as $26,853.72.

It was Robinson's second straight victory over Angott, who turned in one of his best fights tonight—certainly his top performance in Madison Square Garden—in a losing cause.

The front end of the tussle was all Angott. He charged in, beat Robinson to the punch, flailed away at the body and once or twice all but climbed right up on Robinson in the first three rounds to take a clear edge. He won the third, but Referee Arthur Donovan notified the judges that if there was any question about it, it was to go to Sammy because Robinson threw a low punch that drew boos from the crowd.

But starting with the fourth round Robinson began to turn loose his blazing speed. Sammy fought back, and twice, after catching right hand shots on the chin, stood in midring, waved his glove at Robinson, and sneered, "Come on and fight." Robinson did, and from there on it was every man for himself.

Robinson Keeps Hitting.

In the fifth, Angott held on as Robinson opened up a right hand barrage. Near the finish of this round Robinson connected with a long right just as Angott slipped in his own corner, and Angott landed flat on his face, but it was not ruled an official knockdown.

In the sixth, Robinson landed left-right-left, putting on a hitting rally, and from there on, it was obvious that Angott was going to have to do a lot of hurrying to come thru.

The eighth round provided the most explosives—and the comedy relief. Robinson bounced a long left hook off Sammy's chin and Angott's knees started to bend. As he sagged, he grabbed hold of Robinson and suddenly both were on the floor. The knockdown timekeeper reached "eight" before they got up, Sammy inside the ropes and Ray outside on the ring apron, where he had rolled.

Even Up on Eyes.

In the same round, a hard right gashed Angott's left eye, but he got even for this in the ninth by opening a small cut alongside Ray's right eye.

Sammy's title was not on the line tonight. That is stored away until he meets Allie Stolz this fall. Robinson gets a chance with Welterweight Champion Red Cochrane here Sept. 10, but up to now that is a nontitle fight.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE controversy attending the numbering of players in the recent $15,000 Tam o' Shanter Open tournament has developed one of the most interesting topics of the golf season. . . . Disregarding the technicalities involved in Joe Kirkwood's refusal to wear a number that would identify him on the course and Tommy Armour's subsequent withdrawal in protest, the Wake feels it was inevitable that golf would reach the numbering stage. . . . For years football coaches fought against this form of identifying players. . . . They finally capitulated, with the result that the public recognized numbers as synonymous with names—77 for Red Grange, 3 for Bronko Nagurski, and 98 for Tom Harmon. . . . Granted that competitive golf is not a uniform game, the sport was bound to require some simple form of identification once it entered the realm of widespread public interest. . . . There is no doubt that the numbers worn at Tam o' Shanter served a real purpose in enabling newcomers to the game to spot players easily. . . . It is understood that Tam o' Shanter officials have gone even farther in anticipation of their next tournament. . . . They plan to have shirts, carrying the names of players, tailored in large, medium, and small sizes for use on the course.

Those who have wondered why the nickname "Chilli" was applied to a genial person like Charles E. Bowen, who leaves the University of Illinois Athletic association to become executive director of the Alumni association Jan. 1 now have their question answered. . . . Bowen says that all boys named Charles were called "Chilli" in Delphi, Ind., his home town, just as they are called "Chuck" in other parts. . . . In the light of Lon Warneke's recent five hit pitching achievement over the Phillies it could be that worry over the illness of his young daughter was partly responsible for his two failures in Wrigley field after joining the Cubs. . . . Toni Mauriello, the 19 year old New York heavyweight, is being pointed out as the young man who will save big time boxing for Mike Jacobs. . . . Aside from being draft exempt at this time, he has a minor deformity of the foot. . . . On a recent hot afternoon Luke Appling had reason to suspect all wasn't well within his baseball shoes. . . . He removed them and discovered the spring rubber which helps to relieve the pressure from the spikes had melted.

Turnbull Rides 7 Winners at Rockingham

Salem, N. H., July 31 (AP).—Willie Turnbull, up on Mad Crusader, was shunted to second place by the camera in the seventh race at Rockingham Park today and the 17 year old Hot Springs, Ark., youth lost his chance of becoming the first jockey to ride eight winners on a single program.

He completed his day's work with seven triumphs and the second, finishing out of the money in only the first event of the nine race card.

Waddy Takes Seventh Race.

Turnbull registered with Rough Biscuit in the second and followed with Manipulate, Ample Reward, Lou O'Neill, and Two Kick before the photographer's decision placed him second to Waddy in the seventh. Valdina Joe and Siganar were his final victors.

It was the most remarkable riding feat since Alfred Robertson rode six winners out of seven mounts at Jamaica in New York on Oct. 9, 1941—listed as the outstanding riding achievement of last year's campaign.

It was the first time a jockey, riding on a track in the United States, had triumphed in seven races in one day since J. Sylvester turned the trick at Ravenna Park, O., on Oct. 18, 1930. Sylvester had eight mounts that day.

Australians Ride Seven.

W. Thomas rode all seven winners at Townsville, Australia, July 29, 1929, and Albert Whittaker was up on all seven victors at Huntley, New Zealand, on Feb. 19, 1910.

Hal Chase's Condition Reported Still Critical

Oakland, Cal., July 31 (AP).—Highland hospital attendants reported no change today in the critical condition of Hal Chase, 59, famed baseball personality, who suffered a heart attack Wednesday.

You Know Him.

He worked to get the country into war
Branding as traitors those who scorned his views,
And every day he called upon great Thor
To shake peacemakers clean out of their shoes;
He said the isolationists were scared
And hurled invective upon Nye and Taft;
But when at last the war had been declared
He was the very first to dodge the draft.

He's still the old fictitious patriot
Who waves the flag with both hands day and night;
But when he finds his country in a spot
He always lets the other fellow fight;
Judged by his boasting he's "the Great I Am,"
But when it comes to action he's a sham.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, apparently still operating on the momentum lingering from their twin triumph over the Yankees, took Washington's Senators apart with consummate ease last night under the Comiskey park lights. Jim Dykes' gang, usually addicted to light hitting, came up with not only a pleasing batch of singles but also some extra base wallops to fabricate a 7 to 2 victory in the series opener. It was their 10th success of the season in 14 meetings with the same fellows.

Johnny Humphries, who had been in extra inning jobs on his four previous assignments, went the route without much difficulty to notch his seventh victory, against nine defeats. So far as his pitching was concerned the performance deserved a shutout rating, but a couple of flaws developed in the defense. He himself contributed to bad toss trying to catch a runner off first base and another errant throw was delivered by Don Kolloway. The Senators' scoring resulted from these misdemeanors.

Early Wynn Leaves Early.

The accuracy with which the Sox wielded their bats induced Early Wynn to call it a night before the fifth inning had been reeled off. They began operations against him in a mild way by scoring once in the second inning. In the third, they really bore down, a triple by Myril Hoag being an important item in the production of three runs.

In the fifth, they repeated the treatment, this one being flavored by a triple by Taft Wright. Thereafter, Ray Scarborough, a recent import from Chattanooga, conducted the party on a yield of one hit, which was Kolloway's second successful bunt of the evening.

The Senators Cooperate.

The Sox picked up their first run in the second inning thru unexpected assistance in dodging a double play. Wright singled with one out and scooted to third on a single by Kuhel. Kennedy bounced to Sullivan, who tossed to Clary to force Kuhel, but the relay to first drew Vernon off the bag, sending Wright across the plate.

The Sox were rough with Wynn in the third, four of them plunking the ball to safe spots. Kolloway started the three run incident by beating out a bunt with one gone. Moses followed with a single, putting Kolloway on third. When a double steal was bluffed, Wynn threw to Cullenbine at third, but the latter obligingly dropped the ball, thus permitting Kolloway's safe return to the bag. Hoag tripled to left center, scoring Kolloway and Moses. Appling singled Hoag home, giving the Sox a 4 to 0 edge.

Miss Ingram Wins in State Golf Final, 1 Up

Peoria, Ill., July 31 (AP).—Virginia Ingram of Winnetka, Ill., won the Illinois state women's golf championship today by defeating Dorothy Foster, Springfield, Ill., 1 up in 36 holes.

In a see-saw battle with the girl who won the first Illinois state tournament back in 1934, Miss Ingram pulled herself out of a three hole deficit after 24 holes of play to square the match on the 29th.

Holes 25 Foot Putt.

Then she dropped a 25 foot putt on the 31st to take a 1 up lead and managed to take the title by that margin. Their cards:

Miss Ingram wins, 1 up.

The Springfield veteran, who by overtime work yesterday eliminated Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, the tournament medalist, looked like she was going to make a runaway of today's final at two points in the contest.

Miss Foster Takes 4 Up Lead.

With Miss Ingram getting sevens on two holes of the outgoing nine in the morning, Miss Foster sprinted to a 4 up lead after 11 holes. But the Winnetka girl, coasting on superb work with her irons, rallied that time to take a 1 up lead by the luncheon intermission.

Again Miss Foster paraded ahead, evening the match on the 19th and winning the 21st, 22d, and 24th to go 3 up. The Winnetka girl took the 25th and they halved the rest to the turn to give Miss Foster a 2 up lead with nine holes remaining.

Then Miss Ingram put on her winning rally, capturing the 28th and 29th to square the match and taking the lead with her birdie two on the 31st. After that she matched Miss Foster stroke for stroke the rest of the way to triumph.

COACH OF IRISH ELEVEN JOINS NORTON, STINER

Name 4th Member Tomorrow.

Musicians!

COLLEGE musicians and former members of the All-Star band residing in the Chicago district are invited to participate in the ceremony between the halves of the College All-Stars-Chicago Bears game in Soldiers' field on Aug. 28. A limited number of senior high school musicians also will be accepted. Musicians should write G. Cliffe Balnum, band director, Fisk hall, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

BY ARCH WARD.

Frank Leahy, coach of Notre Dame's undefeated 1941 eleven, will serve as midwestern representative on the All-Star football staff. He is the third coach to accept appointment. Homer Norton of Texas A. & M. and Lon Stiner of Oregon State are the others. The head coach will be announced tomorrow.

"I am looking forward to my days with the All-Stars as one of the great experiences of my life," Leahy said in accepting THE TRIBUNE'S invitation. "It must be something just to look at that many brilliant players."

To Leahy and his associates will go the assignment of preparing the College All-Amerians, chosen by the nation's fans in a coast to coast poll, for their game with the mighty Chicago Bears, on Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28.

Means More This Year.

"The All-Star game is the best organized sporting event in the United States, as far as I know," Leahy said. "There isn't a coach in America who wouldn't jump at the chance to participate. The game this year has special significance, since it will raise more than $150,000 for army and navy relief. I'll be a day or two late in reaching the Evanston training camp because of a coaching school commitment in Texas, but when I arrive I'll be ready to pitch."

Leahy, as a head coach, has one of the most successful records of his time. His 1939 Boston college team won nine of its 10 regular games, losing only to Florida, 7 to 0. It later dropped a postseason game to Clemson, 6 to 3. His 1940 Boston college eleven won all of its 10 regular games and carried on to a 19 to 13 victory over Tennessee in the Sugar bowl.

First Irish Team Is Unbeaten.

Called back to his alma mater when Elmer Layden resigned to become commissioner of the National Football league, Leahy turned in an undefeated season at Notre Dame last fall. The Irish whipped Arizona, Indiana, Georgia Tech, Carnegie Tech, Illinois, Navy, Northwestern, and Southern California and were held to a scoreless tie by the Army.

Leahy, who was graduated from Notre Dame in 1931 with a bachelor of science degree, was a member of the late Knute Rockne's undefeated 1929 and 1930 teams, altho injuries forced him out of the lineup most of his senior year. Rockne called him one of the most courageous players he ever coached.

Coached at Georgetown First.

One of eight children, Leahy lived in Winner, S. D., until he was 16 years old. His family then moved to Omaha, where he distinguished himself in high school football and boxing. After his graduation from Notre Dame he went to Georgetown university as a line coach. Later he joined Jimmy Crowley at Michigan State and moved to Fordham with Crowley in 1933. He remained there until he was appointed head coach at Boston college in 1939.

STEP BY SCORES IN ARLINGTON'S FEATURE PURSE

Brooks Brings Him Up from Last Place.

Step By, a 7 year old gelding owned by W. A. Osborne, made a strong finish after a slow start to win the Black Gold purse, main event on yesterday's program at Arlington Park. Steve Brooks brought him from last place in the field of five and landed him on the finish line with the margin of a nose to spare over Lum's Pride. Equitable was third, a nose farther back.

Step By was the 9 to 5 favorite in the betting, returning $5.80, $3.80, and $3.00 across the board. He ran the mile in 1:38 3-5, sharp time for the prevailing track conditions.

Close All the Way.

Wishing and Lum's Pride engaged in a head and head duel down the back stretch, with Happy Pilot and Equitable going side by side several lengths behind them. Meanwhile Step By was bringing up the rear, six lengths farther back.

On the turn, the first four horses bunched up and were neck and neck approaching the stretch. Step By was improving his position and was ready to start moving once they were straightened out.

Raise $9,000 for USO.

Sponsors of the Victory dinner which was held Thursday night in the Egyptian room at Arlington Park announced yesterday that $9,000 had been raised for the USO during the affair. Approximately 900 attended at $5 a plate.

A feature of the evening was the auctioning off of the silks worn by Eddie Arcaro in his victory aboard Shut Out in last Saturday's Classic stakes. These brought $900. The colors worn by Les Balaski in winning the Arlington Futurity on John Marsch's Occupation went for $250. A dinner table cloth covered with the signatures of turf celebrities brought $130. Jockey Freddie Farrell bought Arcaro's boots for $100. Racing plates of Alsab and Occupation also were auctioned. Passing the hat brought in another $800.

LARDNER AND DERNEHL REACH WISCONSIN FINAL

Milwaukee, Wis., July 31 (AP).—Lyn Lardner of Oconomowoc, three time champion, will meet Bobby Dernehl of the North Shore club, Milwaukee, in the 36 hole finel for the Wisconsin amateur golf championship tomorrow.

Dernehl reached the final with a 6 and 4 victory over Wallie Glaub of Curry park, Milwaukee, and Lardner gained the title round by defeating John Hayes of Appleton, 1 up, on the 39th hole in today's semi-finals.

All even on the 38th, Larned took the last preliminary step toward the title he held in 1932, 1938, and 1940, by sinking a 30 foot putt for a birdie on the 39th.

Herbert Dernehl, father of Bobby, became a finalist in the intermediate division by eliminating Jack Lord of Milwaukee, 3 and 1. He will meet Dr. M. E. Ross of Beloit, who downed Walter Knoblauch of Milwaukee, 2 and 1. Dr. S. R. Mitchell of Milwaukee will meet George Perring of Beloit for the senior crown.

Whirlaway to Head Field of 9 in Handicap

equally strong favorite but lost to Attention in the Classic of 1941. Arcaro wasn't aboard him on that occasion. This time Whirlaway's handlers are convinced that he'll give a performance that will make the Arlington fans forget that affair of last season.

Shoot for $500,000.

Following the Arlington handicap, Whirlaway will be shipped to Saratoga to continue his campaign, his handlers expecting him to pass the $500,000 mark before long. At the eastern track he is eligible for a number of stakes including the Whitney, the Wilson, and the Saratoga cup. He is scheduled to be brought back to Chicago for the running of the $25,000 Washington Park handicap on Labor day.

Today's presentation of the Arlington Park handicap marks the return of this event to the proportions of a major stake. In recent years it has fluctuated in value from $5,000 to $7,500 after having been one of the big money events a decade ago. The Arlington Park management decided that the time had come to move it up again, giving the coördinated meetings two big handicaps—one at Arlington and one at Washington Park.

In addition to Valdina Orphan and With Regards, the field for the Victory handicap includes Thumbs Up, Anticlimax, Crosstide, Equinox, and Aletern.

Orphan vs. With Regards.

In two previous encounters during the present meeting, With Regards and Valdina Orphan have put on brilliant duels. In the Classic Trial at a mile, With Regards was the winner by a nose. Then in the Classic they made the pace together until half way around the last turn, where the Orphan went to the front only to give way subsequently to Shut Out in the last furlong.

Valdina Orphan, at 126 pounds, is conceding With Regards 12 pounds and the race is a furlong shorter than the Classic so the struggle between these two is expected to be close. Among the others, Thumbs Up, owned by Louis B. Mayer, has been running very well. He scored handily in a tuneup event earlier in the week. He is getting into today's race with only 106 pounds.

Blue Delight Seeks Third Victory.

In the Cleopatra stakes, Blue Delight, owned by John Marsch of Chicago, will attempt to continue her supremacy over the best fillies and mares of the west. She won the Matron stakes earlier in the meeting. As a juvenile she won the Lassie stakes, thus accounting for the two major stakes for her sex that Arlington presents.

Among her rivals today will be Waygal, Montsin, Silvestra, All Lizzie, Emolument, Flying Streak, and other fast performers.

The final program also will be marked by a distance race of two and one-sixteenth miles over the turf course, called the Endurance test.

Chicago racing will move to Washington Park Monday for a meeting running until Labor day.

The field for the Victory handicap follows in order of post position:

Horse—	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
Thumbs Up	106	F. A. Smith	7-1
With Regards	114	No boy	2-1

Dethrones Mrs. Moore in 36 Hole Final.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Homecomings being the vogue in recent Chicago competitive golf, Mrs. Lillian Zech Krauss yesterday celebrated hers by winning the women's Cook County Victory championship with a 1 up margin over Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Navajo Fields in the 36 hole final match in Jackson park.

Mrs. Krauss had not competed in the tournament since 1930, when she not only won the Cook county title, but the state and city championships as well. And yesterday, she found the going as tough as two other homecomers, Byron Nelson and Bud Ward, did last week at her home club, Tam o' Shanter, where Nelson was forced into a Monday play-off before he could win his second Tam o' Shanter Open, and where Ward, 1939 winner of the National Amateur here, had to battle Earl Stewart, Mike Stolarik, and Wilf Wehrle before he could take the All-American Amateur last Saturday.

Battle All the Way.

Mrs. Krauss had a fight all the way with Mrs. Moore. The comely blonde from Navajo Fields has one of the best records in public park history. She was runner-up for the 1938 and 1940 county crowns, and captured those of 1939 and last year. Yesterday she won the first two holes of each 18. They were even at the ninth and 18th and Mrs. Moore held a 1 up advantage going into the finishing nine. The Tam o' Shanter veteran then came back to take 1 up margin which her opponent canceled with a win at the 34th. A bunker on the next sent Mrs. Moore 1 down on the last tee and they halved the 18th in par 4s.

The cards for the match follow:

MORNING ROUND.

Par—Out	444	443	434—34
Mrs. Krauss—Out	554	552	435—38
Mrs. Moore—Out	444	563	534—38

Match is even.

Par—In	444	355	434—36—70
Mrs. Krauss—In	454	466	544—42—80
Mrs. Moore—In	454	465	554—42—80

Match is even.

AFTERNOON ROUND.

Par—Out	444	443	434—34
Mrs. Krauss—Out	655	564	535—44
Mrs. Moore—Out	545	555	635—43

Mrs. Moore leads, 1 up.

Par—In	444	355	434—36—70
Mrs. Krauss—In	455	355	534—39—83
Mrs. Moore—In	555	365	444—41—84

Mrs. Krauss wins, 1 up.

Both were short at the morning first, but Mrs. Moore got down with one putt, and was two up after the second, where Mrs. Krauss betrayed symptoms of an attack of three putting. A five footer, however, earned her a deuce at the sixth, after Mrs. Moore had surrendered the fifth to the shrubbery. The latter then took three shots to reach the seventh green, but it was square after Mrs. Krauss three putted the ninth. They halved the next five holes, then Mrs. Krauss missed two swings in the 15th fairway, regaining it at No. 7, where Mrs. Moore was short. The Tam o' Shanter campaigner was bunkered at the 18th, but exploded out within two feet for a half.

Mrs. Moore Takes Lead.

Mrs. Moore won the first two holes of the afternoon round when her opponent three putted the 19th and was short at the 20th. Mrs. Krauss then took three on the 23d green, but the Navajo Fields golfer duplicated that error on the 24th and 25th and was only one up at the turn. They exchanged the 28th and 29th by three putting.

Mrs. Krauss then holed a 15 foot putt for a winning par at the 560 yard 32d, but three putted the 34th. Mrs. Moore's visit to a trap at the 35th ultimately cost her that hole and the match, since both got fours on the home green.

BROWNS DEFEAT YANKS, 9-8; THEN SUFFER 8-0 LOSS

Spud Chandler Yields Three Hits.

St. Louis, Mo., July 31 (AP).—Spurgeon [Spud] Chandler was at his best tonight as he let the Browns down with three hits and his team mates did the rest to give the Yankees an 8 to 0 shut out and an even break in a combination twilight-night double header. The Browns had taken a 9 to 8 victory in the opener by beating the Yankees at their own slugging game.

The world champions teed off on Denny Galehouse in the second inning of the night game and before Bob Muncrief could be called in to get them out they had collected six runs, including a home run by Charley Keller.

Muncrief held the Yanks in check until the seventh inning when Joe Gordon blasted a home run to account for the other two runs. Scores:

BOSTON NIPS TIGERS, 7-6.

Detroit, Mich., July 31 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox squelched a ninth inning Detroit uprising after Charley Gehringer had delivered a two run pinch home run and nosed out the Tigers today, 7 to 6, in the opener of a four game series.

Gehringer's home run blasted Tex Hughson from the mound and brought in Relief Hurler Bill Butland, who permitted only one hit the rest of the inning, a single to Pinky Higgins. Hughson, however, received credit for the victory, his 12th against three losses.

The Red Sox got 12 hits—three less than the Tigers—but two of the blows were home runs. Tony Lupien hit his third of the year in the fourth and Ted Williams got his 23d in the fifth.

Rudy York was taken out of the Detroit lineup because of an infected burn on a finger of his gloved hand. His place at first base was filled by Rip Radcliff. York expects to return to the lineup tomorrow.

Jimmy Bloodworth also was missing from today's lineup. Manager Del Baker said Bloodworth was taken out to give him a rest. Rog Cramer returned to his old post in center field and Barney McCosky moved over to left.

Thompson and Reds Win, 5-2, Over Braves

Boston, Mass., July 31 (AP).—Gene [Junior] Thompson threw a three hit game at the Boston Braves to give the Cincinnati Reds a 5 to 2 decision and the opening portion of a four game week-end series today.

Thompson allowed only two hits, one a scratch single, and held the Braves scoreless for eight innings. When he showed signs of weakening in the ninth Joe Beggs came to his aid after the bases were filled and permitted the Boston team to score its two tallies.

The Reds put the game away in the first two innings, however, when they pushed over three quick runs at the expense of Tom Earley who had been rewarded with the starting assignment after his one hit relief effort over nine full innings last Sunday. Score:

STOCKS REVERSE TREND, BUT RALLY LACKS STRENGTH

Top Prices Shaved at Close in Most Instances.

New York, July 31 (AP).—The stock market reversed its declining trend today as buying support returned for steels, rails, oils, aviation, coppers, motors, and assorted specialties.

Touching off a fairly lively recovery sprint at the start was the Bethlehem Steel dividend declaration and its better than expected first half earnings figures disclosed late yesterday.

Both United States Steel and Bethlehem jumped more than a point in the first hour, and equal gains were sprinkled thru other departments. Activity soon waned, however, and at the finish top marks were reduced in the majority of cases. United States Steel closed up ½ and Bethlehem's first gain was 1⅛.

Average Rises Slightly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 0.2 of a point at 36.4, and on the month showed a net upturn of 1.1 points.

Loew's was a strong spot in the amusements, advancing 1⅜ to a new high since 1939. Others in front included Santa Fe, Great Northern, Chrysler, United States Rubber preferred and common, Anaconda, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, American Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, Standard Oil [N. J.], Texas company, and Western Union.

Transactions on the New York Stock exchange in July totaled 8,373,550 shares compared with 7,466,443 shares in June and 17,872,807 shares in July, 1941.

PACKERS AGREE TO REFUNDS FOR CEILING ERRORS

Overcharges Called 'Unintentional.'

John Holmes declares errors "inevitable."

An extensive investigation by the Chicago regional office of the Office of Price Administration into the meat packing industry's compliance with federal price ceilings in effect since last March yesterday resulted in an agreement by three major Chicago packers to refund any illegal overcharges to meat dealers.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson asserted in Washington that the overcharges appeared for the most part "to be unintentional errors." He acknowledged that the determination of beef, pork, and veal price ceilings by the "Big Three" packers involved a vast number of transactions thru 800 branch houses.

The companies who entered the agreement are Swift & Co., Armour & Co., and Wilson & Co. They agreed to audit sales records of all their branch houses thruout the country to determine what refunds should be made.

Already Making Refunds.

Packing house officials explained that they have been making refunds voluntarily for a month and will merely continue audits already started as a result of dealer complaints.

Packers' spokesmen said federal meat ceilings were exceeded in less than 1 per cent of the transactions with meat dealers and resulted primarily from "human error."

Meat prices to the general public will not be affected, it was explained. Retail price ceilings on meats were established May 18 under the general maximum price regulation and set at the highest level charged by each merchant during last March.

To Finish Checkup by November.

The refunds to the wholesale and retail meat dealers will be automatic and will be made as the audits proceed, Henderson said. Packers expected the checkup to be finished by November.

More favorable profit margins were indicated for dealers who receive refunds. The repayments will result automatically in a somewhat lower price ceiling which the packers will be permitted to charge, thus pruning the dealers' costs.

The difficulty in arriving at the legal price ceiling results from the complicated nature of the price orders which became effective on March 23 for pork and May 11 for beef and veal, packers said. Ceilings vary with each branch house, each customer, each grade, and each cut of meat.

Other Agreements Expected.

The agreement with the three packers was negotiated in Chicago by John C. Weigel, OPA regional director, and Alex Elson, regional attorney. They indicated similar agreements are expected with other packers.

Commenting on the agreement, John Holmes, president of Swift, said:

"It is our policy to observe scrupulously all price schedules and regulations issued by the government. Where many millions of transactions are involved it is inevitable that unintentional errors will occur.

"Since the establishment of OPA price regulations we have been making refunds when errors have been found and will continue to do so voluntarily for any charges in excess of the maximum prices."

George A. Eastwood, president of Armour and company, said "there was bound to be confusion as to the time and method of application" when an entire new system of pricing is imposed on a vast organization.

14 YEAR HOG PRICE RECORD

Pigs, Millions of 'Em, Assure Chops for Fall

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

Some 62 million pigs, born this year and now scampering around on American farms, assure the nation that there will be plenty of baked hams, pork chops, bacon, roasts, and other pork products for the dinner table later this year, live stock men at Chicago's stockyards said yesterday.

Pork may be rather scarce now, but the live stock men said that by midwinter Americans may be asked to eat pork as a "patriotic duty" to avert congestion in the packing houses. By late October highways will be crowded with farmers' trucks carrying pigs to market and by December railroad facilities will be taxed.

Spring Pigs Preferred.

About 45 million of the 62 million pigs were born during April and May and the others arrived in January, February, and March. Farmers raise more pigs in the spring than in the fall because it cuts down the need for housing.

That succulent baked ham, which will grace the festive board of the Saturday night poker club late this year, is now part of one of the millions of young pigs enjoying life on the farm. The life of the pig, tho usually short, is a happy one.

Study the life of one pig on a middle western farm. It was born in April. For the first five or six weeks the pig had nothing to worry about. It was all play with his five or six brothers and sisters and his cousins. Besides milk from his mother it nibbled at grass and partook lightly of special mineralized feed.

For the next seven or eight weeks, or until it was 13 to 14 weeks old, the pig was fed foods to promote the growth of bone and give it a strong body. At the end of this period, which is now in progress, it will weigh about 100 pounds.

Nothing to Do but Eat.

At this weight our future baked ham is allowed to make a pig of himself. All it has to do is to get fat and to do this it is allowed to eat all it can. The growing ration is changed to a fattening ration, chiefly corn.

When the pig is about 6½ months old it will weigh about 225 pounds and will be ready for market. The feeding during the fattening period is in what the farmer calls a "dry lot." The cost of adding the weight above 100 pounds is estimated at 9 or 10 cents a pound in the dry lot and of course the cost is less during the happier earlier days of our big's life.

Some farmers would prefer to hold the pig until it weighs 300 pounds before selling, but the consensus at the yards is that the farmers who sell first before the big rush late this fall will come off best financially.

Offer 115,500 Standard Oil of New Jersey Shares

New York, July 31 (AP).—A block of 115,500 shares of Standard Oil company [N. J.] capital stock was offered today after the stock exchange closed by Dillon, Read & Co. and associates at 37¾, less 70 cents dealer discount. It was understood that 100,000 shares came from the estate of the late Edward S. Harkness.

RETAIL TRADE LAGGING 4 TO 7 PCT. BELOW LEVELS OF YEAR AGO

New York, July 31 (AP).—Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today retail trade during the last week lagged 4 to 7 per cent below the splurge volume of this time last year, altho clearances and special price offerings found shoppers interested.

"Scattered reports of a quickened interest in silverware and jewelry indicated that luxury goods were benefiting more from the rationing restrictions on automobiles, refrigerators, and several other high price articles," the mercantile agency said.

Buying in wholesale markets, the survey found, reflected sluggish retail demand and more cautious inventory policies.

Warm weather spurred retail buying of men's tropical suits and straw hats and of seasonal ready-to-wear.

State Hearing on Car Lines Is Postponed

Over vehement protests by transit lines' attorneys, further hearings before the Illinois Commerce commission on Chicago's 179 million dollar traction merger plan yesterday were postponed to Sept. 15.

The ruling was made by Commission Examiner Leslie E. Salter after most of the all day opening hearing had been spent in a bickering session among transit attorneys, Salter, and William R. Morgan, assistant to Attorney General George F. Barrett.

When Salter announced the postponement of hearings, he asserted that the traction lawyers had shown no sign they were ready to submit their evidence in a proper manner. Most of the evidence they sought to produce yesterday was rejected. After the continuance was announced, Thomas L. Marshall, attorney for the elevated lines, jumped to his feet.

Attorney Urges Speed.

"If that ruling stands I will appeal to the full commission when it meets in Springfield Aug. 19," he told Salter. "We think the commission should approve the entire plan by Aug. 19. It is important to the war effort that this merger be effected promptly so that wasteful duplications of service can be eliminated."

"You can appeal to the commission, of course," Salter replied. "But on the strength of the so-called evidence you have offered today, I don't think you'll be ready to go ahead in an orderly manner before Sept. 15. You had the traction problem for 15 years in the federal court, and now you rush over to the commission and ask us to approve it in three weeks. If you were in such a hurry you might have come a month sooner."

Salter also said that before further hearings, officials of suburbs of Chicago would be allowed time to intervene in the case, if they wish, because the proposed surface-elevated system will serve their communities.

Valuation Issue Raised.

Morgan at one stage said no decision on the plan could be made until the commission determined the surface lines' valuation in the street car rate case which has been continued to Sept. 14.

"If the attorney general persists in that view," Marshall interrupted, "I will inform Federal Judge [Michael L.] Igoe that it is impossible to obtain the commission's approval of thi svital merger."

Marshall had contended that the commission should accept the 179 million dollar value placed on the transit lines by Judge Igoe in approving the merger in April. Morgan replied the commission should not be bound by this value but should make its own finding.

Morgan requested the transit lawyers to prepare for submission evidence on rates of fare to be charged by the new company, prospective earnings, methods of financing improvements, and other details.

Oil Use Up Despite Rationing; New Yorker Asks Midwest Cut

Six Month Figures

Demand for domestic petroleum, including exports, increased nearly 3 per cent during the first six months of 1942, compared with the corresponding period last year, despite gasoline rationing in the eastern states and nation-wide tire restrictions, the Oil and Gas Journal said yesterday in its semiannual review.

The dislocation of transportation caused by inability to maintain coastwise tanker movement was termed one of the most significant developments during the first half of this year.

Crude oil reserves discovered in new fields and proven by extensions of older pools totaled 367,870,000 barrels in the six month period, the publication found.

Total Reserves Decline.

Total new oil reserves proven dropped 311,064,000 barrels short of balancing production, which amounted to 678,934,000 barrels, statistics showed.

The oil industry completed 9,392 wells during the first six months, of which 5,628 were oil wells, 997 gas wells, and 2,769 dry holes, the journal reported. In the corresponding 1941 period, total completions of 14,253 wells were divided among 9,724 oil, 1,251 gas, and 3,278 failures.

Illinois accounted for 8.4 per cent of crude withdrawn, and 2.9 per cent of proven reserves.

Wants Early Action

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—Extension of restrictions on use of fuel oil and gasoline into Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan to permit a greater flow of fuel oil into the Atlantic coast states was urged today before a special house committee by Walter P. Hedden, director of port development of the Port of New York authority.

Hedden said it would be a tragedy if fuel oil supplies fell short of minimum needs, and that "it is not too much to ask" this section of the country to "assume its part in the curtailment."

Short Period Suggested.

Extension of rationing, he suggested, might only be necessary until Dec. 1, by which time additional supplies could be brought into the east.

The rationing area, he told the committee, which is trying to clarify the fuel oil, gasoline, and rubber problem in the 17 Atlantic coast states, might even have to be extended to Wisconsin and other central portions of the country. He suggested Aug. 15 as the deadline for the start of rationing if the east coast were to be helped.

Hedden said a "price bottleneck," causing losses to eastern distributors, and not a "transportation bottleneck," is largely preventing the flow of oil to the east.

Senators Hear Pension Rules in Tax Bill Hit

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—Richard D. Sturtevant of Barrington, Ill., told the senate finance committee today that a provision of the new revenue bill tightening restrictions on pension trusts would cause many businesses to pay "highly inflationary" cash bonuses.

Representing the Jewel Tea company, Sturtevant asserted that a section of the house approved measure requiring 70 per cent employé participation in pension trusts set up by corporations would destroy incentive profit sharing plans.

He also complained that it was difficult to interpret a provision barring discrimination as between employés in the payment of pensions, a section Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] said might prevent a higher paid worker from receiving more benefits than a lower paid worker.

Designed to End Dodging.

These restrictions were written into the bill by the house ways and means committee at the treasury's suggestion to prevent excessive tax-free distribution of profits thru pension trusts.

Conceding that this was a desirable objective, Sturtevant predicted, however, that the new provision would cause business firms to pay cash bonuses instead of placing a comparable amount in a trust for profit sharing payments when the employé retired.

Henry S. Beers of Hartford, Conn., representing the Association of Life Insurance Company Presidents, urged that the committee make it clear in the law that stock bonus, pension, or profit sharing plans should not be considered discriminatory because they were geared to the rate of wages.

Asks Exclusion of Some.

He urged also an amendment which would permit the exclusion from such plans of employés covered by federal social security benefits.

Eugene M. Klein of Cleveland, O., a pension consultant, advocated an increase in the amount of business firms could charge off as deductible tax expense as payments to pension funds. The bill would limit such deductions to 5 per cent of the aggregate of employés' salaries.

Joseph E. Bright of Buffalo, N. Y., an estate analyst, asserted that if pension plans were killed, a demand for higher wages was likely to arise.

PULLMAN SETS PEAK FOR TROOP TRAFFIC IN JUNE

The Pullman company reported yesterday it carried an all-time number of troops and this year's peak in civilian travel during June.

A total of 565,000 soldiers, sailors, and marines was transported in organized movements during the month, the company said, bringing the total for the first six months of the year to more than 3 million. The June increase over the average for the preceding five months was 11 per cent. Not included in the figures were the number of service men traveling alone on furloughs or inductees reporting to camps for service.

Civilian travel in Pullmans is running more than 30 per cent ahead of last year, the company said.

Reports Credit Collections Improved in Last Quarter

Credit conditions have improved materially within the last three months, Harvey T. Hill, secretary of the Chicago Association of Credit Men, said yesterday. Collections were designated "good" in 78.5 per cent of the reports made to the association on July conditions, he said, terming this a "significant" increase over the 71.6 per cent in this classification in May.

JUNE NONFARM EMPLOYMENT AT ALL TIME RECORD

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins said today that nonagricultural employment increased 152,000 between mid-May and mid-June to 41,415,000, the highest level on record. The June total exceeded the previous peak [December, 1941] by 333,000, and the June, 1941, level by 1,940,000.

Miss Perkins said the conversion of the automobile industry to war work was "very remarkable" and had been accomplished much more rapidly than expected. The industry showed an employment gain of 5.2 per cent or 18,100 workers between mid-May and mid-June.

Factory employment increased 100,000 during the month, the war industries accounting for most of the increase. Employment in government service also continued to increase sharply.

EDISON PROFITS ARE SLASHED BY RISING TAX BILL

Revenue Gain More Than Absorbed.

Charles Y. Freeman.

The effect of mounting federal taxes on the earnings of public utility systems was graphically portrayed yesterday in a report of the Commonwealth Edison company which, as one of the nation's major systems, is feeling the full weight of the war financing burden upon the industry.

Indicated net earnings for the second quarter of the year, after tax adjustments, fell to the lowest level for any parallel period since 1938. The sum was $4,704,710, equal to 37 cents a share, compared with adjusted earnings of $6,372,551, or 50 cents a share, in the three months ended with June, 1941.

Six Month Net Under 10 Million.

The report, mailed shareholders by Charles Y. Freeman, chairman, showed earnings of $9,978,151, equal to 78 cents a share, for the first six months of 1942, against an adjusted figure of $13,493,311 a year ago, or $1.06 a share.

Earnings for the 1942 period were figured on the basis of the steeply increased tax rates provided in the bill passed by the house and pending in the senate. Earnings for the 1941 period—reported a year ago at $16,833,311—were charged $3,340,000 in additional federal taxes to cover higher rates provided in the 1941 revenue act.

The heavier tax load counteracted the influence of increased sales during the six months. Sales of electricity totaled 4,313,846,592 kilowatt hours, an increase of 11.2 per cent in volume, altho added costs held the boost in revenues down to 5.9 per cent. Sales of gas totaled 145,766,689 therms, 12.8 per cent more than a year ago, but the company was able to increase its gas revenues by only 4.6 per cent.

Taxes Rise 7 Million.

Taxes of various types cost the company $24,558,892 during the six months, against $17,199,850 a year ago, and the added burden was largely responsible for preventing the higher operating revenues—$86,731,582 against $82,002,080—from being carried down into net earnings.

Profit of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., Chicago machinery manufacturer, dropped to $1,263,220 for the six months ended June 30 from $1,382,499 in the corresponding half of 1941. The net income was equal to $2.11 a common share, compared with $2.30.

The company, which reserved $7,214,000 for taxes, said the income is subject to the further possibility of change created by a federal law under which contractors can be compelled to renegotiate government contracts up to three years after the end of the war.

[Additional earnings reports on page 22.]

Prudent War Financing Urged to Protect Consumer's Dollar

The United States will emerge from this war victorious and still the greatest industrial and financial nation in the world, but care must be exercised in raising the billions needed in increasing amounts to pay for defeating the axis powers, Clifford S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, asserted yesterday.

The severe inflation which cut the dollar's purchasing power almost in half after the first World war must be avoided this time, he told 80 members of the United States Treasury Victory Fund committee at a luncheon in the Chicago club.

Inflation dangers inherent in financing the war will be minimized, he said, if buying power crying for goods available only in limited quantities is siphoned off thru taxes and purchase of war bonds and other government securities.

Volunteers to Press Sales.

The Chicago area group of financial and business men Young addressed have volunteered to press the sale of government securities other than war bonds to corporations, individuals, trusts, and other agencies having surplus funds.

Other groups are handling the sale of war bonds. The fund committee, of which Young is chairman, has designed a program intended to minimize the inflation of bank credit thru the sale of securities to nonbank investors.

Methods of raising the war billions are of utmost concern in the Chicago district because this area is accounting for an increasingly large proportion of national war production, Young said.

Bank Deposits to Hold.

Young expressed the conviction that banks will not lose deposits to any appreciable degree thru the purchase of government securities by their depositors, asserting experience in the last war supported his view.

Top 90 Pct. of Quota

New York, July 31 [Special].—Sales of war savings bonds in July were in excess of 90 per cent of the billion dollar quota set for the month by the United States treasury, according to the monthly review of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, issued today. June sales totaled 640 million dollars. The July total of over 900 million was exceeded only in January of this year after the attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7.

Treasury Will Offer 2 Types of Securities

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—The treasury announced tonight that it would undertake two special methods of war financing next week.

On Monday, and continuing for an indefinite period, it will reopen the subscription list for 2½ per cent, 20 to 25 year bonds, of which $880,000,000 were sold in May.

Later in the week, the treasury will offer for sale 1½ billion dollars of certificates of indebtedness. Further details of this issue will be made public next week.

All subscriptions for the 2½ per cent bonds will be filled in full. When first offered in May, the treasury gave investors about two weeks to file requests.

This type of bond cannot be bought or owned by banks, and is designed especially for insurance companies, trust companies, business corporations and large individual investors.

City Announces 5 Million Tax Warrant Sale to Banks

City Controler Robert B. Upham announced yesterday that he had sold 5 million dollars of 1942 corporate tax anticipation warrants to the six large loop banks. The warrants will pay 1¼ per cent interest.

101 FIRMS IN CHICAGO AREA SHARE BILLION OF ARMS CONTRACTS

More than a billion dollars of contracts were awarded by the government to 101 Chicago area companies for armament purposes in the year ended June 30, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said yesterday. The companies were those receiving war contracts of a million dollars or more each.

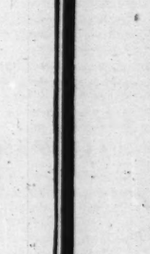
In the first year of the war production program, closed 12 months ago, there were only 66 Chicago area concerns in the million dollar class, with total contracts in excess of a half billion dollars, he said.

In both instances, Lyon said, the figures represent prime contracts and do not include any of the larger subcontracts placed with Chicago area concerns. Nor do they take into consideration the more than 5,600 other prime contracts placed in the area since June 30, 1940, with approximately 1,400 other companies whose individual assignments fell short of the million dollar category.

ARNOLD OFFERS PLAN TO BLOCK PATENT ABUSES

Says Monopoly Hurt War Progress.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Thurman Arnold.

Washington, D. C., July 31.—A measure to correct present patent abuses which have disastrously affected the war effort was presented to a senate committee today by Assistant Attorney General Thurman W. Arnold.

The committee, Arnold noted, has learned thru its investigations that the production and distribution of vital elements such as magnesium, zinc, rubber, aviation gasoline, beryllium, titanium, electrical equipment, plastics, dyestuffs, tungsten, carbide, and a variety of other products necessary for the war program have been seriously impeded and in some cases totally blocked by patent restrictions.

Would Limit Patents.

He offered, therefore, a bill amending the patent law. It provides that any use of a patent which has the effect of unreasonably limiting the supply of any article moving in interstate commerce is declared to be illegal.

"The effect of this provision," said Arnold, "is to subject the patent privilege to the same penalties and hazards which now curb the use of every other privilege of combination or limited monopoly.

"No privilege has ever been subjected to such abuse by great corporate rackets as the patent privilege. There is nothing wrong with the fundamental principle of our patent laws. The idea of protecting inventors and those who invest in invention furthers a just purpose designed by the Constitution 'to promote the progress of science and the

FIGHT RENEWED ON WISCONSIN'S TRUCKING BANS

McCarron Assails Jones' Attack as Alibi.

The battle between Illinois truckers and the state of Wisconsin over full reciprocity for the duration of the war for truckers engaged in transporting war materials was resumed yesterday by Walter E. McCarron, general manager of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators' association. McCarron assailed the recent charge made by Hugh M. Jones, Wisconsin motor vehicle department commissioner, that Illinois operators were looking out only for their own interests.

"The state of Wisconsin has offered an 'all-out' alibi as a reply to the request of Illinois truck operators for full reciprocity, as pledged by governors of the 48 states at a conference in Washington, and is begging the issue," McCarron said.

"The defense offered by Jones is that Wisconsin is maintaining and will maintain reciprocity, when certain conditions are complied with. There should be no conditions to the free flow of war materials for the duration of the war. Requested reciprocity is a temporary measure designed to remove a formidable barrier to the unobstructed movement of commerce. In times of war, national interest should be paramount."

Objectives Recalled.

He recalled that the governors' conference, which was called by the President and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, sought the elimination of trade barriers, including license fees, mileage taxes, port of entry and other fees.

"In reading Hugh Jones' letter," he said, "one would be led to believe that a request for reciprocity for the duration of the war, in order to facilitate the movement of war goods, was scandalous. We charge that a request for reciprocity, especially by the responsible heads of our government, the men who are running this war, should be respected without any 'clever' conditions.

"Being open and above aboard instead of covering up behind a smoke screen of insinuations is the American way of life. Wisconsin citizens are just as much interested in the defeat of the axis powers as are the people of Illinois."

"The mechanism employed by [Hugh] Jones," he continued, "in setting up his conditions of reciprocity shows his utter lack of sincerity. He has stated that reciprocity is granted [1] where the load is transported under government seal, [2] where it is consigned to or from a division of the government, or [3] when the material is vital defense material, and the carrier is not a regular operator in Wisconsin.

Most War Goods Excluded.

"Jones knows that less than 10 per cent of the war material shipments moved by motor truck falls in the first two classes. The remaining 90 per cent of war goods is not moved on a government bill of lading and not going to or from a division of the government, and is moved by regular operators.

"His definition of reciprocity virtually eliminates from reciprocal treatment almost 90 per cent of the war material consigned to Wisconsin factories," he said.

"There can be no two sides in this matter. The only side any self-respecting American citizen can and should take is the American side, which is the elimination of all barriers which handicap our war effort," he asserted.

ASSERTS PATENT BILL IS THREAT TO WAR EFFORT

Enactment of the patent legislation pending in the United States senate will curb industrial research and jeopardize America's war effort, James D. Cunningham, chairman of the patent committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, contended yesterday.

He said that under the present patent system the government is free at any time to use any patented article or process, regardless of interest or ownership.

Recalling that President Roosevelt has appointed the National Patent planning commission to make a comprehensive survey of the patent system to determine if it is providing the maximum service in encouraging inventions and if its efficiency for that purpose can be increased, Cunningham said his committee believes sponsors of the new legislation should wait until the commission has completed its study and submitted recommendations.

Capt. James Rauen.

James Rauen, former general manager of reservations for United Air Lines, has been commissioned a captain in the army air forces, it was announced yesterday. Capt. Rauen, on leave from United, is serving in the air transport command.

The appointment of Edmund H. Eitel as WPB regional priorities manager with supervisory authority in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Iowa, is announced. Eitel will have offices in Chicago.

Alfred J. Borah, chairman of the Illinois Industrial Health and Safety commission, announced the appointment of an advisory committee of 14 members to aid the commission in establishing new safety rules to protect war industry workers. ARNOLD SUBMITS BILL TO PREVENT PATENT ABUSES useful arts' by securing to inventors the exclusive right to their inventions for a limited time."

But combinations of companies have been able to wage a "patent blitzkrieg," Arnold noted. Obtaining the patent to an invention, he said, they wage war against other companies even tho their patent is shaky. They employ an army of counsel which sues customers of weaker concerns, he asserted, noting that banks will not lend money while infringement suits are threatened.

This "patent blitzkrieg," he declared, is found in many industries, including radio, chemicals, metals, optical, and electrical goods.

There is also, he told the committee, the "umbrella patent" which covers the "idea" of an invention. The most famous of this type was the old Selden patent which covered the "idea" of an automobile. For a time it blocked development of the automobile industry. Henry Ford was one of those excluded and it was only his persistence and financial ability, Arnold said, that enabled him to break the ring.

A 'Bottleneck Patent' Too.

There is also the "bottleneck patent," Arnold testified, where a man invents a gadget necessary for the efficient operation of an entire industry. No one wants to prevent such a man from making all the money he pleases, he told the committee, unless in time of war he acts as a dog in the manger in holding up the technique of the industry.

He cited the hearing on the Dzus patent on a small screw, necessary to complete an airplane. The owner refused to license any competitor to make them.

"The supply got short," he told the committee. "Airplanes were held up on assembly lines. All Dzus would do was to give temporary licenses, not to competitors but to his customers. His position under present law was strong enough actually to hold up assembly lines in time of war.

Domination Opposed.

"This is the kind of thing that no sensible man ought to tolerate. Struggling inventors ought to get protection but not domination of any commodity."

International patent cartels have been built up under the cloak of secrecy, Arnold said. His bill would necessitate disclosure and immediate government action regarding such cartels. If such agreements peril the war program, the government would have the right of cancelling such patent rights under the measure.

"We have seen our country weakened, our resources withheld from us, our productive capacity thwarted, because of our failure in the past to correct the misuse of our patent system," he concluded. "The time to strike and strike hard is now."

All Shellac Output Placed Under Allocation Control

Washington, D. C., July 31 (AP).—The government placed all shellac under complete allocation control today virtually halting civilian use and prefacing a further decrease in the amount of shellac available for phonograph record production. The precise amount of reduction for phonograph record producers "cannot be predicted at this time," WPB said.

GROCERY CLERKS' UNION ROW SHUTS TWO WAR PLANTS

Action at Pontiac, Mich., Termed Near Treason.

Pontiac, Mich., July 31 [Special].—Two war production plants were closed for several hours today by a CIO-AFL jurisdictional squabble of grocery clerks whose interference with factories not concerned in their dispute was described by one war plant official as "more than a national disgrace—it approaches treason."

Settlement of the dispute was announced by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner in Detroit after C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors corporation, operator of one of the closed plants, had sent protesting telegrams to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Donald M. Nelson, chief of the War Production board, and members of the War Labor board.

Agree to Arbitration.

The governor said both of the CIO and AFL grocery clerks' unions had agreed to submit their organizational dispute to arbitration and in the meantime to cease all interference with war production, to withdraw all pickets and to permit the movement of foodstuffs to Pontiac stores.

CIO pickets halted war production at the big Pontiac Motor division of General Motors by establishing picket lines at all entrances at 7 a. m. and turning away workers. This afternoon, members of the United Rubber Workers [CIO], employed on war production at the Baldwin Rubber company plant, notified the management they were walking out in sympathy with the CIO grocery clerks.

The jurisdictional quarrel also resulted in closing nearly 100 independent food stores in Pontiac, which locked their doors in sympathy with the CIO workers with whom most of these stores have contracts, or because of exhausted supplies.

Food Deliveries Halted.

For several days members of the Retail Clerks' union [AFL] had picketed more than 100 food stores in efforts to organize employés, and had enlisted the aid of the AFL teamsters' union to withhold food deliveries from any store which did not have an AFL contract.

The aim of the CIO pickets from the United Wholesale, Retail and Department Store Employés' union in closing the General Motors war plant, their leaders said, was to get all Pontiac workers to join a parade to convince authorities that the AFL blockade of food deliveries should be lifted.

A threat to call a state-wide AFL trucking tieup was made this afternoon by Daniel F. Keating, business agent for the AFL teamsters' union, when he was taken into custody with 11 other persons as a result of street fighting with CIO men.

INCREASE IN HOG SUPPLY BRINGS PRICE DECLINES

A moderate increase in the marketing of hogs yesterday was sufficient to reverse the higher trend in the market at the Chicago stockyards. Prices declined 10 to 25 cents per hundred pounds to close at their lowest in three days. The average for the session fell 20 cents, to $14.10.

Steady to strong prices prevailed for most fat lambs. Most cattle sold within a range of $12.50 to $14.

WPB AID WARNS PRODUCTION IS NOT FINAL GOAL

'Wasteful' to Pile Up Idle Stocks of Goods.

John Martin, deputy director in charge of policy in the priorities administration of the War Production board, told manufacturers yesterday that their goal should not be production itself, but production of essential articles that can be put to effective use in the war. He said it is dangerous and wasteful to turn out goods and articles that pile up and remain idle.

Martain spoke at the closing session of a three day conference on the new priorities system in the Palmer House, sposored by the WPB and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Ease to Hide Behind Figures.

Martin likened production to the Maginot line in that "it doesn't go all the way." Altho production in the war is a tremendous credit to the nation, he asserted, "it is easy to hide behind impressive figures." He said it is a simple matter to achieve unbalanced production, but added that production cannot be an effective offensive weapon unless it is governed by schedule.

The basic aim of the WPB, Martin said, is controling materials at the level of the manufacturer.

"Under the production requirement plan, the manufacturer will give his estimate of what he needs, not what Washington thinks it should be," the WPB official said. "The WPB is past the 'hit or miss' stage, and the importance of plans and schedules made by practical business men in real factories is recognized."

Authority Broadened.

Martin disclosed that the Chicago priorities office soon will announce its authority to issue orders on emergency repairs. He said more emphasis has been placed upon decentralization and regional offices, adding "there has been a lot of political pressure on spreading out into the states."

Edward F. Stegen, Chicago regional rationing executive of the Office of Price administration, predicted that present sugar allotments under the rationing system probably will be reduced in the near future because of shipping losses and production conditions in certain areas. He said the sugar shortage is real and soon may become more acute.

Stegen, however, said that by fall the OPA hopes to be able to assure every one sufficient sugar for canning needs.

In answer to a question from the audience, Sparks E. Bonnett, Chicago regional tire rationing representative of the OPA, said that to be eligible for recapped or retreaded tires, civilian defense and Red Cross workers must show that their automobiles are used entirely for war work.

COAL COMPANY.

Has the Island Creek Coal company had a good earning record over a period of years. Any information you have on this company will be appreciated.—J. L.

Answer: For quality, compactness, and availability of deposits, this company ranks high in the coal producing industry. Production costs have been kept low to a large extent as a result of these natural advantages.

A large part of sales are made directly to industrial consumers and railroads, tho sales for household heating purposes are substantial and stable. Bulk of output is shipped to midwestern industrial areas, with some sales made along the Atlantic seaboard.

The company was organized in Maine in 1910 to acquire securities of the United States Coal and Oil company. Capitalization at the end of 1941 was 593,865 shares of $1 par common outstanding, and 25,269 shares of $1 par $6 preferred. A record of recent financial results follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Dividends (common.)
1941	$16,579,345	$1,996,879	$2.50
1940	15,360,412	2,317,762	3.00
1939	12,669,488	1,580,151	2.00
1938	8,559,245	1,016,841	2.00
1937	11,074,616	1,527,766	2.00.

Mining properties of the company are located in West Virginia. Shares are listed on the New York Stock exchange and Boston Stock exchange. Net income in the first quarter this year was $397,970, compared with $406,371 in the same 1941 period. Two 50 cent dividends have been paid this year.

INHERITANCE.

I recently received a share of more than $5,000 in the estate of a late uncle. When I make out my 1942 income tax returns, will I have to pay an income tax on my inheritance?—K. R. W.

Answer: Under the present internal revenue act, you do not have to pay income tax on an inheritance. The inheritance must be scheduled on your returns, however. Any income you receive from the bequest after transfer to you, such as interest and dividends, is subject to an income tax.

ARREARAGE.

What does arrearage on American Woolen company 7 per cent preferred shares amount to?—R. W.

Answer: After payment of a $2 dividend on the 7 per cent preferred stock of American Woolen company on Aug. 12, accumulations will be $76 a share.

ASSERTS SENATE BILL WOULD KILL MANY CONCERNS

Manufacturers' Agent Raps Fee Ban.

Thousands of small manufacturers and manufacturers' agents will be put out of business or seriously crippled if congress enacts legislatior banning service fees on government war contracts, such agents in Chicago warned yesterday. They also said it would cripple the war effort by stopping servicing of government equipment.

J. W. Murphy, head of the J. W. Murphy company, 431 South Dearborn street, told how the hundreds of manufacturers' agents in the city would be affected. He said that his company—in business 23 years—represents six instrument manufacturers, employs 70 persons and services highly technical equipment sold thruout the Chicago territory.

Aimed at Few; Hits Many.

He explained that a bill before the senate [one already has been passed by the house] would prohibit a manufacturer's agent from collecting a fee—his profit—for making a sale for the company he represents to any government department or agency.

"There have been abuses connected with sales to the government on war contracts," Murphy said. "However, the legislation designed to end such abuses would destroy tens of thousands of small manufacturing companies and business enterprises for the misdeeds of the few. It is like the Nazis shooting hundreds because one person violated their edicts.

"The manufacturer's agents serves a useful purpose. He sells the wares of a manufacturer in a community where volume does not justify a branch office and salaried employés. Usually the agent represents several companies so as to divide expenses. He finances his own operations, including office rent. Sometimes he is alone, sometimes he employs many persons.

Would Aid Big Companies.

"In our own case we must service equipment we sold to Fort Sheridan, Great Lakes, and government ordnance plants as well as to private companies Now that practically every one is engaged in war work there is no private business. So if we are forced out of business, servicing of the government equipment will be stopped."

Murphy said enactment of the bill will play into the hands of the large companies which are able to maintain branch offices and salaried representatives for it will kill the competition of the small manufacturers. He said that Chicago manufacturers representatives have warned Senators Wayland Brooks and Scott Lucas of the threat to small business from the bill and several national organizations are aiding.
